This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

OF

THE UNITED STATES:

BEING

IRST SESSION OF THE TWENTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS,

BEGUN AND HELD

AT THE CITY OF WASHINGTON,

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

BEGUN and held at the Capitol, in the City of Washington, in the Territory of Columbia, on Monday, the thirty-first day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, being the First Session of the TWENTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS, held under the Constitution of the Government of the United States, and in the sixty-fifth year of the Independence of said States.

On which day, being the day fixed by proclamation of the President of the United States, of the seventeenth day of March, eighteen hundred and forty-one, for the meeting of Congress; which said proclamation is in the words following, to wit:

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS sundry important and weighty matters, principally growing out of the condition of the revenue and finances of the country, appear to me to call for the consideration of Congress at a earlier day than its next annual session, and thus form an extraordinary occasion, such as renders necessary, in my judgment, the convention of the two Houses as soon as may be practicable, I do therefore, by this my Proclamation, convene the two Houses of Congress, to meet in the Capitol at the City of Washington, on the last Monday, being the thirty-first day of May next. And require the respective Senators and Representatives then and there to assemble, in order to receive such information respecting the state of the Union as may be given to them, and to devise and adopt such measures as the good of the country may seem to them, in the exercise of their wisdom and discretion, to require.

In testimony whereof, I have caused the seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed, and signed the same with my hand.

Done at the city of Washington, this seventeenth day of March, in the year of our Lord one [L. S.] thousand eight hundred and forty-one, and of the Independence of the United States the sixty-fifth.

W. H. HARRISON.

By the President:

DANIEL WEBSTER, Secretary of State.

At 12 o'clock, meridian, HUGH A. GARLAND, Clerk to the late House of Representatives, called the members elect to order, and, after reading the said proclamation, proceeded to call the roll by States, when the following named members appeared and took seats, viz:

JOHN WHITE, one of the Representatives from the State of Kentucky, having received a majority of the whole number of votes given in, was declared to be duly elected Speaker of this House.

The Speaker elect was then conducted to the Chair by Philip Triplett of Kentucky, and George M. Keim of Pennsylvania, who were appointed by the Clerk to that duty, from whence he addressed the House as follows:

"GENTLEMEN:

"I cannot sufficiently express the obligations I feel for the distinguished honor conferred upon me. I undertake the discharge of the duties of this station with unfeigned distrust of my qualifications. I am sensible of the magnitude and difficulty of the task, of its arduous duties, of its high responsibilities. Six years' service in this body has taught me that this chair is no bed of down, especially in a time of great political excitement. Nothing but a conviction that the same generous confidence which placed me here would continue to support me in the faithful and impartial discharge of my duty could have induced me to accept this office. The duty of presiding over a numerous assembly like this, when even no party divisions exist—when no other than ordinary business is proposed to be considered and passed upon—is no easy task. But perhaps there has been no period in the history of this country when the duties of this Chair were more important, its responsibilities greater, its intrinsic difficulties more embarrassing. Independent of that excited party feeling—the natural result, in all free Governments, of personal rivalship—the consideration and discussion of those great questions which have caused the convention of this special Congress will no doubt give rise to high political excitement. Under these circumstances, I dare not hope I shall be able to give unqualified satisfaction, no matter how faithful, how zealous, how impartial I may be. It shall, however, be my constant purpose to discharge the functions of this station with a singleness of purpose and a fidelity of intention that will secure to me the approbation, I trust, of the just and liberal of all parties.

"Candor, gentlemen, compels me to say I have never made the rules of this House or Parliamentary law my particular study. Experience in discharge of the duties of this Chair, I may say I have none. The qualifications necessary to a prompt and able discharge of the duties of Speaker are multifarious—some of them difficult. I will not detain you to enumerate them all; the mention of one, however, which I consider paramount to all others, I cannot omit; I need scarcely say I allude to that of impartiality—a rigid, an uncompromising impartiality towards every member; to the exercise of this qualification I pledge myself. The occupant of this Chair should neither lend the influence of his position to make this House subservient to Executive dictation, nor, on the other hand, to encourage a factious opposition to Executive recommendations. Passive obedience to Executive will is not less fatal to liberty than anarchy itself. The true spirit of a House of Representatives is to reflect faithfully the popular will. If it be true, as I hope and believe it is, that this House is the citadel of American freedom—the great sheet-anchor of the Constitution—the grand inquest of the nation—should not all its deliberations be characterized with order, with decorum, with dignity? I invoke you, gentlemen, let all our proceedings be marked with forbearance, moderation, courtesy, and patriotism. If, by any means, this body has impaired its high character as a dignified deliberative assembly, let us unite, one and all, to restore it to its former good standing. Nothing, in my humble judgment, would so effectually secure the perpetuity of our free institutions as a sacred observance of order in the deliberations of this House.

"In conclusion, gentlemen, accept my grateful thanks for this high mark of confidence and respect. And I entreat you, let all our proceedings be such as to sustain the dignity of this House, maintain the honor of the country, promote the public good, and preserve, unimpaired, the integrity of this glorious Union."

The oath to support the Constitution of the United States, as prescribed by the act entitled "An act to regulate the time and manner of administering certain oaths," was then administered to the Speaker by Mr. Lewis Williams, one of the Representatives from North Carolina; and the same oath (or affirmation) was then administered by the Speaker to all the other members who answered to their names.

A motion was then made by Mr. Wise that the House do proceed to the election of a Clerk viva voce.

Mr. Barnard moved that the motion of Mr. Wise be amended by substituting the words by ballot, for the words, "viva voce."

Which motion was disagreed to.

The question recurred on agreeing to the motion of Mr. Wise.

And being put,

It passed in the affirmative.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform the House of Representatives that a quorum of the Senate is assembled, and that the Senate is now ready to proceed to business.

And then he withdrew,

The House then proceeded, viva voce, to the election of Clerk.

The result of the first vote was as follows:

The following named members voted for MATTHEW ST. CLAIR CLARKE:

John Quincy Adams, Julius C. Alford, Landaff W. Andrews, Thomas D. Arnold, John B. Aycrigg, Daniel D. Barnard, John M. Botts, Edmund Deberry, Richard W. Habersham, William W. MATTHEW ST. CLAIR CLARKE, having received a majority of the wh number of voters given in, was declared duly elected Clerk of this Ho

The said Matthew St. Clair Clarke appeared, when the oath to sup the Constitution of the United States, and the oath truly and faithfully discharge the duties of his office to the best of his knowledge and abili as prescribed in the act of June 1st, 1790, entitled "An act to regulate and manner of administering certain oaths," were administered to him ne Speaker, and he thereupon entered upon the duties of his office.

On motion of Mr. John Quincy Adams, esolved, That a message be sent to the Senate, to inform that body that orum of this House has assembled, and that John White, of Kentucky, been elected Speaker thereof: and that it is now ready to proceed to ness.

rdered, That the Clerk do go with said message.

Ir. Wise introduced the following resolution, viz:

esolved, That a committee be appointed, on the part of this House, to such committee as has been or may be appointed on the part of the ate, to wait on the President of the United States, and inform him quorums of the two Houses have assembled; and that Congress is y to receive any communications he may be pleased to make to it.

Ir. McKeon moved to amend the same by inserting before the word esident" the words "Vice President, now exercising the duties of."

And, after debate, motion was made by Mr. Ingersoll, it being ten minutes after 5 o'clock,

I., that the House do adjourn; which was decided in the negative.

motion was then made by Mr. Ingersoll, that the said resolution do n the table; which motion was disagreed to.

he question recurred on agreeing to the said amendment offered by McKeon;

And the question being put,

he said amendment was not agreed to.

he question was then put,

Vill the House agree to the said resolution?

nd passed in the affirmative.

rdered, That Mr. Sergeant and Mr. Dawson be the said committee on part of this House.

rdered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the resolution.

On motion of Mr. King, esolved, That when this House adjourn to-day, it adjourn to meet at en o'clock A. M. to-morrow.

Ir. Wise introduced the following resolution:

esolved, That the standing rules and orders of the last House of Repntatives be adopted as the rules and orders of this House for the next ing ten days; and that a committee of nine members be appointed to se the said rules and orders, and to report thereon within the said ten s.

Ir. Underwood moved to amend the same, by striking out all after the d "Resolved," and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

hat a committee of nine be appointed to revise, amend, and report s for the government of this House; and that until such committee e report, and the same be finally acted upon, the rules and orders of last House of Representatives shall be considered as the rules and ers of this House.

Ir. Adams moved to amend the amendment by inserting after the words ouse of Representatives," the following: "excepting the 21st, which is by rescinded."

[The said 21st rule is in the words following:

"No petition, memorial, resolution, or other paper, praying the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, or any State or Territory, or the slave trade between the States or Territories of the United States in which it now exists, shall be received by this House, or entertained in any way whatever."]

And pending the question on this amendment, the House, at twenty minutes past five o'clock, P. M., on motion of Mr. Briggs, adjourned until to-morrow at eleven o'clock in the forenoon.

TUESDAY, JUNE 1, 1841.

Three other members, to wit:

From the State of North Carolina—William H. Washington;

From the State of Georgia—Thomas F. Foster;

From the State of Tennessee—Aaron V. Brown;

appeared, were sworn to support the constitution of the United States, and took seats in the House.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. Wise yesterday, proposing that the standing rules and orders of the last House of Representatives be adopted as the rules and orders of this House for the next ensuing ten days; and that a committee be appointed to revise the said rules, with instructions to report within said ten days; together with the amendments pending to said resolution.

The question recurred on the amendment moved by Mr. Adams to the amendment moved by Mr. Underwood to the said resolution, as set forth in the Journal of yesterday.

And, after debate, it was,

On motion of Mr. Wise,

Ordered, That the resolution and proposed amendments do lie on the table.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary.

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have concurred in the resolution of this House for the appointment of a joint committee to wait on the President of the United States, and inform him that a quorum in each House of Congress has assembled, and that Congress is ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make, and have appointed a committee on their part. And then he withdrew.

Mr. Pickens moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the seats of this House be numbered, and that the members proceed to draw for them by lot.

Mr. Cave Johnson moved the following as an amendment, which Mr. Pickens accepted in lieu of his own, viz:

Resolved, That the following be made one of the standing rules of the House:

"That upon the election of Speaker and Clerk at the present, and at the commencement of each Congress hereafter, it shall be the duty of the Clerk to have the seats of the House numbered, and each number be placed in a box on a separate piece of paper, and the roll of members shall then be called in alphabetical order; and, upon the calling of each name, one of the pages of the House shall draw from the box one of the numbers, and the number so drawn shall be the seat of the member during the Congress. Said drawing shall be made as well for absent members as those present."

King moved to amend the said resolution, by striking out all after d "Resolved," and inserting as follows:
ıt the Speaker is hereby directed to cause the desks to be removed ıis Hall, and that the seats be numbered by the Clerk, and drawn ılacing the numbers in a box, to be drawn in alphabetical order by 'k as the names of the members shall be called from the roll; and

The question on the amendment moved by Mr. King recurred; when

It was agreed that the further consideration of the resolution be postponed for the present; and

Mr. Sergeant, from the joint committee appointed to wait on the President of the United States, and inform him that a quorum in each House of Congress has assembled, and that Congress is ready to receive any communications he may be pleased to make, reported that the committee had performed the duties of its appointment, and that the President answered that he would make a communication to each House to-day at twelve o'clock, meridian.

A communication, in writing, was then received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Robert Tyler, his private Secretary; which was read by the Clerk, and is as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States:

FELLOW-CITIZENS: You have been assembled in your respective halls of legislation under a proclamation bearing the signature of the illustrious citizen who was so lately called by the direct suffrages of the people to the discharge of the important functions of their chief executive office. Upon the expiration of a single month from the day of his installation, he has paid the great debt of nature, leaving behind him a name associated with the recollection of numerous benefits conferred upon the country during a long life of patriotic devotion. With this public bereavement are connected other considerations which will not escape the attention of Congress. The preparations necessary for his removal to the seat of Government in view of a residence of four years must have devolved upon the late President heavy expenditures, which, if permitted to burden the limited resources of his private fortune, may tend to the serious embarrassment of his viving family; and it is therefore respectfully submitted to Congress ether the ordinary principles of justice would not dictate the propriety ts legislative interposition. By the provisions of the fundamental law, powers and duties of the high station to which he was elected have olved upon me, and in the dispositions of the representatives of the tes and of the people will be found to a great extent a solution of the blem to which our institutions are for the first time subjected.

n entering upon the duties of this office, I did not feel that it would be oming in me to disturb what had been ordered by my lamented prede- sor. Whatever, therefore, may have been my opinion, originally, as to propriety of convening Congress at so early a day from that of its late ournment, I found a new and a controlling inducement not to interfere h the patriotic desires of the late President, in the novelty of the situa- n in which I was so unexpectedly placed. My first wish under such cumstances would necessarily have been to have called to my aid, in the ministration of public affairs, the combined wisdom of the two Houses of ngress, in order to take their counsel and advice as to the best mode of tricating the Government and the country from the embarrassments eighing heavily on both. I am then most happy in finding myself, so on after my accession to the Presidency, surrounded by the immediate presentatives of the States and people.

No important changes having taken place in our foreign relations since ie last session of Congress, it is not deemed necessary on this occasion to) into a detailed statement in regard to them. I am happy to say that I e nothing to destroy the hope of being able to preserve peace.

The ratification of the treaty with Portugal has been duly exchanged etween the two Governments. This Government has not been inattentive) the interests of those of our citizens who have claims on the Govern- ient of Spain founded on express treaty stipulations, and a hope is in- ulged that the representations which have been made to that Government n this subject may lead ere long to beneficial results.

A correspondence has taken place between the Secretary of State and ie Minister of her Britannic Majesty accredited to this Government, on ie subject of Alexander McLeod's indictment and imprisonment, copies f which are herewith communicated to Congress.

In addition to what appears from these papers, it may be proper to state iat Alexander McLeod has been heard by the Supreme Court of the State f New York on his motion to be discharged from imprisonment, and that ie decision of that Court has not as yet been pronounced.

The Secretary of State has addressed to me a paper upon two subjects, iteresting to the commerce of the country, which will receive my consid- ration, and which I have the honor to communicate to Congress.

So far as it depends on the course of this Government, our relations of ood-will and friendship will be sedulously cultivated with all nations. he true American policy will be found to consist in the exercise of a spirit f justice to be manifested in the discharge of all our international obliga- ons, to the weakest of the family of nations as well as to the most power- ul. Occasional conflicts of opinion may arise, but when the discussions icident to them are conducted in the language of truth and with a strict egard to justice, the scourge of war will for the most part be avoided. he time ought to be regarded as having gone by when a resort to arms is) be esteemed as the only proper arbiter of national differences.

The census recently taken shows a regularly progressive increase in our population. Upon the breaking out of the war of the Revolution our numbers scarcely equalled three millions of souls; they already exceed seventeen millions, and will continue to increase in a ratio which duplicates in a period of about twenty-three years. The old States contain a territory sufficient in itself to maintain a population of additional millions, and the most populous of the new States may even yet be regarded as but partially settled, while of the new lands on this side of the Rocky Mountains, to say nothing of the immense region which stretches from the base of those mountains to the mouth of the Columbia river, about 770,000,000 of acres, ceded and unceded, still remain to be brought into market. We hold out to the people of other countries an invitation to come and settle among us as members of our rapidly-growing family; and, for the blessings which we offer them, we require of them to look upon our country as their country, and to unite with us in the great task of preserving our institutions, and thereby perpetuating our liberties. No motive exists for foreign conquests. We desire but to reclaim our almost illimitable wildernesses, and to introduce into their depths the lights of civilization. While we shall at all times be prepared to vindicate the national honor, our most earnest desire will be to maintain an unbroken peace.

In presenting the foregoing views, I cannot withhold the expression of the opinion that there exists nothing in the extension of our empire over our acknowledged possessions to excite the alarm of the patriot for the safety of our institutions. The Federative system, leaving to each State the care of its domestic concerns, and devolving on the Federal Government those of general import, admits in safety of the greatest expansion; but, at the same time, I deem it proper to add that there will be found to exist at all times an imperious necessity for restraining all the functionaries of this Government within the range of their respective powers, thereby preserving a just balance between the powers granted to this Government and those reserved to the States and to the people.

From the report of the Secretary of the Treasury, you will perceive that the fiscal means present and accruing are insufficient to supply the wants of the Government for the current year. The balance in the Treasury on the fourth day of March last, not covered by outstanding drafts, and exclusive of trust funds, is estimated at $860,000. This includes the sum of $215,000 deposited in the Mint and its branches to procure metal for coining, and in the process of coinage, and which could not be withdrawn without inconvenience; thus leaving subject to draft in the various depositories the sum of $645,000. By virtue of two several acts of Congress, the Secretary of the Treasury was authorized to issue, on and after the fourth day of March last, Treasury notes to the amount of $5,413,000, making an aggregate available fund of $6,058,000 on hand.

But this fund was chargeable with outstanding Treasury notes redeemable in the current year and interest thereon to the estimated amount of five millions two hundred and eighty thousand dollars. There is also thrown upon the Treasury the payment of a large amount of demands accrued in whole or in part in former years, which will exhaust the available means of the Treasury, and leave the accruing revenue, reduced as it is in amount, burdened with debt and charged with the current expenses of the Government. The aggregate amount of outstanding appropriations on the fourth day of March last was $33,429,616 50, of which $24,210,000 will be required during the current year; and there will also be required for the use of the War Department additional appropriations to the amount of $2,511,132 98, the special objects of which will be seen by reference to the report of the Secretary of War.

The anticipated means of the Treasury are greatly inadequate to this demand. The receipts from customs for the last three quarters of the last year, and the first quarter of the present year, amounted to $12,100,000; the receipts for lands for the same time to $2,742,430 60; showing an average revenue from both sources of $1,236,870 per month. A gradual expansion of trade, growing out of a restoration of confidence, together with a reduction in the expenses of collecting, and punctuality on the part of collecting officers, may cause an addition to the monthly receipts from the customs. They are estimated for the residue of the year from the fourth of March at $12,000,000; the receipts from the public lands for the same time are estimated at $2,500,000; and from miscellaneous sources at $170,000; making an aggregate of available fund within the year of $14,670,000; which will leave a probable deficit of $11,406,000. To meet this, some temporary provision is necessary, until the amount can be absorbed by the excess of revenues which are anticipated to accrue at no distant day.

There will fall due within the next three months Treasury notes of the issues of 1840, including interest, about $2,850,000. There is chargeable in the same period for arrearages for taking the sixth census $294,000; and the estimated expenditures for the current service are about $8,100,000, making the aggregate demand upon the Treasury, prior to the first of September next, about $11,340,000.

The ways and means in the Treasury, and estimated to accrue within the above named period, consist of about $694,000, of funds available on the 28th ultimo; an unissued balance of Treasury notes authorized by the act of 1841 amounting to $1,955,000, and estimated receipts from all sources of $3,800,000, making an aggregate of about $6,450,000, and leaving a probable deficit on the 1st of September next of about $4,845,000.

In order to supply the wants of the Government, an intelligent constituency, in view of their best interests, will, without hesitation, submit to all necessary burdens. But it is nevertheless important so to impose them as to avoid defeating the just expectations of the country, growing out of pre-existing laws. The act of the 2d March, 1833, commonly called the compromise act, should not be altered except under urgent necessities, which are not believed at this time to exist. One year only remains to complete the series of reductions provided for by that law, at which time provisions made by the same law, and which then will be brought actively in aid of the manufacturing interests of the Union, will not fail to produce the most beneficial results. Under a system of discriminating duties imposed for purposes of revenue, in unison with the provisions of existing laws, it is to be hoped that our policy will, in the future, be fixed and permanent, so as to avoid those constant fluctuations which defeat the very objects they have in view. We shall thus best maintain a position which, while it will enable us the more readily to meet the advances of other countries calculated to promote our trade and commerce, will at the same time leave in our own hands the means of retaliating with greater effect unjust regulations.

In intimate connexion with the question of revenue is that which makes provision for a suitable fiscal agent capable of adding increased facilities in the collection and disbursement of the public revenues, rendering more secure their custody, and consulting a true economy in the great, multiplied and delicate operations of the Treasury Department. Upon such an agent depends in an eminent degree the establishment of a currency of uniform value, which is of so great importance to all the essential interests of society; and on the wisdom to be manifested in its creation much depends. So intimately interwoven are its operations not only with the interests of individuals but of States, that it may be regarded in a great degree as controlling both. If paper be used as the chief medium of circulation, and the power be vested in the Government of issuing it at pleasure, either in the form of Treasury drafts or any other, or if banks be used as the public depositories, with liberty to regard all surpluses from day to day as so much added to their active capital, prices are exposed to constant fluctuations, and industry to severe suffering. In the one case, political considerations, directed to party purposes, may control, while excessive cupidity may prevail in the other. The public is thus constantly liable to imposition. Expansions and contractions may follow each other in rapid succession, the one engendering a reckless spirit of adventure and speculation, which embraces States as well as individuals; the other causing a fall in prices, and accomplishing an entire change in the aspect of affairs. Stocks of all kinds rapidly decline—individuals are ruined, and States embarrassed even in their efforts to meet with punctuality the interest on their debts. Such, unhappily, is the conditon of things now existing in the United States. These effects may readily be traced to the causes above referred to. The public revenues, on being removed from the then Bank of the United States, under an order of a late President, were placed in selected State banks, which, actuated by the double motive of conciliating the Government and augmenting their profits to the greatest possible extent, enlarged extravagantly their discounts, thus enabling all other existing banks to do the same. Large dividends were declared, which, stimulating the cupidity of capitalists, caused a rush to be made to the Legislatures of the respective States for similar acts of incorporation, which, by many of the States, under a temporary infatuation, were readily granted, and thus the augmentation of the circulating medium, consisting almost exclusively of paper, produced a most fatal delusion. An illustration, derived from the land sales of the period alluded to, will serve best to show the effect of the whole system. The average sales of the public lands, for a period of ten years prior to 1834, had not much exceeded $2,000,000 per annum. In 1834 they attained, in round numbers, to the amount of $6,000,000. In the succeeding year of 1835 they reached $16,000,000. And in 1836 they amounted to the enormous sum of $25,000,000. Thus crowding into the short space of three years upwards of twenty-three years' purchase of the public domain. So apparent had become the necessity of arresting this course of things, that the Executive department assumed the highly questionable power of discriminating in the funds to be used in payment by different classes of public debtors—a discrimination which was doubtless designed to correct this most ruinous state of things by the exaction of specie in all payments for the public lands, but which could not at once arrest the tide which had so strongly set in. Hence the demands for specie became unceasing, and corresponding prostration rapidly ensued under the necessities created with the banks to curtail their discounts, and thereby to reduce their circulation. I recur to these things with no disposition to censure pre-existing administrations of the Government, but simply in exemplification of the truth of the position which I have assumed. If, then, any fiscal agent which may be created shall be placed, without due restrictions, either in the hands of the administrators of the Government or those of private individuals, the temptation to abuse will prove to be resistless. Objects of political aggrandizement may seduce the first, and the promptings of a boundless cupidity will assail the last. Aided by the experience of the past, it will be the pleasure of Congress so to guard and fortify the public interests, in the creation of any new agent, as to place them, so far as human wisdom can accomplish it, on a footing of perfect security. Within a few years past, three different schemes have been before the country. The charter of the Bank of the United States expired by its own limitations in 1836. An effort was made to renew it, which received the sanction of the two Houses of Congress, but the then President of the United States exercised his veto power, and the measure was defeated. A regard to truth requires me to say that the President was fully sustained in the course he had taken by the popular voice. His successor in the Chair of State unqualifiedly pronounced his opposition to any new charter of a similar institution; and not only the popular election which brought him into power, but the elections through much of his term, seemed clearly to indicate a concurrence with him in sentiment on the part of the people. After the public moneys were withdrawn from the United States Bank, they were placed in deposite with the State banks, and the result of that policy has been before the country. To say nothing as to the questions whether that experiment was made under propitious or adverse circumstances, it may safely be asserted that it did receive the unqualified condemnation of most of its early advocates, and it is believed was also condemned by the popular sentiment. The existing sub-Treasury system does not seem to stand in higher favor with the people, but has recently been condemned in a manner too plainly indicated to admit of a doubt. Thus, in the short period of eight years, the popular voice may be regarded as having successively condemned each of the three schemes of finance to which I have adverted. As to the first it was introduced at a time (1816) when the State banks, then comparatively few in number, had been forced to suspend specie payments, by reason of the war which had previously prevailed with Great Britain. Whether, if the United States Bank charter which expired in 1811 had been renewed in due season, it would have been enabled to continue specie payments during the war and the disastrous period to the commerce of the country which immediately succeeded, is, to say the least, problematical: and whether the United States Bank of 1816 produced a restoration of specie payments, or the same was accomplished through the instrumentality of other means, was a matter of some difficulty at that time to determine. Certain it is that, for the first years of the operation of that Bank, its course was as disastrous as for the greater part of its subsequent career it became eminently successful. As to the second, the experiment was tried with a redundant Treasury, which continued to increase until it seemed to be the part of wisdom to distribute the surplus revenue among the States, which, operating at the same time with the specie circular, and the causes before adverted to, caused them to suspend specie payments, and involved the country in the greatest embarrassment. And, as to the third if carried through all the stages of its transmutation, from paper and specie to nothing but the precious metals, to say nothing of the insecurity of the public moneys, its injurious effects have been anticipated by the country in its unqualified condemnation. What is now to be regarded as the judgment of the American people on this whole subject, I have no accurate means of determining, but by appealing to their more immediate representatives. The late contest, which terminated in the election of General HARRISON to the Presidency, was decided on principles well known and openly declared: and, while the sub-Treasury received in the result the most decided condemnation, yet no other scheme of finance seemed to have been concurred in. To you, then, who have come more directly from the body of our common constituents, I submit the entire question, as best qualified to give a full exposition of their wishes and opinions. I shall be ready to concur with you in the adoption of such system as you may propose, reserving to myself the ultimate power of rejecting any measure which may in my view of it conflict with the constitution or otherwise jeopard the prosperity of the country; a power which I could not part with even if I would, but which I will not believe any act of yours will call into requisition.

I cannot avoid recurring, in connexion with this subject, to the necessity which exists for adopting some suitable measure whereby the unlimited creation of banks by the States may be corrected in future. Such result can be most readily achieved by the consent of the States, to be expressed in the form of a compact among themselves, which they can only enter into with the consent and approbation of this Government: a consent which in the present emergency of the public demands, may justifiably be given by Congress in advance of any action by the States as an inducement to such action upon terms well defined by the act of tender. Such a measure, addressing itself to the calm reflection of the States, would find in the experience of the past and the condition of the present, much to sustain it. And it is greatly to be doubted whether any scheme of finance can prove for any length of time successful while the States shall continue in the unrestrained exercise of the power of creating banking corporations. This power can only be limited by their consent.

With the adoption of a financial agency of a satisfactory character, the hope may be indulged that the country may once more return to a state of prosperity. Measures auxiliary thereto, and, in some measure, inseparably connected with its success, will doubtless claim the attention of Congress. Among such, a distribution of the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, provided such distribution does not force upon Congress the necessity of imposing upon commerce heavier burdens than those contemplated by the act of 1833, would act as an efficient remedial measure by being brought directly in aid of the States. As one sincerely devoted to the task of preserving a just balance in our system of government, by the maintenance of the States in a condition the most free and respectable, and in the full possession of all their power, I can no otherwise than feel desirous for their emancipation from the situation to which the pressure on their finances now subjects them. And, while I must repudiate as a measure founded in error, and wanting constitutional sanction, the slightest approach to an assumption by this Government of the debts of the States, yet I can see, in the distribution adverted to, much to recommend it. The compacts between the proprietor States and this Government expressly guaranty to the States all the benefits which may arise from the sales. The mode by which this is to be effected addresses itself to the discretion of Congress, as the trustee for the States; and its exercise, after the most beneficial manaer, is restrained by nothing in the grants or in the constitution, so long as Congress shall consult that equality in the distribution which the compacts require. In the present condition of some of the States, the question of distribution may be regarded as substantially a question between direct and indirect taxation. If the distribution be not made in some form or other, the necessity will daily become more urgent with the debtor States for a resort to an oppressive system of direct taxation, or their credit, and necessarily their power and influence, will be greatly diminished. The payment of taxes, after the most inconvenient and oppressive mode, will be exacted in place of contributions for the most part voluntarily made, and therefore comparatively unoppressive. The States are emphatically the constituents of this Government; and we should be entirely regardless of the objects held in view by them in the creation of this Government if we could be indifferent to their good. The happy effects of such a measure upon all the States would immediately be manifested. With the debtor States it would effect the relief to a great extent of the citizens from a heavy burden of direct taxation which presses with severity on the laboring classes, and eminently assist in restoring the general prosperity. An immediate advance would take place in the price of the State securities, and the attitude of the States would become once more, as it should ever be, lofty and erect. With States laboring under no extreme pressure from debt, the fund which they would derive from this source would enable them to improve their condition in an eminent degree. So far as this Government is concerned, appropriations to domestic objects, approaching in amount the revenue derived from the land sales, might be abandoned, and thus a system of unequal and therefore unjust legislation would be substituted by one dispensing equality to all the members of this confederacy. Whether such distribution should be made directly to the States in the proceeds of the sales, or in the form of profits by virtue of the operations of any fiscal agency having these proceeds as its basis, should such measure be contemplated by Congress, would well deserve its consideration. Nor would such disposition of the proceeds of the sales in any manner prevent Congress from time to time from passing all necessary pre-emption laws for the benefit of actual settlers, or from making any new arrangement as to the price of the public lands which might in future be esteemed desirable.

I beg leave particularly to call your attention to the accompanying report from the Secretary of War. Besides the present state of the war which has so long afflicted the Territory of Florida, and the various other matters of interest therein referred to, you will learn from it that the Secretary has instituted an inquiry into abuses, which promises to develop gross enormities in connexion with Indian treaties which have been negotiated, as well as in the expenditures for the removal and subsistence of the Indians! He represents, also, other irregularities of a serious nature that have grown up in the practice of the Indian Department, which will require the appropriation of upwards of $200,000 to correct, and which claim the immediate attention of Congress.

In reflecting on the proper means of defending the country, we cannot shut our eyes to the consequences which the introduction and use of the power of steam upon the ocean are likely to produce in wars between maritime States. We cannot yet see the extent to which this power may be applied in belligerent operations, connecting itself as it does with recent improvements in the science of gunnery and projectiles; but we need have no fear of being left, in regard to these things, behind the most active and skilful of other nations, if the genius and enterprise of our fellow-citizens receive proper encouragement and direction from Government.

True wisdom would, nevertheless, seem to dictate the necessity of placing in perfect condition those fortifications which are designed for the protection of our principal cities and roadsteads. For the defence of our extended maritime coast, our chief reliance should be placed on our navy, aided by those inventions which are destined to recommend themselves to public adoption. But no time should be lost in placing our principal cities on the seaboard and the lakes in a state of entire security from foreign assault. Separated as we are from the countries of the old world, and in much unaffected by their policy, we are happily relieved from the necessity of maintaining large standing armies in times of peace. The policy which was adopted by Mr. Monroe, shortly after the conclusion of the late war with Great Britain, of preserving a regularly organized staff sufficient for the command of a large military force, should the necessity for one arise, is founded as well in economy as in true wisdom. Provision is thus made upon filling up the rank and file, which can readily be done on any emergency, for the introduction of a system of discipline both promptly and efficiently. All that is required in time of peace is to maintain a sufficient number of men to guard our fortifications, to meet any sudden contingency and to encounter the first shock of war. Our chief reliance must be placed on the militia. They constitute the great body of national guards, and, inspired by an ardent love of country, will be found ready at all times and at all seasons to repair with alacrity to its defence. It will be regarded by Congress, I doubt not, at a suitable time, as one of its highest duties to attend to their complete organization and discipline.

By the report of the Secretary of the Navy it will be seen that the state of the navy pension fund requires the immediate attention of Congress. By the operation of the act of the 3d of March, 1837, entitled "An act for the more equitable administration of the navy pension fund," that fund has been exhausted. It will be seen that there will be required for the payment of navy pensions, on the first of July next, $88,706 06, and on the first of January, 1842, the sum of $69,000. In addition to these sums, about $6,000 will be required to pay arrears of pensions which will probably be allowed between the first of July and the first of January, 1842, making in the whole $163,706 06. To meet these payments there is within the control of the Department the sum of $28,040, leaving a deficit of $139,666 06. The public faith requires that immediate provision should be made for the payment of these sums.

In order to introduce into the navy a desirable efficiency, a new system of accountability may be found to be indispensably necessary. To mature a plan having for its object the accomplishment of an end so important, and to meet the just expectations of the country, require more time than has yet been allowed to the Secretary at the head of that Department. The hope is indulged that by the time of your next regular session measures of importance, in connexion with this branch of the public service, may be matured for your consideration.

Although the laws regulating the Post Office Department only require from the officer charged with its direction to report at the usual annual session of Congress, the Postmaster General has presented to me some facts connected with the financial condition of the Department which are deemed worthy the attention of Congress. By the accompanying report of that officer, it appears that the existing liabilities of that Department beyond the means of payment at its command cannot be less than $500,000. As the laws organizing that branch of the public service confine the expenditure to its own revenues, deficiencies therein cannot be presented under the usual estimates for the expenses of Government. It must therefore be left to Congress to determine whether the moneys now due to contractors shall be paid from the public Treasury, or whether that department shall continue under its present embarrassments. It will be seen by the report of the Postmaster General that the recent lettings of contracts in several of the States have been made at such reduced rates of compensation as to encourage the belief that if the department was relieved from existing difficulties, its future operations might be conducted without any further call upon the general Treasury.

The power of appointing to office is one of a character the most delicate and responsible. The appointing power is evermore exposed to be led into error. With anxious solicitude to select the most trustworthy for official station, I cannot be supposed to possess a personal knowledge of the qualifications of every applicant. I deem it therefore proper, in this most public manner, to invite, on the part of the Senate, a just scrutiny into the character and pretensions of every person whom I may bring to their notice in the regular form of a nomination for office. Unless persons every way trustworthy are employed in the public service, corruption and irregularity will inevitably follow. I shall, with the greatest cheerfulness, acquiesce in the decision of that body, and, regarding it as wisely constituted to aid the Executive department in the performance of this delicate duty, I shall look to its "consent and advice" as given only in furtherance of the best interests of the country. I shall also, at the earliest proper occasion, invite the attention of Congress to such measures as in my judgment will be best calculated to regulate and control the Executive power in reference to this vitally important subject.

I shall also, at the proper season, invite your attention to the statutory enactments for the suppression of the slave trade, which may require to be rendered more efficient in their provisions. There is reason to believe that the traffic is on the increase. Whether such increase is to be ascribed to the abolition of slave labor in the British possessions in our vicinity, and an attendant diminution in the supply of those articles which enter into the general consumption of the world, thereby augmenting the demand from other quarters, and thus calling for additional labor, it were needless to inquire. The highest considerations of public honor, as well as the strongest promptings of humanity, require a resort to the most vigorous efforts to suppress the trade.

In conclusion, I beg leave to invite your particular attention to the interests of this District. Nor do I doubt but that, in a liberal spirit of legislation, you will seek to advance its commercial as well as its local interests. Should Congress deem it to be its duty to repeal the existing sub-Treasury law, the necessity of providing a suitable place of deposite for the public moneys which may be required within the District must be apparent to all.

I have felt it due to the country to present the foregoing topics t your consideration and reflection. Others, with which it might not see proper to trouble you at an extraordinary session, will be laid before yc at a future day. I am happy in committing the important affairs of th country into your hands. The tendency of public sentiment, I am pleas to believe, is towards the adoption, in a spirit of union and harmony, such measures as will fortify the public interests. To cherish such a te dency of public opinion is the task of an elevated patriotism. That diffe ences of opinion as to the means of accomplishing these desirable objec should exist, is reasonably to be expected. Nor can all be made satisfi with any system of measures. But I flatter myself with the hope that th great body of the people will readily unite in support of those whose e forts spring from a disinterested desire to promote their happiness; to pr serve the Federal and State Governments within their respective orbit to cultivate peace with all the nations of the earth, on just and honorab grounds; to exact obedience to the laws; to entrench liberty and proper in full security; and, consulting the most rigid economy, to abolish all us less expenses.

The second member of Mr. Barnard's motion was then agreed to; and so it was Ordered, That the message of the President of the United States do lie on the table; that the usual number of copies thereof, with the documents accompanying the same, be printed; and, further, that 10,000 copies extra, including the documents, be also printed.

And then Mr. John Quincy Adams moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of one member from each State in the Union be appointed on the part of this House, to join such committee as may be appointed on the part of the Senate, to consider and report by what token of respect and affection it may be proper for the Congress of the United States to express the deep sensibility of the nation to the event of the decease of their late President, William Henry Harrison; and that so much of the message of the President as relates to that melancholy event be referred to the said committee.

The resolution was read; and the question was put that the House do agree thereto,

And passed in the affirmative unanimously. And

Mr. John Quincy Adams, of Massachusetts,
Mr. Fessenden, of Maine,
Mr. Atherton, of New Hampshire,
Mr. Tillinghast, of Rhode Island,
Mr. Thomas W. Williams, of Connecticut,
Mr. Everett, of Vermont.

Mr. Samson Mason, of Ohio,
Mr. Edward D. White, of Louisiana,
Mr. Wallace, of Indiana,
Mr. Miller, of Missouri,
Mr. Cross, of Arkansas, and
Mr. Howard, of Michigan, were appointed of the committee on the part of this House.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said resolution.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution moved this day by Mr. Pickins, and of the amendments proposed thereto.

The question recurred on the amendment moved by Mr. King; when

Mr. Slade moved to amend that amendment, by striking out all after the word That, with which it commences, and inserting as follows:

"the opening of each session of Congress, after the 27th Congress, the names of all the members present on the first day of meeting shall be placed in a box, and drawn out by the Clerk successively; that the member whose name is first drawn may choose his seat, and each member whose ame is drawn successively may choose in like manner; and that the eats thus chosen shall be holden during the continuance of such session."

And, after debate, it was,

On motion of Mr. William Cost Johnson,

Ordered, That the said resolution do lie on the table.

Mr. Graham gave notice that he would, hereafter, move for leave to introduce a bill to repeal the act entitled "An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue."

And then, on motion of Mr. Watterston,

The House, at half past three o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow at welve o'clock meridian.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2, 1841.

Another member, to wit: from the State of Louisiana, John B. Dawson, ppeared, was sworn to support the Constitution of the United States, and ook a seat in the House.

Mr. Cooper rose and announced to the House that CHARLES OGLE, a ember of the House of Representatives of the 26th Congress, and a ember elect of this House from the State of Pennsylvania, died at his sidence at Bedford, in that State, on the 10th day of May, ultimo.

And, thereupon, on motion of Mr. Cooper, the following resolutions ere adopted, viz:

1. Resolved, That the members of this House have heard, with deep sensibility, of the death of the Hon. Charles Ogle, late a Representative from he State of Pennsylvania.

2. Resolved, That, as a testimonial of respect for the character of the eceased, they will wear the usual badge of mourning for the space of irty days.

And then, as a further testimonial of respect for the memory of the deeased,

The House, on motion of Mr. Cooper, adjourned until to-morrow 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

THURSDAY, JUNE 3, 1841.

Mr. Barnard moved the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, That the several standing committees named in the Rules nd Orders of the last preceding House of Representatives, be appointed y the Speaker.

2. Resolved, That a select committee of nine members shall be appointed to take charge of, and consider, so much of the President's message as elates to the currency of the country, and a fiscal agent for the Government.

3. Resolved, That a select committee of nine members shall be appointed to take charge of, and consider, so much of the President's message, as elates to the disposition of the public lands, and of the proceeds of the ales thereof.

The said resolutions were read, and the question, Will the House consider the same? was demanded by Mr. Clifford; when

A call of the House was moved by Mr. Barnard, and was refused.

And the question was then put, Will the House now consider the said esolutions?

And passed in the negative.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have agreed to the resolution of this House for the appointment of a joint committee to consider and report by what token of respect and affection it may be proper for the Congress of the United States to express the deep sensibility of the nation to the event of the decease of their late President William Henry Harrison; and have appointed a committee on their part. And then he withdrew.

A message, in writing, was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Robert Tyler, his private Secretary, which was delivered in at the Speaker's table.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. Wise on the 31st May; when

Mr. Wise modified his said resolution, by accepting the amendment proposed by Mr. Underwood, and, as modified, said resolution is as follows:

Resolved, That a committee of nine be appointed to revise, amend, and report rules for the government of this House; and that, until such committee make report, and the same be finally acted upon, the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives shall be considered as the rules and orders of this House.

The question recurred on the amendment moved by Mr. John Quincy Adams, to add to the resolution these words, "excepting the 21st rule, which is hereby rescinded."

A motion was made by Mr. Slade to amend this amendment by striking out the words "which is hereby rescinded."

And after debate

The previous question was moved by Mr. Hopkins, and was seconded by a member.

[Here the Speaker stated that as the House, in the absence of written rules, was governed by the common parliamentary law, it did not, under that law, require a majority of the members present to demand the previous question, but that it could be put upon the demand of one member, seconded by another member.]

The said previous question was then put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the negative.

The House having thus decided that the main question be not now put, the subject was thereby postponed until to-morrow.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed a resolution in the words following:

"Resolved, That two Chaplains, of different denominations, be elected to Congress during the present session; one by each House, who shall interchange weekly:"

In which I am directed to ask the concurrence of this House. And then he withdrew.

A motion was made by Mr. Briggs, that the House do come to the following resolution:

Resolved, That the several standing committees of this House, as provided in the rules of the last House of Representatives, be now appointed by the Speaker.

And then, at 2¼ o'clock, a motion was made by Mr. Wise that the House do adjourn until Monday next, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

And the question being put,

The question then recurred on the motion made by Mr. Briggs; and, after debate, the subject was by consent postponed for the present; and

The Speaker laid before the House the following communication, this day received from the President of the United States:

To the House of Representatives of the United States:

I transmit, herewith, a report foom the Secretary of the Treasury, exhibiting certain transfers of appropriations that have been made in that Department, in pursuance of the power vested in the President of the United States by the act of Congress of the 3d of March, 1809, entitled "An act further to amend the several acts for the establishment and regulation of the Treasury, War, and Navy Departments."

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, June 2, 1841.

Ordered, That the said message do lie on the table.

The Speaker also laid before the House a report from the Secretary of the Treasury on the state of the finances, and in relation to the present mode of keeping and disbursing the public money; and, also, to the subject of the creation or employment of a fiscal agent to be charged with the performance of these and other duties, connected with the recommendation to repeal the act of the 4th of July, 1840, entitled, "An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue."

The said report was read at the Clerk's table, and a motion was made by Mr. Everett that it be referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

A motion was then made by Mr. Randolph that the report do lie on the table; which motion was agreed to.

A motion was then made by Mr. Wise that the House do come to the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be requested to lay before this House the plan of such a fiscal agent recommended in his report of this day, "as will remove all scruples touching the question of constitutional power; and thus avoid the objections which have been urged against those fiscal agents heretofore created by Congress:" and that a committee of nine members be appointed to consider and report upon such plan when presented by the Secretary of the Treasury.

A motion was made by Mr. Underwood to amend the resolution by striking all out after the word Resolved, and inserting as follows: "That it is necessary and proper to create a national bank to act as the fiscal agent of the Government; and to repeal the act entitled "An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue, approved 4th July 1840;" and

Resolved, That a committee be appointed to prepare and report a bill or bills to carry into effect the preceding resolution.

Mr. Underwood also moved the previous question; and then

The House, at 3¼ o'clock, on motion of Mr. William Cost Johnson, adjourned until Monday next, the 7th of June, instant, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1841.

Two other members, to wit:

From the State of Pennsylvania—Henry W. Beeson;

From the State of Alabama—Reuben Chapman;

appeared, were sworn to support the constitution of the United States, and took seats in the House.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. Wise on the 31st May, ultimo, as modified on the 3d of June, instant, viz:

Resolved, That a committee of nine be appointed to revise, amend, and report rules for the government of this House; and that, until such committee make report, and the same be finally acted upon, the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives shall be considered as the rules and orders of this House.

On the 31st of May a motion was made by Mr. John Quincy Adams to amend the resolution by adding these words: "excepting the 21st rule, which is hereby rescinded."

On the 3d of June, instant, a motion was made by Mr. Slade to amend this amendment by striking out the words "which is hereby rescinded."

The question recurred on this amendment; when

Mr. Adams accepted the same, and modified his motion by striking out the said words.

The question then recurred on Mr. Adams's amendment to add to Mr. Wise's resolution these words: "excepting the 21st rule."

And, after debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. Fillmore.

A call was moved by Mr. Slade.

And then, at twenty minutes past three o'clock, a motion was made by Mr. Mallory that the House do adjourn.

And the question being put,

And so it was

Resolved, That a committee of nine members be appointed to revise, amend, and report rules for the government of this House; and that, until such committee make report, and the same be finally acted upon, the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives, except the 21st, shall be considered as the rules and orders of this House.

Mr. William B. Calhoun, Lewis Williams, Richard W. Habersham, George W. Hopkins, A. Lawrence Foster, Thomas J. Campbell, Joseph Lawrence, James W. Williams, and Linn Banks, were appointed the committee under the said resolution.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution moved on the 3d instant, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for the plan of the fiscal agent recommended in his report on the state of the finances; and the said resolution, having been again read, was ordered to lie on the table.

On motion of Mr. Briggs,

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution submitted by Mr. Briggs on the 3d instant, to direct that the standing committees be now appointed.

A motion was made by Mr. Sergeant to amend the resolution by adding thereto the following:

And that a select committee of nine members be appointed upon the subject of the currency, and the establishment of a suitable fiscal agent capable of adding increased facilities in the collection and disbursement of the public revenues, and rendering their custody more secure.

Mr. Briggs accepted this amendment, and modified his resolution accordingly.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Stanly, and was demanded by a majority of the members present.

The question on the resolution was then divided.

And the first member thereof was, on the question put thereon, agreed to.

And the question was put that the House do agree to the second member of the said resolution, being that part moved by Mr. Sergeant, and adopted by Mr. Briggs,

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 125, / Nays, ... 90.

And at quarter past six o'clock the House adjourned until to-morrow at twelve o'clock, meridian.

TUESDAY, JUNE 8, 1841.

Mr. Gilmer presented a memorial of William Smith, of the State of Virginia, claiming to be duly elected a member of this House for the 27th Congress, for the 13th Congressional district of that State, composed of the counties of Culpepper, Rappahannock, Madison, Green, Orange, and Spottsylvania, instead of Linn Banks, who has been returned, and is now the sitting member; and praying that the matters and things set forth in his memorial may be speedily investigated, to the end that justice may be done in the premises.

Ordered, That the said memorial be referred to the Committee of Elections.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution from the Senate for the appointment of two Chaplains to Congress for the present session, one by each House, who shall interchange weekly. And the said resolution being read, it was agreed to by the House.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

Mr. Morgan moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That this House will now proceed, according to the rules thereof, forthwith to the appointment of a Sergeant-at-arms, Door-keeper, Assistant Door-keeper, Postmaster, and Chaplain for this House.

The said resolution was read: when

Mr. Morgan moved the previous question, which was demanded, put, and passed in the affirmative.

And the main question was then put, viz: that the House do agree to the resolution:

And passed in the affirmative.

The House then proceeded, viva voce, to the election of a Sergeant-at-arms, and the first vote being taken, it appeared that

A motion was then made by Mr. Fornance that the House do reconsider the vote of yesterday adopting the resolution for the appointment of a committee to report rules for the government of the House, and temporarily adopting the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives.

Mr. Everett objected to the reception of the motion, on the ground that it was not in order.

A message was then received from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, its Secretary, notifying the House that the Senate have adopted the report and resolutions submitted by the joint committee appointed "to consider and report by what token of respect and affection it may be proper for the Congress of the United States to express the deep sensibility of the nation to the event of the decease of their late President, William Henry Harrison."

The said resolutions were read, and are as follows:

"The melancholy event of the death of William Henry Harrison, the late President of the United States, having occurred during the recess of Congress, and the two Houses sharing in the general grief, and desiring to manifest their sensibility upon the occasion of that public bereavement: Therefore,

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the chairs of the President of the Senate and of the Speaker of the House of Representatives be shrouded in black during the residue of the session; and that the President pro tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the members and officers of both Houses wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

"Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to Mrs. Harrison, and to assure her of the profound respect of the two Houses of Congress for her person and character, and of their sincere condolence on the late afflicting dispensation of Providence."

The House, by consent, then proceeded to the consideration of the said resolutions; and the same being read the first and second time, were passed by the House by a unanimous vote.

Mr. John Quincy Adams, thereupon, from the said joint committee appointed to consider and report by what token of respect and affection it may be proper for the Congress of the United States to express the deep sensibility of the nation to the event of the decease of their late President, WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, reported a bill (No. 1) for the relief of Mrs. Harrison, widow of the late President of the United States; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

On motion of Mr. Briggs, it was Ordered, That the daily hour to which the House shall stand adjourned be twelve o'clock, meridian, until otherwise ordered.

And thereupon

The House adjourned until to-morrow 12 o'clock meridian.

THURSDAY, June 10, 1841.

On motion of Mr. Tillinghast, it was Resolved, That a committee of three members be appointed, who, together with a like number, to be appointed by the Senate, shall consider such subjects as may come before them relating to the Library of Congress, and direct the expenditure of all money appropriated to purchase books for the said Library.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the resolution.

The rules being suspended for the purpose,

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, it was

Resolved, That the report of the Secretary of the Treasury on the state of the finances, made to this House at the present session, be committed to the Committee of Ways and Means, except such parts thereof as relate to the subject already committed to a select committee.

The resolution from the Senate directing the appointment of the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills, in pursuance of the joint rules of the two Houses, was read, and agreed to by the House; and

Mr. Randolph and Mr. Patrick G. Goode were appointed of the committee on the part of the House.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from Wm. Selden, Treasurer of the United States, transmitting an account of the receipts and expenditures for the service of the Post Office establishment, for the year ending July 1, 1840, which was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Holmes presented resolutions adopted at a meeting of citizens of the city of Charleston, in the State of South Carolina, recommending that an appropriation be made to the full amount of one year's salary for the bene-

Mr. Clifford here objected to the resolution moved by Mr. Sergeant, as not in order at this time, on the ground that the order for the choice of officers having been executed, the motion of Mr. Ingersoll of yesterday to reconsider the vote of the 7th instant, adopting the amendment of Mr. John Quincy Adams to the resolution moved by Mr. Wise, to adopt the rules of the last House of Representatives, by adding to said resolution the words "excepting the 21st rule," was the regular business for consideration. Mr. Clifford also stated that he had objected to the resolution submitted by Mr. Sergeant as soon as it was competent and possible for him to do so.

The objection of Mr. Clifford was sustained by the Speaker.

And the House was about to proceed to the consideration of Mr. Ingersoll's motion to reconsider: when

Mr. Everett's objection to the reception of that motion, as not being in order, came up.

The Speaker decided that the motion of Mr. Ingersoll was in order.

And the House then proceeded to the consideration of the said motion.

And thereupon,

The House adjourned until to-morrow 12 o'clock meridian.

FRIDAY, JUNE 11, 1841.

Mr. Hunt gave notice that he would to-morrow, or as soon thereafter as opportunity should allow, ask leave to introduce a bill to repeal the act of 2d October, 1837, entitled "An act to postpone the fourth instalment of deposite with the States;" and, further, to provide for the deposite of said fourth instalment according to the provisions of the act of June 23, 1836.

The Speaker presented a remonstrance and protest of sundry citizens of the State of Maine, legal voters in the Hancock and Washington congressional district, against the right of Joshua Lowell to a seat in this House as the representative of the people of said district, and praying the House to examine into the facts, and take such order as may be deemed right in the premises.

Ordered, That the said remonstrance and protest be referred to the Committee of Elections.

The House resumed the consideration of the motion of Mr. Fornance, on the 8th instant, that the House do reconsider the vote of the 7th, adopting the resolution moved by Mr. Wise for the appointment of a committe to report rules and orders for the government of the House, and adopting temporarily the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives.

And whilst Mr. Wise was debating the question, he was seized with a sudden illness; on which,

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, the subject was postponed till to-morrow.

The House then, on motion of Mr. Fillmore, proceeded to the consideration of the resolution submitted by Mr. Sergeant on the 8th instant, to proceed to the election of a printer, and fixing his compensation.

Mr. Atherton submitted that the resolution was not in order.

A call of the House was then ordered, on motion of Mr. Fillmore; and the roll being called, all the members answered to their names, except John B. Aycrigg, Osmyn Baker, Barker Burnell, William O. Butler, James Cooper, Edward Cross, John B. Dawson, Willis Green, William A. Harris, Isaac E. Holmes, George W. Hopkins, Archibald L. Linn, Francis Mallory, John Thompson Mason, John P. B. Maxwell, Peter Newhard, Abraham Rencher, John Sergeant, Augustus R. Sollers, George W. Summers, and Henry A. Wise.

Further proceedings in the call were then dispensed with; and the Speaker decided that the resolution was in order.

From this decision Mr. Atherton took an appeal to the House.

And the question was put, Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the House?

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 145, / Nays, ... 71.

Ordered, That the said memorial and petition be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. Randall presented resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of Maine requesting their Senators and Representatives in Congress to procure the passage of a law making provision for the indemnification of those citizens of the United States who suffered losses by French spoliations on American commerce prior to the ratification of the treaty of 1800.

Ordered, That the said resolutions be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Randall presented the following resolves of the General Assembly of the State of Maine, viz:

STATE OF MAINE.

Resolves relating to the Northeastern Boundary.

Resolved, That the Legislature sees no occasion to renew the declarations heretofore made of the right of this State to the whole of its territory, according to the treaty of 1783, unjustly drawn into question by Great Britain, (entirely recognised by the unanimous resolutions of Congress in 1838,) nor to repeat its own former resolutions on the subject. And it regards, with grateful satisfaction, the strong, increasing, and uniform demonstrations, from all parts of the Union, of conviction thereof, and of determination to support the same.

Resolved, That this Legislature adopts and affirms the principles of former resolves of preceding Legislatures in relation thereto, in all their force and extent; that it approves their spirit, insists on their virtue, adheres to their terms, and holds the National Government bound to fulfil their obligations; that it deprecates any further delay, and cherishes an earnest trust and expectation, that the National Government will not fail speedily to cause our just rights, too long neglected, to be vindicated and maintained, either by negotiation or by arms.

Resolved, That we truly appreciate the patriotic spirit with which the Federal Government espoused, and our sister States embraced our cause, and the country came to our side, in a most severe and critical emergency; and that, confiding in their continued sympathy and support, and confirmed in the strength of our cause, we feel warranted to rely for safety on the sovereign power of the Union, the people of this State maintaining all their constitutional rights.

Resolved, That, in accordance with the generous examples of our sister States, and not to be behind their free-will offerings on our behalf, this State also voluntarily tenders its whole powers and resources, without reserve, to the supreme authorities of the Union, to sustain our national rights and honor; and it stands ready, furthermore, obeying the call, and abiding the will of the country, to go forward and occupy that position which belongs and shall be marked out to it; and engages that it will not be wanting in any act or duty of devotion to the Union, of fidelity to itself, and, above all, to the common cause of our whole country.

Resolved, That this State is suffering the extreme unresisted wrong of British invasion, begun in 1839, repeated in 1840, and continued to this time, in violation of solemn and deliberate pledges from abroad, guarantied by our own Executive Government; that the President of the United States, therefore, be requested and called upon to fulfil the obligation of the federal constitution, by causing the immediate removal or expulsion of the foreign invading force now stationed within the bounds of Maine; and, other methods failing, to cause military possession to be taken of the disputed territory.

Resolved, That the Government of the United States be earnestly invoked to provide for our future protection against foreign aggression, by proper establishments of military force upon the frontier, and, by the due exertion of its constitutional powers, to liberate and relieve this State from the present heavy burden of its own needful, unavoidable defence.

Resolved, That the Government of the United States is bound to cause the commission appointed to explore and trace the Northeastern boundary line from the northwest angle of Nova Scotia, along those highlands which divide the waters that empty into the river St. Lawrence from those that fall into the Atlantic ocean, according to the treaty of 1783, to be prosecuted with the utmost speed, vigor, and certainty, to its definite and absolute conclusion, and that the same should be completed, and the true line run and marked, within the period of the present year.

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to transmit a copy of these resolves, together with this report, to the President of the United States; and that similar copies of the same be transmitted to the presiding officers of the two branches of Congress, and to the Executives of the several States, and the presiding officers of the several Legislatures of said States, and to the Senators and Representatives in Congress of this State and of Massachusetts.

IN SENATE, April 12, 1841

Read, and adopted. Sent down for concurrence.

DANIEL SANBORN, Secretary.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, April 16, 1841.

Read, and adopted in concurrence.

GEORGE C. GETCHELL, Clerk.

Ordered, That said resolutions be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. John G. Floyd presented a petition of sundry citizens of the State of New York, praying that Congress may, by resolution, declare it to be the opinion of this people that the British Government, by reducing our citizens, whom they captured in arms during the late revolutionary movements of the Canadas to the condition of common felons, have departed from that humane course towards prisoners which they have professed to be in accordance with their principles, and have violated the best policy of civilized nations; and that it is regarded as a severity not necessary to the case, and the exercise of a cruelty uncalled for.

Mr. J. G. Floyd presented a like petition of sundry other citizens of the State of New York.

Mr. J. G. Floyd presented a memorial of William L. McKenzie, praying that an act may be passed for his relief.

Mr. Chapman presented a memorial and joint resolution of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, instructing the Senators and requesting the Representatives in the Congress of the United State from that States to use their exertions to secure for the citizens of said State all the compensation for French spoliations to which they may be entitled, or which, by treaty with France, otherwise may be constitutionally provided.

Mr. Gates presented a like petition of Stephen King and other citizens of Darien, Genesee county, in the State of New York.

Ordered, That the said several petitions and memorials be referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. Barnard presented sundry resolutions of the Senate and Assembly of the State of New York, which are in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK.

In Assembly, February 17, 1841.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur,) That the public lands are the common property of the States, and of right should be held and appropriated for their common use and benefit, and for no other use or purpose whatever, and that the proceeds thereof should be distributed amongst them, after making such reasonable appropriations for public purposes as Congress may deem just, to the several States and Territories in which they are situated.

Resolved, That we protest against the surrender of this common property of all the States to the particular States in which it is situated; and against any sale thereof at a less price than is now established by law.

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State are requested to vote against any law containing provisions contrary to the sense of this Legislature, as expressed in these resolutions.

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to forward copies of the foregoing resolutions to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State, with a request that the same may be laid before the Senate and House of Representatives; and also the Governors of the several States in the Union, with a request to lay the same before their respective Legislatures.

By order of the Assembly. P. B. PORTER, jr., Speaker.

Attested by P. B. BRINDLE, Clerk.

IN SENATE, February 25, 1841.

Resolved, That the Senate do concur with the Assembly in the foregoing resolutions.

By order. L. BRADISH, President.

SAMUEL G. ANDREWS, Clerk.

STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly met, That our Senators in Congress be, and they are hereby instructed, and our Representatives requested, to vote for the repeal of the act entitled "An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue, approved the fourth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and forty," commonly called the sub-Treasury bill, and also to vote for any resolutions that have been or may be introduced, in either House of Congress, declaring such repeal to be expedient.

Resolved, That the Governor of this Commonwealth be requested to cause the foregoing resolution to be transmitted to each of our Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States, with the request that the same may be laid before their respective Houses.

Ordered, That the said resolutions be laid on the table.

Mr. Chapman presented sundry resolutions of the Legislature of the State of Alabama, as follows, viz:

STATE OF ALABAMA.

The Committee on Federal Relations to whom was referred certain resolutions of the Legislature of South Carolina, in relation to the Georgia and Maine controversy, have had the same under consideration, and beg leave to report:

That, after a careful examination of the facts and circumstances set forth in the preamble of said joint resolutions, connected with felonious stealing and carrying away the slave Atticus, by Daniel Philbrook and Edward Kilbron, from the State of Georgia, and transporting him to the State of Maine, and the refusal of the Executive of the State of Maine to surrender said Philbrook and Kilbron, fugitives from justice, upon demand made by the Governor of Georgia, pursuant to the provisions of the federal constitution, they have come to the conclusion that the demand made was legal and proper; that the right was clear under the constitution, and the refusal to surrender was inconsistent with the constitutional obligations of a State; they, therefore, concur in the following resolutions of said State, and recommend their adoption by the General Assembly of this State.

1. Resolved, That it is the duty as well as the right of any State to insist on the faithful observance of the Federal constitution, by each State in the Union.

2. Resolved, That to define crimes and felonies within its jurisdiction is an incident to the sovereignty of each State, and that no other State can question the exercise of that right.

3. Resolved, That to demand the surrender and removal of fugitives from justice is by the constitution a right, and the arrest and surrender a duty. The denial or impairment of this right is inconsistent with the constitutional obligations of a State, and subversive of the peace and good Government of the other States.

4. Resolved, That the right has been impaired if not denied, by the authorities of Maine, and that this State shall never consent, that any State shall become an asylum for those who are fugitives from the justice of other States.

5. Resolved, That this State will make common cause with any State of this confederacy in maintaining its just rights under the guaranty of the constitution of the United States, and should the obligations of this instrument be disregarded by those whose duty it may be to enforce them, it will take counsel of its co-States of this confederacy having similar interests to protect and similar injuries to redress, in devising and adopting such measures as will maintain, at every hazard, these rights and that property, which the obligation of the compact of Union, cancelled as it then will be, as to us, have failed to enforce.

6. Resolved, That the Executive of this State be requested to transmit to the Executive of the several States, to be laid before their respective legislatures, to the President of the United States, and to our Senators and Representatives in Congress, a copy of this report, and of these resolutions.

Ordered, That the said report and resolutions do lie on the table.

Mr. Chapman presented joint resolutions of the Legislature of the State of Alabama, responsive to certain resolutions of the State of Connecticut, in favor of the protective policy, as follows:

STATE OF ALABAMA.

Be it resolved, unanimously, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Alabama, in General Assembly convened, That the Government of the United States was established in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, ensure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defence, and to promote the general welfare of and among the several separate and sovereign States of this Union, and to secure the blessings of liberty to us and our children as citizens of said States.

Resolved, unanimously, That said Government never can establish justice, ensure domestic tranquillity, or promote the general welfare of this widely extended Union, and the diversified interests and pursuits thereof, especially in view of their peculiar relations aforesaid, by enacting laws to foster, promote, and protect the industry and occupation of one portion of the States or people, to the disparagement, injury, and expense of another.

Resolved, unanimously, That a tariff for the protection of manufactures, always was and always must remain obnoxious to the objections set forth in the foregoing resolution and that, consequently, every such measure always has been and ever will be, in our estimation, unwise, unjust, and unconstitutional.

Resolved, unanimously, That, in the solemn and deliberate opinion of this General Assembly, a successful attempt to re-establish the "protective policy," while it cannot fail to alienate the feellage of one portion of our happy union from another, and provoke fierce and political animosities between the North and the South, ultimately and irresistibly tends to a dissolution of the federal compact between those States; and that, in view of such consequences, we earnestly and affectionately dissuade our Northern brethren from any such attempt.

Resolved, unanimously, That the Governor of this State be requested to forward a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions to the Governor of the State of Connecticut, and the Governors of each of the other States; and also copies to each of our Senators and Representatives, the former of whom are instructed and the latter requested to use all honorable and proper means to sustain the principles therein set forth.

Ordered, That the said resolutions lie on the table.

Mr. Irwin presented the proceedings and resolutions of a meeting of old soldiers, held at Pittsburg, in the State of Pennsylvania, on the subject of the death of William Henry Harrison, President of the United States; and recommending that adequate provision be made by Congress for his family.

Ordered, That the said petition be referred to the select committee on so much of the President's message as relates to the demise of President Harrison.

Mr. Powell presented the petition of William Brent, jr., praying the House to appoint two separate committees, to meet in different chambers; to make each two reports, plans, and bills, to be delivered simultaneously at the clerk's table; to act in separate chambers, and in secret, until the final action of Congress on the subjects referred to them; to distribute one copy of such reports, plans, and bills, at every court-house in the United States; which petition was referred to the select committee on the rules.

Mr. Triplett presented the petition of Tacitus Clay, executor of Thomas Clay, deceased, heretofore presented, May 25th, 1840; which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

Mr. Barnard presented a petition of sundry citizens of Herkimer county in the State of New York, praying for the reduction of postage on letters, &c.; which petition was referred to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads.

Mr. Bidlack presented a petition of inhabitants of Luzerne county, in the State of Pennsylvania, praying for the establishment of a post route from Beaumont post office, in Buck township, to the White Haven post office, in Denisen township in said county, a distance of nine miles; which petition was referred to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads.

Mr. Henry presented a petition of John Javens, praying to be allowed a pension on account of a disabillity incurred by him from exposure while in the service of the United States during the late war with Great Britain.

Mr. Irwin presented a petition of Frederick Augustus Heisley, a sergeant in the 1st Regiment of Maryland Militia, praying to be allowed a pension on account of a wound received at the battle of Bladensburg, during the late war with Great Britain.

Mr. John G. Floyd presented a petition of Holly Guild, praying to be allowed a pension in consequence of severe wounds received by him while in the military service of the United States during the late war with Great Britain.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Committee on Invalid Pensions.

Mr. Toland presented a petition of Walter R. Johnson, praying remuneration for losses and sacrifices in consequence of the action of the Navy Department in the year 1838, excluding him from the South-sea Exploring Expedition, after having exposed him while under its orders, to the necessity of incurring expenditures to a large amount for outfits; of making sale and disposition of property at a heavy sacrifice; and being, while subject to the orders of the Department, denied all compensation for a period of six months.

Mr. McKeon presented a petition of James Bogardus, of the city of New York, praying to be refunded the sum of forty dollars deposited by him in the Treasury of the United States, as a fee for a patent, a new invention, which patent was never issued.

Mr. McKeon presented a petition of Charles S. Mathews and others, of the city of New York, praying remuneration for losses sustained by them, growing out of a contract for supplying marble for the basement of the new custom-house in the city of New York, during the year 1835.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Committee of Claims.

Mr. Irwin presented a petition of Christopher Spencer, of the State of Pennsylvania, praying compensation for arms furnished the Rhode Island troops during the Revolutionary war, by his father, John Spencer, who was a gun-smith at Exeter-hollow, in Washington county, Rhode Island.

Mr. Ingersoll presented a petition of Elizabeth Stump, widow of Christian Stump deceased, praying remuneration for services rendered by her said husband, during the Revolutionary war; which petitions were referred to the Committee on Revolutionary claims.

Mr. Charles Brown presented a petition of Abigail Stafford, widow of James B. Stafford deceased, praying to be allowed and paid the pension which her said husband was entitled to at the time of his death, as a pensioner of the United States, for services rendered and disability incurred during the Revolutionary war; which petition was referred to the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions.

Mr. Sergeant presented a memorial of the President and Directors of the Grand Gulf Railroad and Banking Company of the State of Mississippi, praying that the bonds given by the said company for duties on railroad iron may be cancelled; which memorial was referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. Patrick G. Goode presented a petition of John R. Bold, of the State of Ohio, praying for an increase of invalid pension.

Mr. Patrick G. Goode presented a petition of Elijah Foster, praying to be placed upon the pension roll for services rendered by him during the Revolutionary and the late war with Great Britain.

Mr. Chapman presented a petition of William Carson, of the State of Alabama, praying to be allowed a pension on account of disease contracted by him while in the service of the United States.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Committee on Invalid Pensions.

On motion of Mr. Harris,

Ordered, That the petition of George Raines, of Virginia, heretofore presented January 4, 1841, be again presented and referred to the Committee on Invalid Pensions.

Mr. Mattocks offered to present a petition which he stated to be from citizens and freemen of the fifth Congressional district of the State of Vermont, praying the abolition of slavery and the suppression of the slave-trade in the District of Columbia and in the Territory of Florida.

Mr. Underwood objected to the receiving of the petition; when

A motion was made by Mr. Everett that the question on the reception of the memorial do lie on the table.

A motion was made by Mr. Campbell of South Carolina, at 1¾ o'clock, that the House do adjourn.

And so the vote to agree to the following resolution, viz:

"Resolved, That a committee of nine members be appointed to revise, amend, and report rules for the government of the House, and that, until such committee make report, and the same be finally acted upon, the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives, except the 21st, shall be considered as the rules and orders of the House."

was reconsidered.

The question then again recurred that the House do agree to the said resolution: when

A motion was made by Mr. Rayner, to amend the said resolution by striking out all after the word "Resolved," and inserting as follows:

"That the standing rules and orders of the last House of Representatives be adopted as the rules and orders of this House for the 27th Congress: Provided, that this House will not consider any subjects at the present session except such as are embraced in the President's message; and that all petitions and memorials on all other subjects received under the rules and orders above mentioned shall be laid on the table without reference or consideration."

The above amendment having been read, objections were made by several members, that said amendment was not in order; and the consideration of said objections was arrested by

A motion by Mr. Rayner, at half past seven o'clock, that the House do adjourn.

And then the House adjourned until to-morrow at twelve o'clock meridian

TUESDAY, JUNE 15, 1841.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform this House that the President of the United States has approved and signed the joint resolution manifesting the sensibility of Congress upon the event of the death of WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, late President of the United States.

The House resumed the consideration of the questions arising out of the motion of Mr. Fornance, of the 8th instant, to reconsider the vote of the 7th instant, adopting the resolution moved by Mr. Wise for the appointment of a committee to report rules for the government of the House, and adopting temporarily the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives.

The House having, yesterday, decided to reconsider the vote of the 7th instant, adopting the said resolution, the amendment proposed by Mr. Rayner to the resolution was read; and, after some conversation as to whether that amendment was in order or not, Mr. Rayner withdrew it, and the question again recurred on Mr. Wise's resolution, when Mr. Barnard submitted a question of order, as follows:

"The House had passed a resolution adopting certain rules and orders for its own government; this resolution was passed under the operation of the previous question, by which the House determined that the question on the resolution should be taken without further debate; yesterday the House determined to reconsider the vote adopting the said resolution; this restored the question on that resolution to the position in which it stood at the moment of taking the first vote thereon; the previous question still applies, and the question must now be taken without debate or amendment."

The Speaker decided that the House having reconsidered the vote adopting the resolution, the proceeding was restored to the precise point at which it was when the question to agree to the resolution was put; that the question, Will the House agree to the resolution? immediately recurred upon the passing of the vote to reconsider, and it was the question now before the House; that, as that question had been decided on the 8th instant, under the operation of the previous question, the previous question now operated upon it, and consequently it was not open to debate or amendment.

From this decision Mr. Wise appealed, on the ground that a previous question expended itself when once put and decided; that having been put on the 8th instant, and decided, it could no longer be applied to the present proceeding unless renewed; and, consequently, that the proposition before the House was open both to amendment and debate.

Mr. Proffit moved the previous question on the appeal, and it was seconded by a member.

A call of the House was then moved by Mr. Adams, and was refused.

And the previous question was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And the question was put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

And passed in the negative, { Yeas, ... 105, Nays, ... 112.

And so it was decided that the previous question when once put, no lon operated, notwithstanding a reconsideration of the question to whicl may have been applied.

The question then again recurred that the House do agree to the reso tion moved by Mr. Wise, which was adopted on the 7th instant, and considered yesterday.

And, after debate,

Mr. Morgan moved the following amendment:

Strike out all of the resolution after the word "Resolved," and insert following: That the standing rules and orders of the last House of Re sentatives be adopted as the rules and orders of this House until otherv ordered; and that the committee heretofore appointed on the rules ordered to revise, amend, and report upon the said rules and orders, hat they have leave to report at any time; and that the election of officers ieretofore chosen by this House, and the committees raised by its order, ɔe and they are hereby confirmed.

Mr. Morgan also moved the previous question on said amendment.

Mr. Barnard submitted that, as the amendment proposed to enact the ɪlst rule of the last House of Representatives, which the House had already ɔy two distinct votes decided not to adopt, the House could not be called ɒn to vote upon the same question again, and that the amendment was ɔonsequently not in order.

The Speaker sustained the amendment.

Mr. John Quincy Adams was addressing the House on the propriety of ɔutting the main question under the operation of the previous question, and was called to order by Mr. Wise for not confining his remarks to the previous question, according to the law of Parliament.

The Speaker sustained the call to order; when,

On motion of Mr. Stokely, Mr. Adams was permitted to proceed.

During the debate, Mr. John G. Floyd was called to order by Mr. Stanly, for the reason that his remarks were irrelevant to the question immediately before the House.

The Speaker sustained the call to order, and Mr. Floyd took his seat.

Whereupon, on motion of Mr. Andrews, of Kentucky, Mr. Floyd was permitted to proceed, and was again called to order by Mr. Garrett Davis.

The Speaker sustained the call to order, and Mr. Floyd again took his seat; when

A motion was made by Mr. Oliver, that he have leave to proceed in his remarks.

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 131, / Nays, ... 61.

"That the standing rules and orders of the last House of Representativ be adopted as the rules and orders of this House until otherwise ordered.

[As the House was now again acting under the Lex Parliamentari it became necessary to put the question of division to the House.]

And so the said resolution was rejected.

And then, on motion of Mr. Wise, at 8 o'clock P. M., the House adjourned until to-morrow at 12 o'clock meridian.

WEDNESDAY, June 16, 1841.

Mr. Stuart moved that the House do come to the following resolution:

Resolved, That all the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives, not superseded by any rule or resolution adopted at the present session, now in force, be, and the same are hereby, adopted for the regulation of the House at the present session; and that the select committee upon the rules, heretofore raised, proceed to revise and amend the rules hereby adopted, and that they have leave to report at all times.

And after debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. Nisbet, and was seconded by a member.

And whilst debating the propriety of putting the previous question, Mr. Charles Brown was called to order for irrelevancy; and the call was sustained by the Speaker: when Mr. Brown took his seat.

On motion of Mr. Wise, Mr. Brown had leave to proceed.

Whilst Mr. Gordon was addressing the House, he was called to order by Mr. Arnold for irrelevancy; and the call being sustained, he took his seat.

Mr. Campbell, of South Carolina, moved that Mr. Gordon have leave to proceed with his remarks which was refused by the House.

Whereupon,

Mr. Oliver moved that Mr. Gordon have leave to proceed in order; which was agreed to by the House.

After further debate, the question recurred, Shall the main question be now put?

Whereupon,

A call of the House was ordered, on motion of Mr. Steenrod, and the roll being called, all the members answered to their names, except William Butler, George B. Cary, Reuben Chapman, Edward Cross, Samuel Gordon, Willis Green, William Halsted, John P. Kennedy, Archibald L. Linn, John McKeon, Calvary Morris, James A. Pearce, Nathaniel G. Pendleton, Alexander Randall, and Henry A. Wise.

A motion was made by Mr. Holmes that further proceedings in the call be dispensed with.

And the question being put,

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 12

And so it was

Resolved, That all the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives not superseded by any rule or resolution adopted at the present session, now in force, be, and the same are hereby, adopted for the regulation of the House at the present session; and that the select committee upon the rules, heretofore raised, proceed to revise and amend the rules hereby adopted; and that they have leave to report at all times.

A motion was made by Mr. Stanly that the House do reconsider the vote just taken adopting the resolution moved by Mr. Stuart.

And on this question Mr. Morgan moved the previous question; which was demanded by a majority of the members present, and was put and carried in the affirmative.

And the main question was put, viz: Will the House reconsider the said vote?

And passed in the negative.

And then, at 6¼ o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow 12 o'clock meridian.

THURSDAY, June 17, 1841.

The rules in relation to the order of business being suspended for the purpose,

Mr. Sergeant moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That, from and after Saturday next, the daily hour of meeting of this House shall be 10 o'clock A. M.

A motion was made by Mr. Briggs to amend the resolution by adding, "and that the hour of adjournment shall be three o'clock P. M."

The previous question was moved by Mr. Lewis Williams of North Carolina, and being demanded by a majority of the members present, was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

Mr. Briggs then withdrew his amendment.

And the main question was put, that the House do agree to the resolution moved by Mr. Sergeant,

Two-thirds voting in the affirmative, the rules were suspended, and Mr. Fillmore moved his said resolution, and it was read: when

The previous question was moved and demanded by a majority of the members present, and was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was then put, viz: Will the House agree to the resolution?

And passed in the affirmative.

A motion was made by Mr. Watterson, that the rules in relation to the order of business be suspended to enable him to move the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas the present Secretary of State, at the "capital of Virginia, and beneath an October sun," in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty, did use this language: "Yet even from this great and good man, (James Madison,) whom I hold to be chief among the just interpreters of the Constitution, I am constrained, however presumptuous it may be considered, to differ in relation to one of his interpretations of that instrument. I refer to the opinion expressed by him, that the power of removal from office does exist in the Constitution as an independent power in the hands of the President, without the consent of the Senate. I wish he had taken a different view of it."

Whereas the present Secretary of War, with all the responsibility attached to his station as a member of the House of Representatives, in Congress, did, no longer since than April of last year, give utterance to the following sentiments: "As to the constitutional power of the President to remove a subordinate officer for a difference of political opinion, I will say no more than simply to ask gentlemen to recur again to that clause of the Constitution which provides that all civil officers may be removed from office upon conviction for 'treason, felony, and other high crimes and misdemeanors;' and after they have done so, to put the question to themselves whether any thing can be more supremely absurd, and even ridiculous, than this provision of the Constitution if the President was, by the same instrument, vested with the power, by his sole authority, not only to remove for 'treason, felony, and other high crimes and misdemeanors,' but for no reason at all, without any default whatsoever in the officer! The object of this clause in the Constitution was undoubtedly, in the first place, to provide for the removal of public officers who had disqualified themselves for the public service by their crimes, or the abuse or gross neglect of their trusts; and, secondly, to throw around the civil officer the same protection and security, in the enjoyment of their rights, privileges, and emoluments, but, above all, their good name, against all tyrannical and arbitrary invasions or restrictions that the Constitution and laws, both of the State and Federal Governments, are so careful to maintain and protect in the private citizen. The genius and spirit of our whole scheme and system of civil liberty are directly opposed to the discretionary and arbitrary control which the President claims and exercises over the public officers."

Whereas the Hon. HENRY CLAY, who is justly regarded as the great leader of the Whig party throughout the Union, expressed similar views in an electioneering speech which he made at Taylorsville, Hanover county, Virginia, June 27th, 1840; being in these words: "If the President were compelled to expose the grounds and reasons upon which he acted in dismissals from office, the apprehensions of public censure would temper the arbitrary nature of the power, and throw some protection around the subordinate officer. Hence the new and monstrous pretension has been advanced, that although the concurrence of the Senate is necessary, by the Constitution, to the confirmation of an appointment, the President may subsequently dismiss the person appointed, not only without communicating the grounds on which he has acted to the Senate, but without any such communication to the people, for whose benefit all offices are created. And so bold and daring has the Executive branch of the Government become, that one of its cabinet ministers, himself a subordinate officer, has contemptuously refused to members of the House of Repr atives to disclose the grounds on which he has undertaken to dismiss from office persons sel deputy postmasters in his Department. * * * * There may be cases occasionally in the public interest requires an immediate dismission without waiting for the assembling Senate; but in all such cases the President should be bound to communicate fully the groun motives of the dismission. The power would be thus rendered responsible. Without it, t ercise of the power is utterly repugnant to free institutions, the basis of which is perfect r sibility, and dangerous to the public liberty."

Whereas, the present Attorney General of the United States, in a harangue that he made great Southwestern Whig Convention, held at Nashville, Tennessee, on the 17th day of A last, was reported to have held forth in the following strain: "The questions put by or on bel Mr. Van Buren are not, 'Is he honest? Is he capable? Will he support the Constitu Oh, no! these old fashioned questions, recognised by Jefferson's democracy, have all been supe by another set, which run somewhat after this fashion: 'What has he done for our party? he bullied at the polls? Has he used means to mislead the people and entice them into ou port? Has he been rejected by the people?' If he can establish these claims his reward is And whereas there are good reasons for believing that the Executive Departments, if they ha asked such questions, have acted upon such principles, as Mr. Crittenden falsely charged Mr. Van Buren, when conferring office upon such notorious "pipe-layers" as Bela Badge others.

Whereas, "It was the remark of a Roman Consul, in the early history of that celebrat public, that a striking contrast was observable in the conduct of candidates for offices of and trust before and after obtaining them—they seldom carrying out in the latter case the p and promises made in the former. However much the world may have improved, in ma spects, in the lapse of upwards of two thousand years, since the remark was made by the vi and indignant Roman," yet it is feared that a "strict examination" into the history of the utive Departments of this Government for the past two months, would "develop similar ins of violated faith."

And whereas, the President has invited a strict scrutiny into the character and qualificati all those whom he has appointed to office, therefore

Resolved, That the President be requested to furnish this House the names of all officers dismissed by him, and the reasons for the dism in each particular case.

Resolved, That the Postmaster General, the Attorney General, the retary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, also furnish this House with the names of officers dismissed by them in their respective Departments, together the reasons for removing the same.

And on the question, Shall the rules be suspended for the purpose af said?

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, ... Nays, ... }

Mr. Gilmer, by leave, moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That a committee of five members of this House be appointed, whose duty it shall be to examine particularly as to the number of officers or agents employed; the expenditures and modes of transacting business in the several departments of the public service at the seat of Government, and at such other points as the committee may deem necessary or as may be indicated by this House; and that such committee report at the session, whether it is proper to make any reduction of the expenses o civil list or in the number or arrangement of the persons thus emplo and whether the patronage of the Executive branch of the Governm may not be diminished or regulated as to those appointments for w there is an indispensable necessity.

A motion was made by Mr. Williams, of Maryland, to amend the r lution by increasing the committee proposed to be appointed from fiv nine. This motion was negatived.

A motion was made by Mr. Charles Brown to amend the resolution inserting therein, after the words "such committee," these words, "s have authority to sit during the recess of Congress and."

And after debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. Morgan, and being dema ed by a majority of the members present, was put, viz: Shall the m question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was then put, first, on the amendment moved
Mr. Charles Brown;

And passed in the negative.

And, secondly, That the House do agree to the resolution;

And passed in the affirmative.

Mr. Gilmer, Mr. Randolph, Mr. Maynard, Mr. William W. Irwin, Mr. Richard D. Davis, were appointed a committee in pursuance of said resolution.

The rules in relation to the order of business being suspended for purpose of receiving the same.

Mr. John C. Clark moved a resolution, which, at the suggestion of Truman Smith, he modified to read as follows:

Resolved, That a select committee of five be appointed to inquire the contingent expenses of this House, and into any corrupt, illegal, or proper practices which may have existed or which do exist in this bra of the public service, and to ascertain whether the expenditures; or s part of them, have not been wasteful and extravagant; and whether same can be reduced consistently with a proper discharge by this Hc of its constitutional duties; and whether the method of keeping the counts of such expenditures cannot be improved; and whether there not more clerks and other persons employed in the service of the Ho and in and about the Capitol and the public grounds adjoining than public good requires; and whether the salaries or pay of such clerks other persons should be reduced or otherwise altered or modified.

And further to inquire whether hereafter all articles of stationery other supplies usually furnished by the Clerk for the use of the member this House shall not be purchased by contract to be made with the lo bidders, having reference to the quality of the specimens of the article be exhibited. And for such purpose, the Clerk shall advertise in thre the newspapers printed in the city of Washington, one in Boston, on New York, one in Baltimore, and one in Philadelphia, inviting sealed p posals for furnishing such stationery and supplies, giving sixty days' no that on a specified day all the proposals would be considered, and the sp mens furnished examined; and that on such day the proposals shall opened in the presence of the Speaker and Clerk of the House, or, in sence of the Speaker, in the presence of the Secretary of the Treasury nd Clerk, who shall thereupon determine to which of the bidders the ontracts shall be given, always contracting with the lowest bidder having eference to quality as aforesaid: Provided, That the contractor shall give ond, with sureties to be approved by the Speaker and Clerk, to fulfil his ontracts and to furnish the articles equal in quality to the specimens, with uthority to report by bill or otherwise, as they may see fit.

A motion was made by Mr. Bowne to amend the resolution by inserting after the words "equal in equality to the specimens," these words: 'And that said committee be instructed to inquire and report to this House he amount of stationery used, and by whom used, in the recess between he two sessions of the 26th Congress"

And after debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. Everett; and, being demanded y a majority of the members present, it was put, viz: Shall the main uestion be now put?

And passed in the affirmative

The main question was then put, first, on the amendment moved by Mr. Bowne;

And passed in the negative.

And, secondly, that the House do agree to the resolution;

And passed in the affirmative.

Mr. Summers, Mr. A. Lawrence Foster, Mr. White of Indiana, Mr. Briggs, and Mr. Johnson of Tennessee, were appointed a committee in pursuance of the said resolution.

The House then resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Taliaferro reported that the Committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 1,) for the relief of Mrs. Harrison, widow of the late President of the United States; and had come to no resolution thereon.

And then, at 5 o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow 12 o'clock meridian.

FRIDAY, JUNE 18, 1841.

Mr. John Quincy Adams asked to be excused from serving on the Committee on Indian Affairs, and his request was granted; and Mr. Victory Birdseye was appointed of the committee to supply the vacancy thereby occasioned.

Mr. Calhoun, from the committee appointed on the 7th instant on the rules, made the following report in part:

"The Committee on the Rules report, in part discharge of the duty assigned them, the following as an amendment of rule 127, to be inserted after the second clause:

"And it shall not be in order to move a suspension of the rules for any particular purpose, until after the daily call for petitions, reports of committees, and resolutions, shall be completed, except for a motion to proceed to the orders of the day."

The said report was read.

A motion was made by Mr. Weller that it do lie on the table; which motion was negatived.

And the previous question was moved by Mr. Sollers: when

Mr. Floyd inquired if it would not require a majority of two-thirds to adopt the report, to make it a standing rule.

The Speaker decided that if the report were adopted by a majority, it would become a standing rule of the House.

From this decision Mr. Floyd appealed, contending that, as the report changed the rules of the House, it could not be adopted without one day's notice, or a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

And on the question, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 123, / Nays, ... 70.

And then, at 8½ o'clock, P. M., the House adjourned until to-morrov 12 o'clock meridian.

SATURDAY, June 19, 1841.

A motion was made by Mr. John C. Clark that the House do reconside the vote of yesterday on the question that the bill (No. 1,) for the relief o Mrs. Harrison, widow of the late President of the United States, do pass

Mr. Clark also moved the previous question, which, being demanded by a majority of the members present, was put, viz: Shall the main questior be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, viz: Will the House reconsider the said vote i

And passed in the negative.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the memorial presented by Mr. Fornance on the 12th instant, from sundry citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, praying Congress to take into consideration both a revision and an increase of the present tariff of duties.

The motions pending on the 12th instant were—

By Mr. Fornance, that the memorial be referred to the Committee on Manufactures, with instructions to report forthwith a bill increasing the duties on imports.

By Mr. Holmes, that the memorial be referred to the Committee on Commerce.

By Mr. Atherton, that it be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

By Mr. Lewis Williams, to amend the instructions by inserting after the word instructions, "to inquire into the expediency of reporting."

Mr. Everett submitted that the memorial could not be acted upon in the manner proposed, as the prayer thereof did not come within the exceptions specified in the rule adopted on the 12th instant.

The Speaker decided that the prayer of the memorial came within the objects embraced by the President's message, and that, therefore, it was in order under the rule to act upon the memorial in the manner proposed.

From this decision, Mr. Everett appealed: and

On motion of Mr. Proffit,

The appeal was ordered to lie on the table.

And a motion was then made by Mr. Lewis Williams that the memorial do lie on the table.

And the question being put,

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 131, / Nays, ... 66.

Mr. John Quincy Adams presented the following resolutions of the Gen- ıl Assembly of the State of Massachusetts, viz:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

IN THE YEAR ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND FORTY-ONE.

Resolves concerning the Northeastern Boundary.

Resolved, unanimously, if the Senate concur, that the right of the United States and of the State of Maine to require of Great Britain the literal and immediate execution of the terms of the second article of the treaty of one thousand seven hundred and eighty-three, so far as they relate to the boundary from the source of the St. Croix river to the northwesternmost head of Connecticut river, remains, after the lapse of more than half a century, unimpaired by the passage of time or by the interposition of multiplied objections.

Resolved, unanimously, if the Senate concur, that, although there is no cause to apprehend any immediate collision between the two nations on account of the controversy respecting the said boundary, it is, nevertheless, most earnestly to be desired that a speedy and effectual termination be put to a difference which might even, by a remote possibility, produce consequences that humanity would deplore.

Resolved, unanimously, if the Senate concur, that the late report made to the Government of Great Britain by their commissioners of survey, Messrs. Featherstonhaugh and Mudge, though not to be regarded as having yet received the sanction of that Government, is calculated to produce, in every part of the United States where it is examined, a state of the public mind highly unfavorable to that conciliatory temper, and to that mutual confidence in the good intentions of each other, without which it is hopeless to expect a satisfactory result to controversies between nations.

Resolved, unanimously, if the Senate concur, that the interest and honor of Massachusetts alike demand a perseverence, not the less determined because it is temperate, in maintaining the rights of Maine. And that we now cheerfully repeat our often-recorded response to her demand, that the justice which has been so long withheld should be speedily done to her; and that, whilst we extend to her our sympathy for her past wrongs, we again assure her of our unshaken resolution to sustain the territorial rights of the Union.

Resolved, unanimously, if the Senate concur, that his Excellency the Governor be requested to transmit a copy of these resolves and the accompanying report to the Executive of the United States, and of the several States, and to each of the Senators and members of the House of Representatives from Massachusetts in the Congress of the United States.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, March 11, 1841.

Passed:

GEORGE ASHMAN, Speaker.

IN SENATE, March 12, 1841.

Passed:

DANIEL P. KING, President.

March 13, 1841.—Approved:

JOHN DAVIS.

A true copy.—Attest:

JOHN P. BIGELOW,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That said resolves be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Staley N. Clarke presented a petition of inhabitants of Stockton in the county of Chataugua, and State of New York, in relation to American citizens held in imprisonment by the British Government at Van Diemen's Land; which petition was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

State of Connecticut, praying that a light-house may be erected on Indian Neck point at the entrance of Branford harbor on Long Island sound; which petition was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. John Quincy Adams presented the following resolves of the Legislature of the State of Massachusetts, viz:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

IN THE YEAR ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND FORTY-ONE.

Resolves relating to the revenue laws and the laws regulating the trade of the United States.

Whereas a crisis has arrived which seems to demand a careful revision of the various measures of public policy heretofore pursued by the Federal Government, among which the laws regulating trade and imposing duties upon imports are of great importance, involving, as they do, the interests of the industrious and laboring classes of the country; and whereas certain resolutions of the Legislatures of the States of Connecticut and Alabama, relating to this subject, have been submitted to this Legislature for the purpose of obtaining an expression of the opinion of the representatives of the people of this Commonwealth upon a subject of such importance to their interests and prosperity: therefore,

Resolved, That a sound and wise policy seems to require of the Federal Government, in raising a revenue by the assessment of duties upon imports, to discriminate between those articles which will come in competition with the products and manufactures of our own country and those which are exclusively the products and manufactures of foreign countries, in order that the duties may be so levied as to encourage domestic production and aid the laboring classes of our own country.

Resolved, That a just discrimination in the assessment of duties, by favoring all the great interests which are promoted by a division of labor, and without raising unnecessary or extravagant revenues, or resorting to high duties, will be of universal benefit to all sections of this great country, and to all classes of its laboring and industrious citizens, and is the only policy which can harmonize public opinion, and at the same time secure to the people that encouragement and protection in the diversified pursuits of labor, which they have a right to ask of the General Government.

Resolved, That his Excellency the Governor be requested to transmit a copy of these resolves to the Governors of the several States, and to each of the Senators and Representatives of this Commonwealth in Congress.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, March 16, 1841.

Passed:

GEORGE ASHMUN, Speaker.

IN SENATE, March 17, 1841.

Passed:

DANIEL P. KING, President.

March 18, 1841.—Approved.

JOHN DAVIS.

A true copy.—Attest:

JOHN P. BIGELOW,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That said resolves be referred to the Committee of Commerce.

Mr. John Quincy Adams also presented other resolves of the Legislature of the State of Massachusetts, which are as follows:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

IN THE YEAR ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND FORTY-ONE.

Resolves concerning the Public Lands.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, That the public lands, having been acquired by the common sacrifices of the people of the several States which originally composed this Union, or purchased by appropriations from the public Treasury, are the common property of all the States, and ought to enure to their common benefit.

Resolved, That the people of Massachusetts approve and will sustain a liberal policy towards the actual settler upon the public domain, in consideration of the hardships he endures and the perils he encounters in subduing the wilderness; but that they cannot sustain or countenance such measures of pre-emption as will offer the temptation and the opportunity of amassing individual fortunes by the sacrifice of the public property.

Resolved, That in the disposition of the public lands this Commonwealth approves of making liberal provisions in favor of the new States, and that she ever has been, and still is, ready to cooperate with other portions of the Union, in securing to those States such provisions; but that she regards the projects of ceding those lands to the States within which they lie, as fraught with signal injustice to the original States, and repugnant to the stipulations and conditions contained in the deeds of cession by which they surrendered them to the United States.

Resolved, That a system of distributing the proceeds of the public lands among the several States, with suitable provisions in favor of the new States and the actual settler, ought to be adopted both as a measure of public policy in putting at rest a disturbing question, and of substantial justice to all the States of this Union.

Resolved, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress will consult the wishes of their constituents, and the interests of this Commonwealth, by acting in accordance with the views expressed in these resolutions.

Resolved, That his Excellency the Governor be requested to transmit copies of the foregoing resolutions to the Executives of the several States, with a request that they be communicated to their respective Legislatures, and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, that they may be laid before the Senate and House of Representatives.

House of Representatives, March 17, 1841.

Passed:

GEORGE ASHMUN, Speaker.

In Senate, March 17, 1841.

Passed:

DANIEL P. KING, President.

March 17, 1841.—Approved:

JOHN DAVIS,

A true copy.—Attest:

JOHN P. BIGELOW,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Ordered, That said resolves be referred to the Committee on the Public Lands.

Mr. John Quincy Adams presented a memorial of citizens of Pennsylvania, praying that measures may be taken for effecting such change in the Constitution or laws of the Union as will cause the President and Vice President to be elected by a direct vote of the people; and also to abolish all representation of property in the Government of the United States; which memorial was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Mr. Thomas J. Campbell, Mr. James W. Williams, Mr. Brewster, Mr. Richard D. Davis, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Wood, Mr. Doig, Mr. Smith, Mr. John Quincy Adams, respectively offered to present petitions or memorials, the contents of which they briefly stated, and the question of reception of each of which said petitions and memorials was raised under the rule, and was laid on the table; and so said petitions and memorials were not received.

Mr. Fillmore, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported a bill (No. 2) making appropriations for the present session of Congress; which was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Underwood, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, ported a bill (No. 3) to revive and continue in force for ten years an act entitled "An act to incorporate the Mechanics' Relief Society;" which was read the first and second time, and ordered to be engrossed and read a third time on Monday next.

Mr. John Quincy Adams moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to cause to be communicated to this House the aggregate amount of each description of persons within the several districts of the United States by counties and principal towns, prepared from the general returns of the census at the Department of State.

The rule which requires this resolution to lie on the table one day being dispensed with, it was considered and agreed to by the House.

On motion of Mr. Winthrop,

Resolved, That the Committee on Commerce consider the expediency of providing, either by a select committee of Congress sitting in the recess, or by a special commission appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, for taking evidence at the principal ports of entry and elsewhere, as to the operation of the existing system and rates of duty on imports upon the manufacturing, commercial, and agricultural interests of the country.

Mr. Barnard submitted the following resolutions, viz:

Resolved, That so much of the President's message, with the accompanying documents, as has reference to our foreign relations, be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to commerce be referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to the condition of the Treasury, to revenue and expenditures, be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to the army, to the Florida war, and to the military defences and affairs, be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to Indian affairs be referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to naval affairs, and to the navy pension fund, be referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to the militia be referred to the Committee on the Militia.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to the Post Office Department be referred to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to the District of Columbia be referred to the Committee for the District of Columbia.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to the public lands be referred to the Committee on the Public Lands.

Resolved, That so much thereof as relates to the currency of the country and a fiscal agent for the Government, be referred to the Select Committee on the Currency.

The said resolutions were read.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Stanly, and being demanded by a majority of the members present, it was put, to wit: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, viz: That the House do agree to the resolutions moved by Mr. Barnard.

And passed in the affirmative.

Mr. R. D. Davis, of New York, moved the following resolution, which was laid on the table one day under the rule, viz:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to communicate to this House, (if in his opinion the same can be done consistently with the public interests,) such authentic information as may be in his possession, in relation to the seizure of American vessels by British armed cruisers, under the pretence that such vessels were engaged or intended to engage in the slave trade; together with any steps which may have been taken by our Government or its ministers upon that subject.

Mr. Wood moved the following resolution, which was read and laid on the table one day under the rule, viz:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to communicate to this House, so far as the public interest will permit, the correspondence, if any, between the Government of the United States and that of Great Britain, relating to the American citizens, now British prisoners of State, at Van Dieman's Land.

Mr. Hunt, moved the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That the Select Committee on the Currency be directed to inquire into the expediency of establishing a national bank on a plan herewith submitted.

The previous question on the adoption of the resolution of inquiry was moved by Mr. Hunt: when

Mr. J. G. Floyd moved that the resolution do lie on the table.

Mr. Hunt moved that the said resolution and plan be printed.

And, pending the question on these motions,

The House, at 3 o'clock, adjourned until Monday 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, JUNE 21, 1841.

Two other members, viz: From the State of Alabama—Dixon H. Lewis, and Benjamin G. Shields, appeared, were sworn to support the constitution of the United States, and took seats in the House.

David Levy, delegate from the Territory of Florida, appeared, and produced his credentials, which were read, and the oath to support the constitution of the United States was administered to him, and he took his seat as the delegate from said Territory.

The bill from the Senate (No. 1) entitled "An act to repeal the act entitled 'an act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money," was read the first and second time.

A motion was made by Mr. Fillmore that it be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

A motion was made by Mr. Samson Mason that it be referred to the Select Committee on Currency.

And the question being first put that it be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means,

It passed in the affirmative.

A motion was then made by Mr. Andrews, of Kentucky, to amend the resolution by striking out "Select Committee on the Currency," and inserting "Committee of Ways and Means." This amendment was disagreed to.

And the resolution as moved by Mr. Hunt, was then agreed to by the House.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. Richard D. Davis on the 19th instant, and, on motion of Mr. John Quincy Adams, it was amended by adding the following, to wit:

"And also copies of all correspondence between the Governments of the United States and of Great Britain since the 3d of March, 1837, relating to the African slave trade, not communicated with the message of the President of the United States of the 3d of March last, and of all those parts of the despatches from Nicholas P. Trist, consul of the United States at the Havana, to the Department of State, not contained in the said message of the 3d of March last."

The resolution as amended was agreed to, and is as follows:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to communicate to this House, (if in his opinion the same can be done consistently with the public interests,) such authentic information as may be in his possession in relation to the seizure of American vessels by British armed cruizers, under the pretence that such vessels were engaged or intended to engage in the slave trade, together with any steps which may have been taken by our Government or its ministers upon that subject.

And also copies of all correspondence between the Government of the United States and of Great Britain since the 3d of March, 1837, relating to the African slave trade, not communicated with the message of the President of the United States of the 3d March last, and of all those parts of despatches from Nicholas P. Trist consul of the United States at the vana, to the Department of State, not contained in the said message of 3d of March last.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution moved by . Wood on the 19th instant, which said resolution was modified and eed to, as follows:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to communicate to this House, so far as the public interests will permit, the correspondence, if any, between the Government of the United States and that Great Britain, or the public authorities of either, relating to the American citizens now British prisoners of State at Van Dieman's Land.

Mr. Randolph moved the following resolution, which was read and laid the table one day under the rule, viz:

Resolved, That ten thousand extra copies of the Report from the Secrey of the Treasury on the finances be printed.

Mr. Wise moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be requested to lay before s House the plan of a fiscal agent, recommended in his report on the 3d tant.

And after debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. Sergeant, and being demanded a majority of the members present, it was put, viz: Shall the main estion be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was accordingly put, Shall the resolution pass?

And passed in the affirmative.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the e of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker reed the chair, and Mr. Tillinghast reported that the Committee had, acding to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, ticularly bill (No. 2) making appropriations for the present session of ngress; which bill he was directed to report to the House with an endment.

The amendment was then concurred in by the House, and the bill was ered to be engrossed and read a third time to-day.

And the said bill being engrossed, was read the third time, and passed.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the l bill.

An engrossed bill (No. 3) entitled "An act to revive and continue in force ten years, an act entitled 'An act to incorporate the Mechanics' Relief iety of Alexandria,'" was read the third time, amended by unanimous sent, and passed.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the l bill.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the easury, transmitting an estimate of amount of the additional approprians required by the War Department for the present year; which letter l estimate were referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. McKay moved the following resolution, which was read and laid the table one day, under the rule, viz:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to report to this use, with as little delay as possible, a list of the several appropriations sh he states, in his report of 2d June instant, were unexpended and outding on the 4th March last, referring to the acts by which they were e, and designating those which will be required for the service of the ent year, and also those which will be required between the 1st of e and the 31st of August next.

'esolved, further, That the Secretary report to this House the amount ioney drawn from the Treasury between the 4th of March and the 31st lay of the present year, both inclusive; the amount accounted for by ursing agents within the same period, specifying, particularly, the unt accounted for of the moneys drawn since the 4th of March, and amount accounted for of what was drawn prior to that day; so as to ibit as near as possible the amount of expenditures between the days ve mentioned; and showing, also, the amount in the hands of disbursagents and unaccounted for on the 1st of June instant.

Ir. Campbell, of South Carolina, moved the following resolution; and ate arising thereon, it was laid over under the rule, viz:

'esolved, That the Committee of Ways and Means be instructed to ine into the expediency of so amending the act entitled "An act to profor the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the pubevenue," approved July 4th, 1840, as to authorize all duties, taxes, s, or sums of money, accruing and becoming payable to the United States, e collected and paid in the legal currency of the United States, or in asury notes, or in current bank notes of specie-paying banks payable paid on demand in the said legal currency of the United States; and of providing by law for settlements with the banks respectively for balances of their notes as may remain on hand at the expiration of ain periods; and also of repealing so much of the said act entitled "An to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement he public revenue," as makes it obligatory, after a certain period, upon ers or agents engaged in making disbursements on account of the Uni-States, or of the General Post Office, to make all payments in gold and er coin only.

Ir. Thomas Butler King moved the following resolution; which was l and laid on the table one day, under the rule, viz:

'esolved, That the surveys of Doboy and Sapelo inlets, in the State of rgia, with the reports on the same, made by Lieut. Glynn, of the Uni-States Navy, in 1840, be published under the direction of the Navy Detment.

Ir. Meriwether moved the following resolution, which was read and over one day under the rule, viz:

'esolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be instructed to report to House whether any bank or banks have been used as depositories o public money since the passage of an act to provide for the safe-keep , transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue; and, if so, wha k or banks have been so employed, on what terms employed, and a at place or places located?

Vhether the one-fourth part of duties, taxes, sales of public lands, debts sums of money, accruing or becoming due to the United States after 30th June, 1840, which was provided by law to be paid in the lega rency of the United States, has been collected in such currency?
ether, in any cases, said requisition has not been complied with; and, if by whose order the law was disregarded? Whether such one-fourth part of the public revenue has been paid in bank bills, or checks on specie paying banks; and, if so, by whose order the same was received, and at what places such checks were received?

What expenditures have been incurred in carrying into effect the act referred to, by way of salaries for officers, purchases of sites and construction of offices for receivers-general, the erection of fire-proof vaults and safes, and the rent for rooms for offices for such receivers; and the total amount of expenditure made under 27th section of the act herein referred to.

Whether the receivers-general have given bond and security in terms of the law; if not, who has omitted to do so, and if said omission was by the sanction of the Department? What security has been required of each receiver-general, and what was the value of the property of each security?

And that the Secretary communicate to this House the correspondence which may have taken place between that Department and the receivers-general, if any, in reference to the security they were required to give.

And that he further state what receipts or evidences of debt have been issued under the 25th section of the act herein referred to.

And, it being now 3 o'clock P. M., the House adjourned until to-morrow 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

TUESDAY, JUNE 22, 1841.

Mr. Randolph presented a communication of Isaac K. Lippincott, of Freehold, in New Jersey, in relation to the unequal operation of the present tariff on the iron interest and the agriculture of the country.

Mr. John G. Floyd and Mr. Roosevelt severally presented petitions of inhabitants of the city of New York, praying for the passage of a law to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy.

Mr. Parmenter presented a like petitions of inhabitants of the town of Chelmsford, in the State of Massachusetts.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

On motion of Mr. John G. Floyd,

Ordered, That leave be given to withdraw the petition and papers of Wilmot Marsden.

[The petition was delivered to Mr. Floyd.]

Mr. William Cost Johnson, from the Committee on the Public Lands, reported a bill (No. 4,) to appropriate for a limited time the proceeds of the sales of the public lands of the United States, and for granting land to certain States; which bill was read the first and second time and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution laid on the table yesterday, for consideration, by Mr. Randolph.

And the previous question was moved by Mr. Randolph, and being demanded by a majority of the members present, it was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And so it was

Resolved, That ten thousand extra copies of the report from the Secretary of the Treasury on the finances be printed.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution laid on the able yesterday, by Mr. McKay, calling for information in relation to expenditures and outstanding balances since the 4th of March last; and the said resolution being read, was agreed to by the House.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution laid on the able yesterday by Mr. King, directing the publication of certain surveys of Doboy and Sapelo inlets, in the State of Georgia.

A motion was made by Mr. Briggs that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Commerce, with instructions to inquire into the best mode of publishing the said surveys, and the expense thereof.

And after debate,

Mr. King modified his resolution to read as follows:

Resolved, That the Committee on Naval Affairs be instructed to inquire into the expediency and probable cost of printing the surveys of Doboy and Sapelo inlets, in the State of Georgia, with reports on the same made by Lieut. Glynn of the United States Navy, in 1840, under the direction of the Navy Department.

Mr. Briggs then withdrew his motion to refer to the Committee on Commerce with instructions.

And the question, That the House do agree to the resolution, was put,

And passed in the affirmative.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution laid on the table yesterday by Mr. Campbell, of South Carolina, proposing inquiries to the propriety of amending the act of 4th July, 1840, "to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue." and the resolution being read, it was ordered to lie on the table.

A motion was made by Mr Pope that the House do reconsider the vote yesterday, referring to the Committee of Ways and Means the bill from the Senate, (No. 1,) entitled "An act to repeal the act entitled 'An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of the public money."

And after debate,

The question then recurred on the motion that the bill be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means: when

Mr. Fillmore withdrew the motion.

The question then recurred on the motion, made yesterday, that the bill be referred to the Select Committee on the Currency.

Mr. Pickens moved that the bill be referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. John G. Floyd then renewed the motion that the bill be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

And after debate,

The question was put, first, That the bill be referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union;

And passed in the negative.

Secondly, That it be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means;

And decided in the negative.

Thirdly, That it be referred to the Select Committee on the Currency;

And passed in the affirmative.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. Meriwether, on the 21st instant, and laid on the table; and, being again read, it was agreed to.

A message, in writing, was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Robert Tyler, his private secretary, which was read, and is as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States:

I have the honor to submit the accompanying correspondence between myself and the Hon. J. Burnett, J. C. Wright, and others, who arrived in this city some days ago, as a committee on behalf of the people of Cincinnati, for the purpose, with the assent of the family, of removing the remains of the late President of the United States to North Bend for interment.

I have thought it to be my duty thus to apprize Congress of the contemplated proceeding.

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, June 22, 1841.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 16, 1841.

The PRESIDENT of the United States:

DEAR SIR: The undersigned were appointed by the citizens and the City Council of Cincinnati, and by many of the surviving soldiers of the late war, to apply to the widow and family of our distinguished fellow citizen, the late President of the United States, for permission to remove his remains from the city of Washington to the State of Ohio for interment. They have made the application directed, and have received permission to perform that sacred trust. They have now the honor of reporting to you their arrival in this city, and of asking your approbation of the measure contemplated, and your co-operation in carrying it into effect.

We are fully aware of the high estimate you placed on the talents and virtues of our lamented friend and fellow-citizen, the late Chief Magistrate of the Union, whose friendship and confidence you possessed many years. We saw the tear fall from your eye and mingle with the tears of the nation, when the inscrutable will of Heaven removed him from us.

Knowing these things, we approach you with confidence, well assured that you will justly appreciate our motive for undertaking the mournful duty we have been deputed to perform, and that the same kind feeling which has marked your course through life will prompt you on this occasion to afford us your countenance, and, if necessary, your co-operation.

If it meet your approbation, the committee will do themselves the honor of waiting upon you at the President's House, at any hour you may please to designate.

With high respect, we are your friends and fellow-citizens,

J. BURNET.
J. C. WRIGHT.

JOHN REEVES.
JOHN C. VAUGHAN.

WASHINGTON, June 17, 1841.

GENTLEMEN: Your letter of the 16th was duly handed me, and I lose no time in responding to the feelings and sentiments which you have expressed for yourselves and those you represent, and which you have correctly ascribed to me in regard to the lamented death of the late President. As a citizen I respected him, as a patriot I honored him, as a friend he was near and dear to me. That the people of Cincinnati should desire to keep watch over his remains, by entombing them near their city, is both natural and becoming; that the entire West, where so many evidences of his public usefulness are to be found, should unite in the same wish, was to have been expected; and that the surviving soldiers of his many battles, led on by him to victory and to glory, should sigh to perform the last melancholy duties to the remains of their old commander, is fully in consonance with the promptings of a noble and generous sympathy. I could not, if I was authorized to do so, oppose myself to their wishes. I might find something to urge on behalf of his native State, in my knowledge of his continued attachment to her through the whole period of his useful life—in the claims of his relatives there, whose desire it would be that the mortal remains of the illustrious son should sleep under the same turf with those of his distinguished father, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence—in the wish of the citizens of his native county to claim all that is now left of him for whom they so lately cast their almost unanimous suffrage—to say nothing of my own feelings, allied as I am by blood to many of his near relatives, and with our names so closely associated in much connected with the late exciting political contest: these considerations might present some reasonable ground for opposing your wishes. But the assent which has been given by his respected widow and nearest relatives to the request of the people of Cincinnati, admits of no opposition on my part, neither in my individual nor official character.

I shall feel it to be my duty, however, to submit our correspondence to the two Houses of Congress now in session; but, anticipating no effort from that quarter to thwart the wishes expressed by yourselves in consonance with those of the widow and nearest relatives of the late President, I readily promise you my co-operation towards enabling you to fulfil the sacred trust which brought you to this city.

I tender to each of you, gentlemen, my cordial salutations.

JOHN TYLER.

TUESDAY, JUNE 29, 1841.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the motion made yesterday by Mr. Linn, and then postponed to this day, that the House do reconsider the vote of Friday, the 25th instant, by which it was determined that, during the week commencing with Monday, the 28th June instant, the daily hour at which the House shall adjourn shall be three o'clock, P. M.

And the question being put, Will the House reconsider the said vote?

It was decided in the negative.

Mr. John Quincy Adams, by leave, presented a plan, by Alexander Hamilton, of the city of New York, of a fiscal agent, to be known as the Exchequer of Issues of the United States of America, accompanied by a draft of a bill intended to carry said plan into effect.

Ordered, That said plan and bill be referred to the Select Committee on the Currency.

A motion was made by Mr. Adams that the said plan and bill be printed.

Mr. Sergeant moved to amend the motion, by adding thereto the printing of the plan presented by Mr. Hunt on the 19th instant.

A motion was made by Mr. John C. Clark that the motion to print do lie upon the table; which motion was agreed to by the House.

Mr. Randolph, from the Joint Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill, (No. 1,) entitled "An act for the relief of Mrs. Harrison, widow of the late President of the United States," and found the same truly enrolled.

The Speaker signed the said bill.

Mr. Atherton presented sundry resolutions of the Legislature of the State of New Hampshire; which were read, and laid upon the table, and are as follows:

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

IN THE YEAR OF OUR LORD ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND FORTY-ONE.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That the Federal constitution confers upon Congress no power to charter a bank; and that its establishment would be fraught with danger to the best interests of the country.

Resolved, That should the present Congress grant a charter, contrary to the will of the people of the United States, as expressed at every election at which that question has been presented to them, it will be the duty of a subsequent Congress to repeal it.

Resolved, That in the event of the establishment of a national bank, it will be incumbent upon New Hampshire, as one of the parties to the compact of Union, to adopt such measures as may be necessary to protect her citizens from the encroachments of the Federal Government.

Resolved, That no emergency can justify a connexion of the Treasury of the United States with the banks as agents in the collection, custody, and disbursement of the public revenues.

Resolved, That the creation of a national debt, by funding the real or supposed liabilities of the General Government, would be a fraud upon the people.

Resolved, That the distribution of the public revenue, whether it may have accrued from the proceeds of the sales of the public lands or otherwise, is without sanction in the constitution, would be disastrous to the prosperity of the States, and tend to destroy that due relation between the States and the Federal Government, to preserve which should be the paramount object of legislation.

Resolved, That a system of tariff duties, except to supply the actual wants of Government, ought not to be established; that the whole scheme of a protective tariff is a gross legislative error, founded in ignorance of the true principles of political economy; an imposition upon the credulity of a people, by which they are taxed without any equivalent; that, instead of encouraging domestic industry, it depresses it; instead of protection, it brings destruction.

Resolved, That the true policy of the Federal Government is, to confine its action to the objects specifically enumerated in the constitution, leaving industry to regulate itself.

Resolved, That his excellency the Governor of this State be directed to transmit a copy of the foregoing resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress, to be by them laid before the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.

JOHN S. WELLS,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
JOSIAH QUINCY,
President of the Senate.

Approved, June 11, 1841: JOHN PAGE, Governor.

A true copy of the original record. Attest: JOSIAH STEVENS, Jun.,
Secretary of State.

On motion of Mr. Cushing,

Resolved, That all petitions, resolutions of State Legislatures, and other papers on the subject of a bankrupt law, presented in the last Congress, be taken from the files of the House, and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Kennedy, of Indiana, presented a petition of citizens of Jay county, in the State of Indiana, praying for the incorporation of a national bank.

Mr. S. N. Clarke, of New York, presented a like petition of citizens of Cattaraugus county, in the State of New York.

Mr. White, of Louisiana, presented a like petition of the Chamber of Commerce of the city of New Orleans.

Mr. McKeon presented a petition of John Golden, of the city of New York, praying for the establishment of a loan office in the city of New York, with a capital of not less than $50,000,000, under the mutual credit system invented by himself, and patented by the United States in the year 1835.

Mr. Fillmore presented a project for a fiscal agent, by L. Durham, of Baltimore.

Ordered, That the said petitions, &c., be referred to the Committee on the Currency.

Mr. Wood presented a memorial of citizens of the city of New York, praying for a division of the public lands into plats of from 50 to 80 acres, to be bona fide granted for life, gratuitously, to actual settlers; which memorial was referred to the Committee on the Public Lands.

Mr. Boardman presented resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of Connecticut, which were read, and are as follows:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Assembly convened, That the public domain, acquired as it has been by the sacrifices and treasure of the people of the several States, is the common property of all the States, and that the proceeds thereof should be distributed among the States in proportion to their population.

Resolved, That we protest against the surrender of this common property, or any portion of it, to any of the States, without a just equivalent therefor, as unjust, and a manifest violation of the rights of the States collectively, and opposed to the principles of its acquisition, and the conditions on which it was accepted by the United States.

Resolved, That, while we would willingly aid the actual settler in his endeavors to secure for himself a home and a competency, we cannot countenance such measures of pre-emption as will furnish unprincipled speculators the power to amass individual fortunes, by the sacrifice of public property.

Resolved, That we see no good reason why the minimum price of the public lands should be reduced, and protest against any attempts made for that purpose, as unjust to those who have already become settlers, and injurious to the interests of the States.

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives of this State in Congress will consult the wishes, conform to the views, and promote the interests of the people of this State, by acting in accordance with the foregoing resolutions, and they are hereby individually requested to use their utmost exertions to carry out the principles therein contained.

Resolved, That his Excellency, the Governor, be requested to transmit copies of the foregoing resolutions, with the accompanying report, to each of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State, with a request that the same may be laid before the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress.

Approved, June 7, 1841.

WILLIAM W. ELLSWORTH.

Ordered, That the said resolutions be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. John Quincy Adams presented a memorial of citizens of the city of Albany, in the State of New York, praying for the passage of an act prohibiting the sale of human beings in the District of Columbia and Territory of Florida; and also prohibiting persons held as slaves being sold from one State into another.

Ordered, That so much as relates to the foreign slave trade be referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

Mr. John Quincy Adams presented a petition of Charles Smith, of Boston, in the State of Massachusets, praying that the constitutional law of elections may be so modified as to give to all the representative districts throughout the States, the right of selecting their candidates for representatives in Congress, without its being necessary for such candidates to be residents in the particular district or of the States for which they may be elected.

Ordered, That the said petition be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Miller presented a petition of citizens of the city of St. Louis, in the State of Missouri, praying the passage of a law to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy.

Mr. William O. Butler presented a petition of like tenor from citizens of Carrollton, in the State of Kentucky.

Mr. Sergeant presented a memorial of like tenor from merchants and other citizens of Philadelphia.

Mr. Ward presented a petition of like tenor from inhabitants of West Chester county, in the State of New York.

Mr. Bowne presented a petition of like tenor from inhabitants of Cherry Valley, in the State of New York.

Mr. Blair presented a petition of like tenor from inhabitants of the county of Rensselaer, in the State of New York.

Mr. Barnard presented two petitions of like tenor from citizens of the city of New York.

Mr. Winthrop presented sixteen petitions of like tenor from citizens of the city of Boston;

Also, two petitions of like tenor from citizens of the State of Massachusetts.

Mr. Parmenter presented a petition of like tenor from inhabitants of Charlestown, in the State of Massachusetts.

Mr. J. L. White presented a petition of like tenor from citizens of the city of New York.

Mr. E. D. White presented a memorial of like tenor from citizens of the city of New Orleans;

Also, a memorial of like tenor from the Chamber of Commerce of the city of New Orleans.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Calhoun, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, to which that part of the President's message relating to the navy pension fund was referred, made a report, in writing, accompanied by a bill (No. 6) to provide for the payment of navy pensions; which bill was read a first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

A message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. John Tyler, Jr., notifying that the President did, on the 25th instant, approve the bill, (No. 2,) entitled "An act making appropriations for the present session of Congress."

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution submitted by Mr. Floyd, on the 23d instant, in relation to the case of Alexander McLeod; and, after debate, the consideration thereof was postponed by general consent; and,

On motion of Mr. William Cost Johnson,

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Lawrence reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union generally under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 4) to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights, and had come to no resolution thereon.

And then, it being three o'clock, P. M., the House adjourned until tomorrow at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

WEDNESDAY, June 30, 1841.

A message, in writing, was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. John Tyler, Jr., his private secretary, which he delivered and at the Speaker's table.

The House again resumed itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Lawrence reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union generally under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 4) to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights, and had come to no resolution thereon.

And then, it being three o'clock, P. M., the House adjourned until tomorrow at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1841.

The message received from the President of the United States yesterday was read, and is as follows:

To the House of Representatives of the United States:

The accompanying memorial in favor of the passage of a bankrupt law, signed by nearly three thousand of the inhabitants of the city of New York, has been forwarded to me, attended by a request that I would submit it to the consideration of Congress. I cannot waive a compliance with a request urged upon me by so large and respectable a number of my fellow-citizens. That a bankrupt law, carefully guarded against fraudulent practices, and embracing, as far as practicable, all classes of society—the failure to do which has heretofore constituted a prominent objection to the measure—would afford extensive relief, I do not doubt. The distress incident to the derangements of some years past has visited large numbers of our fellow-citizens with hopeless insolvency, whose energies, both mental and physical, by reason of the load of debt pressing upon them, are lost to the country. Whether Congress shall deem it proper to enter upon the consideration of this subject at its present extraordinary session, it will doubtless wisely determine. I have fulfilled my duty to the memorialists in submitting their petition to your consideration.

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, June 30, 1841.

Ordered, That the said message do lie on the table.

Ordered, That the memorial accompanying the said message be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The Speaker laid before the House papers in relation to the contested election of Linn Banks, of Virginia; which were referred to the Committee of Elections.

The Speaker laid before the House a communication from the Secretary of State, stating that the returns of the sixth census for the States of Louisiana and Kentucky have not been made within the time fixed by law, and suggesting the propriety of allowing additional time for the completion of the returns for those States. The report was read and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. John P. Kennedy presented a memorial of citizens of Baltimore, in the State of Maryland, praying the passage of a general law upon the subject of bankruptcy.

A message in writing was received from the President of the United States by Mr. Robert Tyler, his private secretary; which was read, and is as follows:

To the House of Representatives of the United States:

I have the honor herewith to submit to the House of Representatives a copy of a letter addressed by myself to Mrs. Harrison, in compliance with the resolution of Congress, and her reply thereto.

JOHN TYLER.

Copy of the letter from the President of the United States to Mrs. Harrison.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 13, 1841.

MY DEAR MADAM: The accompanying resolutions, adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States, will convey to you an expression of the deep sympathy felt by the representatives of the States and of the people, in the sad bereavement which yourself and the country has sustained in the death of your illustrious husband.

It may now be justly considered that the public archives constitute his enduring monument, on which are inscribed, in characters not to be effaced, the proudest evidences of public gratitude for services rendered, and of sorrow for his death. A great and united people shed their tears over the bier of a devoted patriot and distinguished public benefactor.

In conveying to you, my dear madam, the profound respect of the two Houses of Congress for your person and character, and their sincere condolence on the late afflicting dispensation of Providence, permit me to mingle my feelings with theirs, and to tender you my fervent wishes for your health, happiness, and long life.

JOHN TYLER.

Mrs. ANNA HARRISON.

Copy of the letter from Mrs. Harrison to the President of the United States.

NORTH BEND, June 24, 1841.

DEAR SIR: I have received, with sentiments of deep emotion, the resolutions of the Senate and House of Representatives which you have done me the honor of forwarding, relative to the decease of my lamented husband.

I cannot sufficiently express the thanks I owe to the nation and its assembled representatives, for their condolence, so feelingly expressed, of my individual calamity and the national bereavement; but, mingling my tears with the sighs of the many patriots of the land, pray to Heaven for the enduring happiness and prosperity of our beloved country.

ANNA HARRISON.

To JOHN TYLER, President U. S.

Ordered, That the said message and documents do lie on the table.

A message was received from the President of the United States by Mr. Robert Tyler, his private secretary, notifying that the President did on the 30th of June, ultimo, approve and sign an enrolled bill, (No. 1,) entitled "An act for the relief of Mrs. Harrison, widow of the late President of the United States."

Mr. Calhoun, from the committee appointed on the 7th of June, "to revise, amend, and report rules for the government of this House," and which committee, by an order of the House of the 16th ultimo, were directed to "proceed to revise and amend the rules, and that they have leave to report at all times," made a further report in part.

Mr. Medill objected to receiving the report, on the ground that it was not in order for the committee thus to be making reports in part at different times, and by "piece-meal."

The Speaker decided that it was in order for the committee thus to report in part.

From this decision Mr. Medill appealed to the House.

And, after debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. William Cost Johnson; and being demanded by a majority of the members present, was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

The question then recurred on the report of the committee; when

Mr. Briggs moved to amend the rule recommended by the committee when

Mr. Atherton objected to the further consideration of the report at thi time, on the ground that by the 127th rule it is provided that "no standi rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without one day notice being given of the motion therefor."

The Speaker decided that it was in order now to consider and determi upon said report, inasmuch as the order of the House constituting the co mittee for the purpose of reporting amendments to the rules was of its a sufficient notice of amendment to the rules under the 127th rule.

From this decision Mr. Atherton appealed to the House.

And the question was put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as t judgment of the House?

And passed in the affirmative.

And, thereupon,

Mr. McKeon raised as a question of order, whether the words used in t commission for the appointment of the Committee on the Rules, "and th they have leave to report at all times," mean that the committee m make detached reports at any time it may see fit.

The Speaker stated that the House had decided this question in its de sion on the appeal of Mr. Medill; and he therefore decided that it was r now in order thus again to raise the same question.

From this decision Mr. McKeon took an appeal to the House.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Hudson, and was demand by a majority of the members present, and put, viz: Shall the main qu tion be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, viz: Shall the decision of the Chair sta as the judgment of the House?

And passed in the affirmative.

So the House having reconsidered the said vote, the question again recurred to agree to the aforesaid amendment.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Cooper, and was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And then Mr. Briggs modified his said amendment to read as follows:

"After it may or shall have been in committee at least four days; provided the four days shall not apply to any bill which may be amended in the Senate, and committed under said amendment."

And the main question was put, first, that the House do agree to the said amendment?

Mr. Wise here inquired of the Chair, whether it did not require a vote of two-thirds of the members present to adopt the resolution moved by Mr. Stanly.

The Speaker decided that the vote of a majority was sufficient to adopt the resolution.

From this decision, Mr. Wise took an appeal to the House; and the question being put, the decision of the Chair was sustained.

The question was then put, that the House do agree to the resolution moved by Mr. Stanly.

And so it was

Resolved, That the debate in the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, on the bill "to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands and to grant pre-emption rights," from and after seven o'clock this day, shall cease, unless the committee shall report the bill sooner; and that, after that hour, the committee shall vote on all amendments pending and which may be submitted.

Mr. Warren gave notice that, to-morrow, he would move to amend the 28th rule, by adding thereto the following:

"And no member shall be allowed to speak more than one hour to any question under debate."

The House then again resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Lawrence reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No 4.) to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights; which bill he was directed to report to the House with sundry amendments.

A motion was made by Mr. Atherton that the bill be postponed indefinitely: when

A motion was made by Mr. Steenrod, at twenty minutes before ten o'clock at night, that the House do adjourn.

"with instruction to report a provision that the proceeds of the he public lands shall be appropriated and applied to the defence ntry in the completion of the works specified in the bill, and us applied and appropriated yearly until the said works shall be lmore objected to the motion of Mr. Atherton as out of order, on d that the House yesterday, by the passage of the bill to approproceeds of the sales of the public lands, had already determined anner the proceeds of the sales of the public lands should be disand that it was not now in order, immediately after the passage ill, and upon a bill on a different subject, to propose another and t mode of disposing of said proceeds.
."

The Speaker sustained the objections of Mr. Fillmore, and ruled Mr. Atherton's motion out of order.

From this decision Mr. Atherton appealed to the House; when Mr. Stanly moved that the appeal do lie on the table.

And so the appeal was laid on the table, and the decision of the Chair stands.

The question was then put on the motion of Mr. Fillmore, that the bill making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities, be committed to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union.

And passed in the affirmative.

Mr. Wise, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, reported a bill (No. 9) making an appropriation for the purchase of naval ordnance and ordnance stores, and for other purposes, accompanied by a report in writing; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Thomas Butler King, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, to which was referred so much of the President's message and accompanying documents as relates to the navy, made a report on the expediency of providing for the support of a home squadron, as recommended in the report of the Secretary of the Navy, accompanied by a bill (No. 10) making appropriations for the pay, subsistence, &c., of a home squadron; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

On motion of Mr. John Quincy Adams, five thousand copies extra of said report and bill were ordered to be printed.

Mr. Thomas W. Williams, from the Committee on Mileage, reported the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House be directed to furnish the Committee on Mileage with a set of maps containing the post roads and distances, in order to enable said committee to ascertain and report the distances of the members of this House, the cost not to exceed seventy-five dollars.

The resolution was read, and agreed to by the House.

Mr. Underwood, by leave, presented a memorial of the corporation of Georgetown, in the District of Columbia, setting forth that said corporation suffer inconvenience and prejudice from doubts which have lately arisen as to their right to enforce their penal laws by fines, penalties, and forfeitures, in consequence of which their ordinances and laws are generally disregarded; and praying the passage of a law to remove those doubts, and ascertain the powers of the corporation; which memorial was referred to the Committee for the District of Columbia.

Mr. Toland, by leave, presented a memorial of the Board of Trade of the city of Philadelphia, praying that a national bank may be established; which memorial was referred to the Committee on the Currency.

Mr. Trumbull, by leave, presented a memorial of citizens of Hartford, in the State of Connecticut, remonstrating against the passage of any law designed or adapted to extinguish the obligations of existing contracts; which memorial was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

A motion was made by Mr. Warren that the rules in relation to the order of business be suspended to enable him to move the amendment to the rules of which he gave notice yesterday; and the motion to suspend having prevailed by a vote of two-thirds,

Mr. Warren moved his said amendment, viz: at the end of the 28th rule add, "and no member shall be allowed to speak more than one hour to any question under debate."

Mr. Warren moved the previous question, which was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, viz: Will the House adopt the aforesaid amendment to the rules?

On motion of Mr. Bidlack, leave was given to withdraw from the files the petition and papers of the heirs at law of John Lamb and Lucy Lamb.

Mr. Powell presented a petition of citizens of Alexandria, in the District of Columbia, praying that the banks of the District of Columbia may be allowed to issue notes of a denomination less than five dollars, or to continue issuing those between five and ten dollars, and that said banks be not required to resume specie payments until the banks in Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia shall resume; also, that the corporation of Alexandria be authorized again to issue notes of the denomination of one dollar; which petition was referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. Linn presented a petition of inhabitants of Schenectady, in the State of New York, praying the passage of an act to establish a uniform bankrupt system for the United States.

Mr. Nisbet presented a petition of inhabitants of Macon, in the State of Georgia, also praying the establishment of a uniform bankrupt system.

Ordered, That said petitions be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution of Mr. John G. Floyd, of the 23d of June, in relation to the case of Alexander McLeod; and, after further debate, the hour elapsed, and it was suspended.

On motion of Mr. Thomas Butler King,

Ordered, That the chart accompanying the report from the Naval Committee, yesterday, on the subject of a home squadron, be lithographed or printed.

The House then resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Briggs reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union generally under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 5) to authorize a loan for a sum not exceeding twelve millions of dollars, and had come to no resolution thereon.

And then, at three o'clock P. M., the House adjourned until to-morrow at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

FRIDAY, JULY 9, 1841.

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, certain documents showing the amount and description of goods imported duty-free; the amount of goods paying a duty under twenty per cent. ad valorem; the appropriations and expenditures for the last twelve years; the deductions from the revenue under the compromise act of 1833; the average amount of duties, drawbacks, and bounties; alphabetical list of goods imported, with rates of duties; the issue and redemption of Treasury notes from 1837 to 1st of July, 1841; which documents were obtained by the committee from the Treasury Department, were ordered to be printed, and 1,500 extra copies were also ordered.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. John G. Floyd on the 23d June; and, after further debate, the hour elapsed, and the debate was suspended until to-morrow.

Mr. Fillmore moved the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That from and after two o'clock on Monday next, all debate in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union on the bill (No. 5) to authorize a loan for a sum not exceeding twelve millions of dollars shall cease; and the committee shall proceed to vote upon the amendments that may be at that time pending, or that may be offered; and shall then report the same, with such amendments as may have been agreed to, to the House: Provided, That nothing in this resolution contained shall prevent the committee from reporting said bill to the House at an earlier hour.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Fillmore, was demanded, and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

he Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives:

compliance with a resolution of the House of Representatives, of 21st ultimo, I have the honor to submit the accompanying communica- from the Secretary of State.*

JOHN TYLER.

ASHINGTON, July 14, 1841.

rdered, That said message do lie on the table.

he House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker re- ed the chair, and Mr. Winthrop reported that the committee had, ac- ing to order, had the state of the Union generally under consideration, n relation to the seizure of American vessels by British armed cruisers, under the pretence they were engaged in the slave trade; and also correspondence with Consul Trist upon the ct of the slave trade.

particularly the bill (No. 8) making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities, and had come to no resolution thereon.

And, at 3 o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow 10 o'clock, in the forenoon.

THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1841.

The House was called to order, and the journal of yesterday was read, and a quorum not being present,

A call was ordered, on motion of Mr. Smith, of Connecticut.

A quorum being now present, further proceedings in the call were dispensed with.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Winthrop reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union generally under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 8.) making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities, and had come to no resolution thereon.

And then, at 3 o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1841.

Mr. Patrick G. Goode presented a petition of citizens of the State of Ohio, praying the establishment of a national bank; which was referred to the Select Committee on the Currency.

Mr. McKeon presented a memorial of sundry citizens of the city of New York, praying the passage of a general bankrupt law at the present session of Congress; which memorial was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. Bidlack presented a petition of sundry citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, praying the repeal of the act of Congress of the 14th July, 1832, which admits iron imported for the use of railroads free of duty.

Mr. Winthrop presented a petition of John W. Frull, and other distillers of Boston, in the State of Massachusetts, praying that the law on the subject of drawback on rum be amended.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. Garrett Davis moved the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Postmaster General, do severally report to this House, at the next session of Congress, the number of persons employed in the public service in any manner in their respective Departments, or in any business directly or indirectly connected with such Departments, either in or out of Washington city; and that they also report the duties required by law and performed by all such persons, what portion of their time is required in the performance of such duties, what is their compensation severally, and what reform and retrenchment may be reasonable and practicable in diminishing the number of persons so employed in the public service; excepting all soldiers, marines, and sailors, and their officers in the service of the United States from the operation hereof.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury do report to the House of Representatives, at its next session, in what medium or currency the several pension agents, since March, 1837, have paid the several pensions within their agencies.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury do, at the next session, report to this House what sums shall have been paid into the Treasury in virtue of all laws limiting the pay or other emoluments of any officer or other person in the employment of the Government of the United States.

The resolutions were read: when

A motion was made by Mr. Cave Johnson to amend the same by adding thereto the following:

"That the President of the United States be requested to lay before the House a list of all the officers of the Government who derive their appointments from the nomination of the President and concurrence of the Senate, who have been removed from office since the 4th of March last, denoting in such list their names and grades and dates of their removals, and the persons appointed in their place; also, a like list of all the names of those whose terms of service being limited to four years were not renominated to the Senate, and a like list of the names of those nominated in their place.

And be it further resolved, That the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of War, and the Postmaster General, be directed to report to this House the names of all persons removed from office or the employment of the Government, (other than those appointed by the President and Senate,) and the names of those appointed or employed in their places, since the 4th day of March last.

A motion was made by Mr. Botts to amend the amendment proposed by Mr. Cave Johnson, by inserting the following at the close of the first resolution:

"That they also report the names of all officers removed under similar circumstances, from the 4th of March, 1829, to the 4th of March, 1841; and also inform this House why they have not removed faithless and incompetent officers with greater despatch than they have done."

A motion was made by Mr. Stanly, that the resolutions do lie on the table.

Mr. John Quincy Adams rose and stated that he was not in the House when the resolutions were submitted and read, and asked that they be again read.

The Speaker directed the Clerk to read the resolutions.

Mr. Turney objected to the reading.

The Speaker decided that, as the reading was objected to, the question must be put to the House.

Mr. Turney appealed from this decision, on the ground that, having been read, the resolutions could not be again read if one member objected.

And on the question, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

It passed in the affirmative.

The question was then put to the House, that the resolutions be read;

And passed in the affirmative.

And the resolutions were read.

And the question was put, that the resolutions do lie on the table.

And was decided in the negative, { Yeas, ... 65 removed under similar circumstances from the 4th of March, 1829, to the 4th of March, 1841.

5. And be it further resolved, That the Secretary of State, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of the Navy, the Secretary of War, and the Postmaster General, be directed to report to this House the names of all persons removed from office or the employment of the Government, (other than those appointed by the President and Senate,) and the names of those appointed or employed in their places, since the 4th day of March last.

The Speaker laid before the House a report from the Secretary of the Treasury containing the information called for by the House on the 22d of June, relative to the manner in which the act of the 4th of July, 1840, commonly called "the sub-treasury law," has been carried into effect.

Ordered, That the said report do lie on the table.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Winthrop reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 8) making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities, and had come to no resolution thereon.

Mr. Wise then, by leave, moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be requested to furnish a statement showing the amount of unexpended appropriations for fortifications for the year 1841, and the time in which such unexpended balance will be expended.

The House, by consent, dispensed with the rule which requires resolutions calling on Departments for information to lie on the table one day, and proceeded to consider the same; and, the question being put, it was agreed to.

Mr. Proffit then moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That, from and after two o'clock, P. M. to-morrow all debate in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union on the House bill (No. 8) making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities, shall cease, and the committee shall proceed to vote on the amendments then pending or that may be offered to said bill, and the same shall then be reported to the House, with such amendments as may have been agreed to by the committee: Provided, That nothing in this resolution shall prevent the committee from reporting the bill to the House at an earlier hour, if it shall think proper.

Mr. Proffit moved the previous question: when

Mr. Gilmer moved that the resolution do lie on the table; which was decided in the negative.

A motion was made by Mr. Cave Johnson, at twenty-five minutes past three o'clock, that the House do adjourn; which was also decided in the negative.

The previous question was then demanded, and was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 77, Nays, ... 71.

The vote adopting the said resolution being thus reconsidered,

The question again recurred that the House do agree to the resolution: hen

Mr. Proffit withdrew the said resolution.

Mr. Hunt gave notice that he will to-morrow ask leave to introduce a ill to revive and continue in force for two years, the act approved March), 1838, entitled "An act supplementary to an act entitled 'An act in ad- ition to the act for the punishment of certain crimes against the United tates, and to repeal the acts therein mentioned, approved 20th of April, 318.'"

A motion was made by Mr. Weller that the House do resolve itself into ie Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union; which was re- ised.

Mr. Roosevelt, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported a bill No. 13) to amend the act entitled "An act to provide for the taking the xth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States," pproved March 3, 1839, and the acts amending the same; which bill was ad the first and second time, and postponed until Tuesday next.

Mr. Dawson, from the Committee on Military Affairs, asked to be dis- harged from the memorial of Samuel Raub; which was agreed to, and ave was given to withdraw the memorial.

Mr. Sergeant, from the Select Committee on Currency, reported a reso- tion in the words following:

Resolved, That the Select Committee on Currency have leave, after this ay, to sit during the session of the House.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Sergeant, and was demanded id put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, viz: Will the House agree to the resolu- on?

And passed in the affirmative.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of War, ntaining the information called for by the House on the 16th instant, as the amount of unexpended appropriations for fortifications for the year 341, and the time in which such unexpended balance will be expended; hich letter was read and committed to the Committee of the Whole House n the state of the Union, to which the bill making appropriations for for- fications is committed.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole on the state f the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the hair, and Mr. Winthrop reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 8) making appropriations for fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities, and had come to no resolution thereon.

Mr. Proffit laid on the table the following, viz:

Resolved, That the rules of this House be so far amended that all amendments offered in Committee of the Whole, or Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, whether said amendments be adopted in committee or not, on any bill which may come before this House during this session, providing for the establishment of a Fiscal Bank, as also any bill imposing duties on imports, shall be voted on in the House by yeas and nays, one-fifth of the members present requiring the same.

Mr. Botts submitted the following resolution:

Resolved, That, at 12 o'clock on Tuesday next, all debate in Committee of the Whole on the bill (No. 8) making appropriations for fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities, shall cease, and the committee shall then proceed to vote on the amendments then pending, or that may be offered to said bill; and the same shall then be reported to the House with such amendments as may have been agreed to by the committee: Provided, That nothing in this resolution shall prevent the committee from reporting the bill to the House at an earlier hour, if it shall think fit.

Mr. Botts moved the previous question, which was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And then, at 3 o'clock and ten minutes, a motion was made by Mr. Turney that the House do adjourn; which was decided in the negative.

The main question was put, viz: Will the House agree to the resolution?

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 99, / Nays, ... 84.

And the House, at 3½ o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, JULY 19, 1841.

This being the day, by the rules, for the presentation of petitions, before the States were commenced to be called,

Mr. Hunt obtained leave to present a petition of citizens of the city of New York, praying that a law to establish a uniform system of bankruptcies may be passed at the present session of Congress; which petition was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

A motion was made to amend that part of the journal of Friday, the 16th instant, which sets forth the proceedings on a request of Mr. Adams for the reading of a resolution then pending before the House, so as to make it read as follows:

"Mr. John Quincy Adams called for the reading of the resolutions, he not having been in his seat when they were read.

"Mr. Turney objected to the reading on the ground that they had already been read.

"The Speaker decided that, as Mr. Adams had not heard the resolutions read, he had a right to call for the reading, and that they must be read.

"From this decision Mr. Turney appealed to the House.

"And the question being put: Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

"It passed in the affirmative.

"The resolutions were then again read."

And, after debate,

A motion was made by Mr. Botts, that the motion to amend the journal do lie on the table.

Villiam W. Irwin, by leave, presented a memorial of citizens of g, in the State of Pennsylvania, praying the establishment of a bank, with branches in the several States, which, in the opinion ıemorialists, is the measure or means best calculated to alleviate which the whole community suffer from the deranged condition ırrency of the country. The memorial was referred to the Com- n Currency.

at 3¼ o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in ıoon.

TUESDAY, JULY 20, 1841.

ssage in writing, heretofore received from the President of the States, was read, and is as follows:

e House of Representatives of the United States:

ct of Congress of the 10th March, 1838, entitled "An act supple- to an act entitled 'An act in addition to the act for the punish- certain crimes against the United States therein mentioned,' ap- 20th April, 1818," expired, by its own limitation, on the 10th of 1840.

bject of this act was to make further provision for preventing mili- editions or enterprizes against the territory or dominions of any r State, or of any colony, district, or people, conterminous with the States, and with whom they are at peace, contrary to the act of , 1818, entitled "An act in addition to the act for the punishment n crimes against the United States, and to repeal the acts therein ed."

The act of Congress of March 10, 1838, appears to have had a very salutary effect, and it is respectfully recommended to Congress that it be now revived, or its provisions be re-enacted.

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, July 19, 1841.

Ordered, That the said message be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Another message, heretofore received from the President of the United States, was read, and is as follows:

To the House of Representatives:

I herewith transmit to the House of Representatives, in reply to their resolution of the 21st ultimo, a report from the Secretary of State, with accompanying papers.*

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, July 16, 1841.

Ordered, That the said message be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Goode, of Ohio, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill (No. 5) entitled "An act authorizing a loan not exceeding the sum of twelve millions of dollars," and found the same truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Winthrop reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 8) making appropriations for fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities; which bill he was directed to report to the House with sundry amendments, which were read; and the question arose that the House do concur with the committee of the Whole House in the said amendments.

Mr. Botts moved the previous question: when

Mr. James W. Williams, of Maryland, submitted the following as a question of order for the decision of the Chair, viz:

That, by the 109th rule of the House, "every bill shall receive three several readings in the House;

That, by the 119th rule, "after report, [from the committee,] the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses, before a question to engross it be taken;"

That, by the 129th rule, the rules of practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual "shall govern the House in all cases in which they are applicable and not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House;"

That, in the Manual, page 154, it is stated that "when through the amendments of the committee, the Speaker PAUSES, and GIVES TIME for amendments to the body of the bill, as he does also if it has been reported without amendments, putting no question but on amendments proposed; and, WHEN THROUGH THE WHOLE, he puts the question whether the bill shall be read a third time;"

That, according to the Manual, page 156, "the Speaker reads it by paragraphs, PAUSING BETWEEN EACH, but putting no question but on amendments proposed; and, when THROUGH THE WHOLE, he puts the question, whether it shall be engrossed and read a third time;"

And that this rule of practice, as laid down in the Manual, is not inconsistent with the rules and standing orders of the House, and therefore cannot be dispensed with or suspended, unless by a vote of two-thirds of the member present.

The Chair decided the question of order against the position assumed by Mr. Williams: whereupon Mr. Williams appealed to the House.

And the question was put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

And passed in the affirmative.

The previous question, moved by Mr. Botts, was then demanded by a majority of the members present, and was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put,

And passed in the affirmative.

And the main question was put,

First, on the amendment to strike out the following item in the bill:

"For fort Delaware, Delaware river, provided the title to the Pea-patch, shall be decided to be in the United States, including $22,770 carried to the surplus fund January 1, 1841, $50,000."

And so the bill passed.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

And then, at 2½ o'clock, P. M., the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 21, 1841.

Mr. Chapman presented a petition of inhabitants of Morgan county, in the State of Alabama, praying for the passage of a general bankrupt law.

Mr. Burke presented a like petition from inhabitants of Concord, in the State of New Hampshire.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Committees were called on for reports: when

Mr. Fillmore, from the Committee of Ways and Means, reported the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested, if not incompatible with the public interest, to lay before this House any communication from the French Minister to the Secretary of the Treasury, relating to our commerce and navigation with France under existing treaties.

The resolution was read and agreed to by the House.

On motion of Mr. Fillmore,

Ordered, That the Committee of Ways and Means be discharged from so much of the President's message and accompanying documents as relates to the Potomac bridge, and that the same be referred to the Committee for the District of Columbia.

On motion of Mr. Fillmore,

Ordered, That the Committee of Ways and Means be discharged from the further consideration of so much of the President's message and accompanying documents as relates to the Post Office Department, and that the same, together with a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, enclosing a statement from the Auditor of the Post Office, in reference to temporary clerks, be referred to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads, and be printed.

Mr. Winthrop, from the Committee on Commerce, which was instructed "to inquire into the expediency of providing, either by a select committee of Congress sitting in the recess, or by a commission to be appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, for taking evidence at the principal ports of entry and elsewhere, as to the operation of the existing system and rates of duties on imports upon the manufacturing, commercial, and agricultural interests of the country," made a report thereon in writing, accompanied by the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That a committee of nine members, not more than one of whom shall be from any one State, be appointed by the Chair, to sit during the recess, for the purpose of taking evidence at the principal ports of entry and elsewhere, as to the operation of the existing system and rates of duties on imports upon the manufacturing, agricultural, and commercial interests of the country; and of procuring, generally, such information as may be useful to Congress in any revision of the revenue laws which may be attempted at the next session.

The House proceeded to the consideration of said resolution; and, after debate, the hour alloted for reports and resolutions elapsed, and the House proceeded to the consideration of the business on the Speaker's table, and the orders of the day.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their secretary.

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed a bill (No. 7) entitled "An act to amend the act entitled 'An act to provide for taking the sixth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States', approved March 3, 1839, and the acts amending the same;" in which bill I am directed to ask the concurrence of this House. And then he withdrew.

Mr. Sergeant then, by leave, from the Select Committee on the Currency, to which the subject had been referred, reported a bill (No. 14) to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Sergeant, by leave, from the Select Committee on the Currency, to which was referred the bill from the Senate (No. 1) entitled "An act to repeal the act entitled 'An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money," reported the same with amendments.

Ordered, That the said bill be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Underwood, by leave, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred the memorials of the several banks of the District of Columbia, made a report thereon, accompanied by a bill (No. 15) to continue the corporate existence of the banks in the District of Columbia, upon certain conditions; which bill was read a first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Barnard, by leave, from the Committee on the Judiciary, to which was referred the petitions and memorials upon the subject of a uniform system of bankruptcy, made a report thereon, accompanied by a bill (No. 16) to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

A motion was made by Mr. Briggs that 5,000 copies extra of said report be printed; which motion was laid over one day under the rule.

Mr. Barnard, by leave, from the Committee on the Judiciary, and by direction of the committee, also reported the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That it is inexpedient for the House to take up the bankrupt bill, reported from the Committee on the Judiciary, for consideration, at the present session of Congress.

A motion was made by Mr. Milton Brown that the said resolution do lie on the table.

The question, that the House do reconsider the said vote, recurred;

And, after debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. Proffit.

And then, at 3 o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

SATURDAY, July 24, 1841.

Sundry petitions praying the enactment of a general system of bankruptcy were, by leave, presented, viz:

By Mr. Hunt: A petition of inhabitants of Greenbush, in the State of New York;

By Mr. Bowne: A petition of citizens of the city of New York;

By Mr. Irwin: A petition of citizens of Pittsburg and its vicinity, in the State of Pennsylvania;

By Mr. Giddings: A petition of citizens of Painesville, in the State of Ohio; which petitions were committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union, to which is committed the bill (No. 16) to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States.

Two other petitions were presented, on leave, to wit:

By Mr. Pope: A petition of sundry citizens of Bullitt county, in the State of Kentucky, remonstrating against the passage of a general bankrupt law.

Ordered, That the said petition be laid upon the table.

By Mr. Payne: A petition of inhabitants of Sandwich, in the State of Massachusetts, remonstrating against the establishment of a national bank as a fiscal agent of the Government.

Ordered, That the said petition be referred to the Select Committee on the Currency.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution reported from the Committee on Commerce, on the 21st instant, for the appointment of a committee to take evidence during the recess of Congress, at the principal ports of entry and elsewhere, as to the operation of the existing system of duties on imports.

The question recurred that the House do reconsider the vote of yesterday agreeing to said resolution.

A call of the House was moved by Mr. Lewis Williams, of North Carolina.

And on the question, Shall there be a call?

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, ... 82, / Nays, ... 93.

The resolution being thus reconsidered,

The question recurred, Will the House agree thereto?

When it was,

On motion of Mr. John P. Kennedy, of Maryland,

Ordered, That the said resolution do lie on the table.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the report of the Committee on Naval Affairs, of the 7th instant, upon the subject of the home squadron; and the question was stated, that the House do agree to the resolution submitted by the committee in the said report, to wit:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy is hereby directed to inquire into the expediency of aiding individuals or companies in the establishment of lines of armed steamers between some of our principal Northern and Southern ports; to advertise for proposals for the establishment of such lines as he may deem most important and practicable; and report to this House at the next session of Congress.

A motion was made by Mr. Cave Johnson that the resolution do lie on the table; which motion was disagreed to.

A motion was made by Mr. William W. Irwin to amend the resolution by inserting therein after the words "foreign ports," the words "and on the rivers Mississippi, Missouri, and Ohio," and at the end of the resolution to add the following additional resolutions:

2. Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, directed to inquire and report to the next session of Congress as to the expediency of purchasing and establishing a site for a ship yard on the Ohio or Mississippi rivers, to serve as a depot for naval stores, and to give the means for repairs.

3. Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be also directed to inquire and report as to the expediency of establishing depots for coal to be used in the naval service at Mobile, Pensacola, Key West, and such other points as may be deemed suitable.

And, after debate, the hour allotted for reports elapsed, and the subject was laid over until Monday next.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Cushing reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 12) relating to duties and drawbacks, and had come to no resolution thereon.

The bill from the Senate (No. 7) entitled "An act to amend the act, entitled 'An act to provide for taking the sixth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States,' approved March 3, 1839, and the acts amending the same," was read the first and second time, and referred to a select committee; and Mr. James W. Williams, Mr. Underwood, Mr. Randall of Maryland, Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Moore, Mr. Chapman, and Mr. Smith, were appointed the committee.

And, at three-quarters past twelve o'clock, P. M., the House adjourned until Monday next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, July 26, 1841.

The Speaker presented depositions in relation to the contested election of Linn Banks, of Virginia; which were referred to the Committee of Elections.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed a bill (No 3) entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States," in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of this House. And then he withdrew.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Cushing reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 12) relating to duties and drawbacks, and had come to no resolution thereon.

And the House, at three o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow, ten o'clock in the forenoon.

TUESDAY, JULY 27, 1841.

A motion was made by Mr. Briggs that the House do resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; upon which motion a quorum did not vote.

A call of the House was moved; which was refused.

Mr. Briggs withdrew the motion that the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union: when

The motion was renewed by Mr. Weller.

And the question was put, Will the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union?

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 84, Nays, ... 81.

The House then resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Cushing reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 12) relating to duties and drawbacks, and had come to no resolution thereon.

A message, in writing, was received from the President of the United States by Mr. Robert Tyler, his private secretary, which was read, and is as follows:

To the House of Representatives:

I transmit herewith to Congress a communication from the Secretary of State, on the subject of appropriations required for the outfits and salaries of diplomatic agents of the United States.

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, July 27, 1841.

Ordered, That said message be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Sundry petitions were presented, on leave, viz:

By Mr. Stanly: A petition of citizens, mechanics, and merchants of the city of Washington, praying that the charters of the several banks within the District of Columbia may be renewed upon the terms and conditions contained within those charters; which petition was ordered to lie on the table.

By Mr. Cave Johnson: A petition of inhabitants of the county of Des Moines, in the Territory of Iowa, praying the establishment of a uniform system of bankruptcy; which petition was committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, to which is committed the bill upon that subject.

By Mr. Winthrop: A petition for the same purpose from inhabitants of the town of Lynn, in the State of Massachusetts.

By Mr. Gates: A remonstrance from inhabitants of the city of New York against the establishment of a system of bankruptcy.

Which petition and remonstrance were also committed to a Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. John Quincy Adams, by general consent, offered to present petitions and memorials, which he stated came within the description of those excluded by the rule; and, having briefly stated the contents of one of them,

Mr. Landaff W. Andrews objected to any further presentation of said petitions at this time.

The Speaker decided that, as the House had, by general consent, permitted the petitions to be offered, it was now too late for a single member to interpose an objection.

From this decision Mr. Andrews appealed.

And the question was put, that the decision of the Chair do stand as the udgment of the House: upon which question a quorum did not vote.

And then, at quarter past three o'clock, the House adjourned until to-norrow, ten o'clock in the forenoon.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1841.

The question recurred on the appeal pending yesterday; and, being put, he Speaker's decision was affirmed by the House.

Mr. John Quincy Adams then went through with the brief statement of he petitions which he offered to present; the question of reception on ach of which was raised, and laid on the table under the rule.

And so the petitions were not received.

Mr. John Quincy Adams presented a paper signed by Edward Davis nd James Charles, who state that they are citizens of the city of Wash-ngton, containing what they call a plan of a national bank, and condemn-ng the projects now before Congress for that purpose as aristocratic and inconstitutional; which paper was referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Allen presented a petition of inhabitants of Bangor and its vicinity, n the state of Maine; also, a petition of inhabitants of Sebec, in the same state, praying the establishment of a uniform system of bankruptcy.

Mr. Pope presented a similar petition from inhabitants of the county of Marion, in the state of Kentucky.

Ordered, That said petitions be referred to the Committee of the Whole n the state of the Union.

Mr. Fillmore moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That on Friday next at 12 o'clock meridian, all debate in Committee of the Whole on the bill (No. 12) relating to duties and drawbacks, hall cease; and the committee shall then proceed to vote on the amendments then pending, or that may be offered to said bill; and the same shall hen be reported to the House with such amendments as may have been dopted by the committee: Provided, That nothing in this resolution contained shall prevent the committee from reporting the bill to the House t an earlier hour, if it shall think proper.

A call was moved by Mr. Pickens; which was refused by the House.

Mr. McKay moved to amend the resolution by striking out Friday and nserting Saturday.

Mr. Fillmore moved the previous question; which was demanded, and vas put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was then put, first, on the amendment to strike out Friday and to insert Saturday;

And was decided in the negative, { Yeas, ... 91, Nays, ... 101.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed a bill (No. 8) entiled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to carry into effect a convention between the United States and the Mexican Republic,'" in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of this House. And then he withdrew.

Mr. Hopkins gave notice of the following amendment to the rules, which he intends hereafter to propose, viz:

Rule 119. Strike out the following words: "but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House," and, in lieu thereof, insert the following: "but it shall be in order for one-fifth of the members present to order the yeas and nays on all amendments, which, together with the amendments, shall be duly noted and entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, marked 'proceedings in Committee of the Whole,' which shall be reported with the bill to the House, and entered upon the journal thereof."

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Cushing reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 12) concerning duties and drawbacks, and had come to no resolution thereon.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed a bill (No. 5) entitled "An act to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States," in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of this House. And then he withdrew.

The said bill from the Senate (No. 5) was then read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

And, at 3½ o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

THURSDAY, July 29, 1841.

Committees were called for reports: when

Mr. Fillmore, from the Committee of Ways and Means, to which was referred the President's message of the 27th instant, reported a bill (No. 17) making appropriations for outfits and salaries of diplomatic agents; which was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Levy, delegate from Florida, by unanimous consent, introduced a bill (No. 18) making further provision for the suppression of Indian hostilities in Florida; which was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Levy, by unanimous consent, also introduced a bill (No. 19) to provide for the relief and protection of the people of the United States against the Indian banditti now infesting the Territory of Florida and State of Georgia; which bill was read the first and second time, and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Levy, on leave, introduced the following resolution; which was read, and laid over under the rule, viz:

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be required to furnish to this House the following information, to wit:

1. What sums have been expended in the execution of the treaty of Payne's Landing, made on the 9th day of May, 1832, with the Seminole nation of Indians, specifying the several items?

2. Whether any, and what, annuities are paid to the said Seminole Indians?

3. Whether the whole tract of country designated in the supplemental treaty signed at Fort Gibson, on the 28th day of March, 1833, is now in the possession of said Seminole nation of Indians?

4. What number of Indians and negroes have been emigrated from Florida since the date of said treaty?

5. What is the aggregate amount of expenditure which has been occasioned by the hostilities of said Seminole Indians?

6. How many persons in the military service of the United States have been killed or wounded in the course of said hostilities, (including militia and regular,) and distinguishing the grades of the killed and wounded?

7. What number of pensions have been allowed in consequence of wounds received in the Florida service, or to the widows of persons killed in said service?

8. What proportion of the regular army of the United States is now on duty in Florida, and under orders for that service?

Mr. Williams, of Maryland, from the select committee to which was referred the bill from the Senate (No. 7) entitled "An act to amend the act entitled 'An act to provide for taking the sixth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States," approved March 3, 1839, and the acts amending the same," reported the same with an amendment; which was agreed to.

Ordered, That the said bill be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Cushing reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 12) concerning duties and drawbacks, and finding itself without a quorum, had risen, and directed him to report that fact to the House.

And then, at four o'clock, a motion was made by Mr. John Quincy Adams that the House do adjourn.

And the question being put,

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, ... 16,

A sufficient number of members being reported in attendance at the door to form a quorum,

Further proceedings in the call were then dispensed with, and the doors were opened.

And, a quorum being present,

The House again resumed its session in Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Cushing reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the aforesaid bill (No. 12) concerning duties and drawbacks, and had come to no resolution thereon.

A motion was made by Mr. William W. Irwin that the House do reconsider the vote of yesterday adopting the resolution directing that all debate shall cease in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, on Friday, the 30th instant, at twelve o'clock, meridian, on the bill (No. 12) relating to duties and drawbacks.

And, pending the motion to reconsider,

The House, at three-quarters past five o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

FRIDAY, JULY 30, 1841.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the motion made by Mr. William W. Irwin, yesterday, to reconsider the vote adopting the resolution directing that all debate should cease in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, on Friday, (this day,) at twelve o'clock, meridian, on the bill (No. 12) relating to duties and drawbacks: when

Mr. Irwin withdrew the said motion.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Cushing reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 12) relating to duties and drawbacks; which bill he was directed to report to the House with amendments.

The amendments were read, and the question was stated that the House do concur therein: when

The previous question was moved by Mr. Stanly.

A motion was made by Mr. Cave Johnson that the bill do lie on the table.

The amendments being all acted upon,

The main question was put, thirdly, that the bill be engrossed and read a third time.

And passed in the affirmative.

It was then

Ordered, That the said bill receive its third reading to-morrow.

And, at half-past three o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

SATURDAY, July 31, 1841.

Committees were called for reports; when

Mr. Morrow, from the Committee on the Public Lands, reported a bill (No. 20) further to extend the time for issuing military land warrants to officers and soldiers of the revolutionary army; which was read the first and second time, and ordered to be engrossed and read a third time to-day.

Mr. Morrow, from the Committee on the Public Lands, reported a bill (No. 21) further to extend the time for locating Virginia military land warrants, and returning surveys thereon to the General Land Office; which bill was read the first and second time; when

A motion was made by Mr. Goggin that the said bill be recommitted to the Committee on the Public Lands, with instructions to amend the same so as to include an appropriation of five hundred thousand acres of land for the purpose of satisfying the outstanding Virginia military land warrants.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Mason, of Ohio, and was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, viz: That the bill be engrossed and read a third time;

And passed in the affirmative.

The third reading of the said bill was then ordered for Monday next.

Mr. Underwood, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, reported a bill (No. 22) to provide for repairing the Potomac bridge; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Underwood, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, reported a bill (No. 23) for repaving and repairing a portion of Pennsylvania avenue; which was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Dawson, of Georgia, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill (No. 24) making appropriations to purchase sites and to make certain surveys, and for other purposes; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. William W. Irwin gave notice of a motion for leave to introduce a bill to provide the means of payment for seven sites for marine hospitals in the Western States, purchased in pursuance of the act of 3d of March, 1837.

Mr. Hopkins gave notice of a motion for leave to introduce a bill to equalize the compensation of the officers and employees of the Senate and House of Representatives.

An engrossed bill (No. 20) entitled "An act further to extend the time for issuing military land warrants to officers and soldiers of the revolutionary army," was read the third time and passed.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution reported from the Committee on Naval Affairs, in relation to the granting aid to companies or individuals in the employment of armed steamers.

The question recurred on the amendment proposed by Mr. William W. Irwin on the 24th instant: when

The resolution was, by consent, modified by striking out the words "to advertise for proposals," and inserting the words "to ascertain the probable expense of."

And thereupon,

Mr. Irwin modified his amendment to read as follows: After the word "ports," insert "and on the principal rivers, bays, and lakes," and add the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, directed to inquire and report to the next session of Congress as to the expediency of purchasing a site and establishing a ship yard for building ships and steam vessels on the Ohio or Mississippi rivers, to serve as a depot for naval stores, and to give the means for repairs.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be also instructed to inquire and report as to the expediency of establishing depots for coal to be used in the naval service at Mobile, Pensacola, Key West, and such other points as may be deemed suitable.

The previous question was moved by Mr. King, and was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, first, on the amendment of Mr. Irwin;

And passed in the affirmative.

Secondly, on the resolution as amended;

And passed in the affirmative.

And so it was

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy is hereby directed to inquire into the expediency of aiding individuals or companies in the establishment of lines of armed steamers between some of our principal Northern and Southern ports, and to foreign ports, and on the principal rivers, bays, and lakes; and to ascertain the probable expense of the establishment of such lines as he may deem most important and practicable; and report to this House at the next session of Congress.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be, and he is hereby, directed to inquire and report to the next session of Congress as to the expediency of purchasing a site, and establishing a ship yard for building ships and steam vessels on the Ohio or Mississippi rivers, to serve as a depot for naval stores, and to give the means for repairs.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be also instructed to inquire and report as to the expediency of establishing depots for coal to be used in the naval service at Mobile, Pensacola, Key West, and such other points as may be deemed suitable.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the motion of Mr. Briggs, heretofore made, to print 5,000 copies extra of the report of the Committee on the Judiciary on the subject of a uniform system of bankruptcy.

And so the bill stands passed.

The title of the said bill was then read, and several motions were made to amend it; which motions were debated and withdrawn before a question was put.

The previous question was moved and demanded, and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And the main question was put, viz: Shall the title be "An act relating to duties and drawbacks?"

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

And the House, at two o'clock, adjourned until Monday, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, August 2, 1841.

Mr. Goode, of Ohio, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill (No. 10) entitled "An act making appropriations for the pay, subsistence, &c. of a home squadron," and found the same to be truly enrolled; when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

Mr. Goode subsequently reported that the committee had, this day, presented the said bill to the President of the United States.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed the bill (No. 7) entitled "An act making further provision for the maintenance of pauper lunatics of the District of Columbia." The Senate have also passed a joint resolution (No. 2) "for the distribution of seven hundred copies of the Digest of Patents;" in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of this House. And then he withdrew.

Mr. Oliver gave notice of an amendment to the rules, so as to take the yeas and nays upon all amendments offered in Committee of the Whole on the bill for the establishment of a Fiscal Bank of the United States.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. John C. Clark reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill from the Senate (No. 5) entitled "An act to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States," and had come to no resolution thereon.

Mr. Morgan moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That, at twelve o'clock, meridian, on Friday next, the 6th instant, all debate in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union on the bill from the Senate (No. 5) to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States, shall cease, and the committee shall proceed to vote on all amendments that may at that time be pending, and that may be offered, and shall then report said bill to the House, with such amendments as have been agreed to by the committee: Provided, That nothing in this resolution shall preclude the committee from reporting the bill at any time prior to the time above specified.

And, pending the question on this resolution,

The House, at quarter-past four o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

TUESDAY, August 3, 1841.

Memorials and petitions against the passage of an act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy were presented as follows:

By Mr. Ferris: Of merchants, mechanics, and manufacturers, of the city of New York.

By Mr. A. Randall: Of Brown & Brothers, and other citizens of the city of New York.

By Mr. Gordon: Of citizens of Albany, in the State of New York.

By Mr. Toland: Of citizens of the city of Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania.

By Mr. Holmes: Of citizens of the city of Charleston, in the State of South Carolina.

By Mr. Boyd: Of citizens of the State of Kentucky.

By Mr. Pope: Of citizens of New Haven, in the State of Kentucky.

By Mr. Wallace: Of citizens of the State of Indiana.

By Mr. Howard: Of inhabitants of the State of Michigan.

Ordered, That the said petitions and memorials be referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, to which the bankrupt bill is committed.

Petitions and other papers in favor of the establishment of a national bank were presented, viz:

By Mr. Barnard: Proceedings and resolutions of a meeting of citizens of New York.

By Mr. Fillmore: Of citizens of Buffalo, in the State of New York.

By Mr. Howard: Of three hundred and twenty-two citizens of Detroit, in the State of Michigan;

Also, two others of sundry citizens of the State of Michigan.

Petitions and other papers in opposition to the incorporation of a national bank, and the repeal of the independent or sub-treasury, were presented, viz:

By Mr. Hubard: Proceedings and resolutions of a public meeting of citizens of the county of Buckingham, in the State of Virginia;

Also, proceedings and resolutions of a public meeting of citizens of the county of Cumberland, in the State of Virginia.

By Mr. Van Buren: A remonstrance of citizens of the county of Belmont, in the State of Ohio.

By Mr. Cowen: A remonstrance of sundry citizens of Belmont county, in the State of Ohio.

Ordered, That the said several memorials, petitions, and papers, be referred to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union.

Mr. Sergeant presented a memorial of Prosper Martin, of the county of Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, praying that an appropriation of twenty-five thousand dollars may be made to enable him to construct a "locomotive battery," for the purpose of testing its utility; which was referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

Sundry petitions and resolutions were presented, and ordered to lie on the table, viz:

By Mr. Cranston: Of citizens of the State of Rhode Island, praying that Congress will protect the manufacturers of silk hats.

By Mr. Barnard: Of the Chamber of Commerce of the city of New York, suggesting that "specific duties and drawbacks should be substituted for ad valorem duties, as more uniform and just," &c.;

Also, of sundry citizens of Albany, in the State of New York, praying for a duty on manufactured articles of gold and silver.

By Mr. Kennedy, of Maryland: Of sundry manufacturers of hats, in opposition to a duty on furs.

By Mr. Cranston: Resolutions of the General Assembly of the State of Rhode Island, viz:

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.

IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY, JUNE SESSION, A. D. 1841.

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State be requested to use their best efforts to procure such amendments to the constitution of the United States as will limit the eligibility of the President of the United States to one term.

Resolved, That the encouragement and protection of domestic industry do not require excessive duties, but only that the revenue necessary to defray the expenses of Government be raised on such foreign articles as come in competition with similar articles grown or produced in our own country.

Resolved, That discriminating duties for the purpose of revenue will operate beneficially on the interests of all the States, by increasing the home consumption of their great staples, and by diminishing their indebtedness abroad, as well as by giving employment to labor at home; and that all the States ought to unite in adopting the principle of raising the revenue necessary to defray the expenses of Government from duties levied on such articles of foreign growth or manufacture as will best sustain the great interests and occupations of the people.

Resolved, That his Excellency the Governor be requested to transmit one copy of these resolutions to the Executive of each of the United States, and a like copy to each of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State.

True copy of record. Witness: HENRY BOWEN, Secretary of State.

Mr. Alexander Randall presented resolutions of the Legislature of the State of Maryland, passed at their late session, expressive of the opinion of the said Legislature, viz:

"That the most effectual remedy for the evils the tobacco interest labors under, from the high duties imposed by Great Britain, and the monopolies of France and other nations of Europe, is to be found in the action of Congress by countervailing duties; and that the said Legislature relies on the wisdom of Congress in discriminating between those Governments which have, and those which have not, manifested a disposition to abandon or modify their present oppressive duties and restrictions imposed on tobacco from the United States."

Mr. Randall presented an act of the General Assembly of Maryland entitled "An act for the completion of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal to Cumberland;" which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Memorials and petitions praying Congress to enact a uniform system of bankruptcy were presented, viz:

By Mr. Barnard: Of inhabitants of Albany, in the State of New York;

Also, of citizens of the city of New York.

By Mr. R. D. Davis: Of citizens of the city of New York;

Also, of citizens of the city of Brooklyn, in the State of New York.

By Mr. Clinton: Of citizens of Orange county, in the State of New York.

By Mr. Chittenden: Of citizens of Oswego county, in the State of New York;

Also, of Foxcroft and Dover, in the State of Maine.

By Mr. Wood: Of citizens of the State of New York.

By Mr. Fillmore: Of citizens of Harpersfield, Delaware county, in the State of New York.

By Mr. Gordon: Of citizens of Williamsburg, in the State of New York.

By Mr. Childs: Of citizens of Rochester, in the State of New York.

By Mr. Hunt: Of citizens of the city of New York.

By Mr. Westbrook: Of citizens of the State of Pennsylvania.

By Mr. Ingersoll: Of citizens of the city of Philadelphia;

Also, of citizens of the city and county of Philadelphia.

By Mr. Sergeant: Of citizens of the city of Philadelphia.

By Mr. Doig: Of citizens of the city of New York.

By Mr. Trumbull: Of citizens of Hartford, in the State of Connecticut.

By Mr. Maxwell: Of citizens of Newark, in the State of New Jersey.

By Mr. Stratton: Of citizens of Newark, in the State of New Jersey.

By Mr. Bronson: Of citizens of Fairfield, in the State of Connecticut.

By Mr. Allen: Of citizens of Bangor, in the State of Maine.

By Mr. John C. Edwards: Of citizens of the town of Jefferson, in the State of Missouri.

By Mr. Wallace: Of citizens of Covington, in the State of Indiana.

By Mr. Cross: Of citizens of the State of Arkansas.

By Mr. P. G. Goode: Of citizens of Lucas county, in the State of Ohio.

By Mr. Summers: Of citizens of the city of New York.

Ordered, That the said memorials and petitions be referred to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, to which the bill upon the subject of bankruptcy is committed.

Mr. Barnard presented the proceedings of a public meeting of citizens of the city of Albany, in the State of New York, in favor of a uniform system of bankruptcy; which were also referred to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union.

Mr. Cary submitted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Postmaster General be directed to communicate to this House all the information in his possession relative to the detention of the great southern mail, going north, in the city of Washington and in the city of Baltimore, thirteen hours and a half, and if there is no remedy in his power for this national inconvenience.

The rule which requires resolutions calling for information from Departments to lie over one day was dispensed with, and the resolution was considered and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. I. D. Jones, of Maryland,

Resolved, That the Committee on Naval Affairs be instructed to inquire into the expediency of making immediate provision for the defence of the Chesapeake bay by steam batteries.

Mr. P. G. Goode, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill (No. 7) entitled "An act making further provision for the maintenance of pauper lunatics in the District of Columbia," and found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

The joint resolution of the Senate (No. 2) "for the distribution of seven hundred copies of the Digest of Patents," was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The following proposition of amendment to the rules, of which notice was given yesterday, was, by general consent, taken up for consideration, viz:

Resolved, That the rules of this House be so far amended that all amendments offered in Committee of the Whole, whether adopted in committee or not, upon the bill for the establishment of a fiscal bank shall be voted on in the House by yeas and nays, one-fifth of the members present requesting the same.

A motion was made by Mr. Fillmore that the said resolution do lie on the table.

sage was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. ler, jr., his private secretary, notifying that the President did, on f August, instant, approve and sign an enrolled bill entitled "An ng further provision for the maintenance of pauper lunatics in the f Columbia."

llowing message was also received from the President of the Uni-s, and was read:

AUGUST 3, 1841.

I herewith transmit a communication received from the Postmaster to which I would invite the attention of Congress.*

JOHN TYLER.

e Hon. JOHN WHITE, peaker of the House of Representatives.

ed, That said message be referred to the Committee of Ways and ns.

llowing message from the President of the United States, hereto-ived, was read, viz:

House of Representatives of the United States:

e 18th of February, 1832, the House of Representatives adopted a n in the following words: "Resolved, That the President of the States be authorized to employ Horatio Greenough, of Massachu-execute in marble a full length pedestrian statue of Washington, ced in the centre of the rotundo of the Capitol; the head to be a Houdon's Washington, and the accessories to be left to the judg-the artist."

e 23d of the same month, the Secretary of State, by direction of the

* for an appropriation to complete the building designed for the Post Office Department.

President, addressed to Mr. Greenough a letter of instructions for carrying into effect the resolution of the House.

On the 14th of July, 1832, an appropriation ofthe sum of five thousand dollars was made "to enable the President of the United States to contrac with a skilful artist to execute in marble a pedestrian statue of Georg Washington, to be placed in the centre of the rotundo of the Capitol;" and several appropriations were made at the succeeding sessions in furtherance of the same object.

Mr. Greenough, having been employed upon the work for several years at Florence, completed it some months ago.

By a resolution of Congress, of the 27th of May, 1840, it was directed "that the Secretary of the Navy be authorized and instructed to take measures for the importation and erection of the statue of Washington by Greenough." In pursuance of this authority, the Navy Department held a correspondence with Commodore Hull, commanding on the Mediterranean station, who entered into an agreement with the owners or master of the ship "Sea," for the transportation of the statue to the United States. This ship, with the statue on board, arrived in this city on the 31st ultimo, and now lies at the navy yard.

As appropriations have become necessary for the payment of the freight and other expenses, I communicate to Congress such papers as may enable it to judge of the amount required.

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, August 2, 1841.

Ordered, That said message be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

The following message from the President of the United States, heretofore received, was read, viz:

To the House of Representatives:

I herewith transmit a report from the Secretary of the Treasury, to whom I referred the resolution of the House calling for a communication addressed to him by the French Minister.

JOHN TYLER.

AUGUST 3, 1841.

Ordered, That the said message be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

And then, at nine o'clock, P. M., the House adjourned until to-morrow at ten o'clock in/the forenoon.

THURSDAY, August 5, 1841.

Mr. John Quincy Adams called the attention of the House to a communication from the Minister of France to the Secretary of the Treasury, which accompanied the message of the President of the United States of yesterday, and observed that he considered the fact of a foreign functionary addressing an official communication to any officer of this Government, except the head of the Department of State, a breach of official decorum; and the further fact of the remonstrance of such functionary against the passage of any measure pending before this House, as a breach of the privileges of the House. He therefore moved, as a matter of privilege, the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to inform this House by what authority the Minister from France addressed a communication to the Secretary of the Treasury, remonstrating against the passage of a bill now pending before Congress.

Mr. Turney objected to the reception of the resolution as a question of privilege, contending that the privileges of this House were not involved in the subject-matter of the correspondence referred to in the resolution.

The Speaker decided against the objection taken by Mr. Turney, and that the rights, privileges, and dignity of this House were involved in the subject-matter touched upon in the resolution.

From this decision Mr. Turney appealed;

And, after debate,

A motion was made by Mr. Botts that the resolution and appeal do lie on the table.

And the question being put on this motion,

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 99, / Nays, ... 79.

And the House adjourned, accordingly, until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

FRIDAY, August 6, 1841.

Mr. Goode, of Ohio, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill (No. 3) entitled "An act to continue in force for ten years an act entitled "An act to incorporate the Mechanic Relief Society of Alexandria," and found the same truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

Mr. Keim, on leave, presented a petition of citizens of Berks county, in the State of Pennsylvania, praying the establishment of a uniform system of bankruptcy.

Mr. John G. Floyd, on leave, presented the proceedings of a meeting in Oswego, in the State of New York, in favor of the establishment of a uniform system of bankruptcy.

Ordered, That the said petition and proceedings be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

A message, in writing, was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. John Tyler, jr., his private secretary, which he delivered in at the Speaker's table.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. John C. Clark reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill from the Senate (No. 5.) entitled "An act to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States;" which bill he was directed to report to the House without amendment.

The question was then stated from the Chair, Shall the bill be read a third time?

The previous question was moved by Mr. Arnold, and was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, Shall the title of the bill be as herein set forth?

And passed in the affirmative.

A motion was then made by Mr. Boardman, that the House do reconsider the vote on the passage of the said bill; on which the previous question was demanded, put, and carried in the affirmative.

And the main question was put, That the House do reconsider as aforesaid.

And passed in the negative.

And so the bill stands passed.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate of the passage of the said bill by this House.

And the House, at 2¾ o'clock, P. M., adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

SATURDAY, August 7, 1841.

Mr. Briggs, from the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads, reported a bill (No. 25) making an appropriation for additional clerks in the Auditor's office of the Post Office Department; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Morrow, from the Committee on the Public Lands, reported a bill (No. 26) allowing further time to complete the issuing of warrants for military land bounties to the non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the late war with Great Britain, and making provision for satisfying the same; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Randolph, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the bill (No. 5) entitled "An act to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States" was correctly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

The following message, heretofore received from the President of the United States, was read, viz:

To the House of Representatives:

In compliance with a resolution of the House of Representatives of the 16th July, 1841, I communicate reports from the several Executive Departments, containing the information requested by the resolution.*

JOHN TYLER.

Washington, August 6, 1841.

* Calling for lists of removals from office from 3d March, 1829, to 3d March, 1841, and subsequently.

Ordered, That said message do lie on the table.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Postmaster General, containing the information called for by the House on the 3d instant in relation to certain failures in the mails; which letter was ordered to lie on the table.

The Speaker presented documents touching the contested election of Linn Banks, one of the Representatives from the State of Virginia; which were referred to the Committee of Elections.

Mr. Boardman presented a petition of inhabitants of the city of New York, praying the enactment of a uniform system upon the subject of bankruptcies.

Mr. McKeon presented a like petition from inhabitants of the city of New York.

Mr. McKeon also presented a like petition from members of the profession of the law, in the State of New York.

Mr. McKeon also presented a petition of citizens of the city of New York, praying, if a bankrupt law be passed, that banks and all trading corporations may be made subject to its provisions.

Mr. McKeon presented a remonstrance from citizens of the city of New York, against the passage of any law upon the subject of bankruptcy at the present session.

Mr. McKeon presented a like remonstrance of John S. Campbell, of Brooklyn, in the State of New York.

Ordered, That the said petitions and remonstrances be referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. McKeon also presented a memorial of the Chamber of Commerce of the city of New York, praying that the bill now pending before Congress, in relation to duties and drawbacks, may be postponed until such information be procured as will enable Congress to frame a law that will avert the necessity of an early revision of the tariff of duties on imports.

Mr. McKeon presented a memorial of manufacturers of hats in the city of New York, and of others interested in the manufacture of that article, praying that the raw material, used in the making of hats, may be imported free of duty.

Ordered, That the said memorials do lie on the table.

The amendments of the Senate to the bill (No 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," were read, and referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed the bill (No 6) entitled "An act to provide for the payment of navy pensions," with amendments. And then he withdrew.

The said amendments were taken up, read, and referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

The bill from the Senate (No. 4) entitled "An act to revive and extend the charters of certain banks in the District of Columbia," was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee for the District of Columbia.

Mr. Underwood, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred the memorial of Robert Grant, the inventor of a gas made from the bark of trees, made a report thereon, recommending that the Hall of the House be lighted with the gas of his invention; which report was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. John Quincy Adams presented a memorial of a large number of stone-cutters and other workmen lately employed on the public buildings in the city of Washington, representing their distressed condition, caused by the suspension of the work on said buildings, for the want of an appropriation to go on with the work, and praying that an appropriation may be make for said buildings, that they may recommence their labors and provide the means of support for themselves and families.

Ordered, That said memorial be referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Tillinghast reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill from the Senate (No. 3) entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States," and had come to no resolution thereon.

A motion was made by Mr. Sergeant that the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, to which is committed the bill from the Senate (No. 1) entitled "An act to repeal the act entitled 'An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money," be discharged from the consideration thereof.

The previous question on this motion was moved by Mr. King: when

At twenty minutes after 11 o'clock, A. M., a motion was made by Mr. Weller that the House do adjourn.

And so the Committee of the Whole was discharged, and the bill stood before the House; and

The question came up, that the House do agree to the amendments reported to the said bill by the Select Committee on the Currency on the 21st of July ultimo.

And, after debate,

The House, at 3½ o'clock, adjourned until Monday, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, August 9, 1841.

Mr. John W. Jones presented the proceedings of a meeting of the democratic party, of the county of Fauquier, in the State of Virginia, at the court-house in the said county, on the 26th July last, disapproving the present extra session of Congress; against the incorporation of a national bank, and in favor of a repeal of its charter, should a charter be granted; against a distribution of the proceeds of the sales of the public lands; against an increase of the tariff of duties on imports; and against the creation of a national debt.

Mr. Jones moved that the resolutions do lie on the table, and that they be printed.

The question on the motion being divided, the resolutions were, by vote, laid on the table: when

And so the motion to print was laid on the table.

Sundry petitions were presented, praying the passage of a law to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy, as follows:

By Mr. Warren: Of citizens of Albany, in Baker county, in the State of Georgia.

By Mr. Dawson, of Georgia: Of inhabitants of the city of Augusta, in the State of Georgia;

Also, of inhabitants of the town of Darien, in the State of Georgia;

Also, of inhabitants of the city of New York.

By Mr. Roosevelt: Of sundry inhabitants of the city of New York.

By Mr. Randolph: Of inhabitants of Newark, and of Elizabethtown, in New Jersey.

By Mr. Smith: Of inhabitants of Newark, in the State of New Jersey.

By Mr. Wood: Of inhabitants of the city of New York.

Ordered, That the said petitions be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Tomlinson presented a petition of inhabitants of the county of Clinton, in the State of New York, praying the construction of fortifications on that portion of the northern frontier bordering on Lake Champlain; as also that additional appropriations may be made for the breakwater at Plattsburg on said lake; which petition was referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. Charles Brown presented a remonstrance of citizens of the city of Philadelphia, against the passage of any act upon the subject of bankruptcies which shall have a retrospective operation; which remonstrance was committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. John Quincy Adams moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House be directed to prepare and report to the House, at the commencement of the next session of Congress, a list of the petitions presented to the House during the present session, the reception of which shall have been suspended by the order of the House; specifying the State, Territory, or District, whence each petition came, the name of the first petitioner, the number of signers to each petition, and the prayer of the same respectively.

The Speaker presented documents in relation to the contested election of Linn Banks, one of the representatives from the State of Virginia; which were referred to the Committee of Elections.

In pursuance of notice heretofore given,

Mr. William W. Irwin obtained leave, and introduced a bill (No. 27) to provide the means of payment for seven sites for marine hospitals in the Western States, purchased in pursuance of the act of 3d March, 1837; which bill was read the first and second time, and referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. Ferris moved the following resolution; and, debate arising thereon, it was laid over under the rule, viz:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be directed to inform this House, at the commencement of the next session of Congress, what measures have been taken to carry into effect the act of the 3d of March, 1835, authorizing the construction of a dry dock in the harbor of New York or its adjacent waters.

Mr. Charles Brown moved the following resolution; and, debate arising thereon, it was laid over under the rule, viz:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be requested to furnish to this House, at the commencement of the next session, a statement showing the quantity of foreign coals imported into the United States during the years 1838, '39, and '40, where from, at what port received, and what duty per bushel was charged thereon; also, to inquire into the manner foreign coals are measured at the different ports of the United States, with reference to the imposition of the duties charged thereon, and report to this House whether the same is uniform and according to law; and, if not, what further legislation, if any, in his opinion, is necessary to a more uniform measurement and enforcement by the laws providing for the payment by duties on foreign coals.

Mr. Snyder moved the following resolution; and, debate arising thereon, it was laid over under the rule, viz:

Resolved, That hereafter no appropriation shall be made for any new work, or for the repair of any fort, fortress, armory, building, or improvements of every kind for the use of the United States; the engineer or proper officer, under whose supervision said improvement shall come, shall first make out plans and specifications of said work, with an estimate of the whole expense, one copy to be filed in the Clerk's office, and the other in the Department of State, to which said work appropriately belongs; and said engineer or officer shall advertise the work to be done in three newspapers in each State, for the space of four weeks, one paper to be printed at the capital of each State in which the laws of the United States are published, the other two in the counties nearest the work to be done; all the proposals shall be filed, and the work let to the lowest responsible bidder; all which said accounts shall be settled in the usual way; and the House shall appoint, by ballot, a standing committee of nine members, but one to be taken from a State, whose duty it shall be, when required by Congress, to audit all accounts of public moneys, in accordance with the plan, specification, and allotment of said work.

The estimated quantity surveyed and unsold, and the quantity ceded and not surveyed.

Fourth. The amounts annually paid into the Treasury out of the duties accruing at the ports of New Orleans and Mobile, and in Michigan, and the interest on the payments so made;

Also statements showing in detail, and under each treaty, the cost and quantity of the lands "ceded to the United States, exclusive of the lands reserved or subsequently granted to Indians," and of those "reserved for Indians, or granted in lieu of the lands ceded by them."

Mr. Underwood, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred the memorial of the Corporation of Georgetown, reported a bill (No. 28) to authorize the recovery of fines and forfeitures incurred under the charter, laws, and ordinances of Georgetown, before justices of the peace; which bill was read the first and second time, and was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time to-day.

The said bill, being brought in engrossed, was read a third time and passed.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

Mr. Dawson, of Georgia, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to which was referred the bill (No. 18) making further provision for the suppression of Indian hostilities in Florida, reported the said bill without amendment, with a recommendation that the same do pass.

Ordered, That said bill be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Underwood, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred the bill from the Senate (No. 4) entitled "An act to revive and extend the charters of certain banks in the District of Columbia," reported the same with an amendment.

Ordered, That said bill be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Richard W. Thompson, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which was referred a memorial of inhabitants of the city of Washington, praying Congress to take into consideration the present condition of Pennsylvania avenue, and to provide for repairing the same in a substantial and permanent manner, made a detailed report, which is intended to illustrate the bill (No. 23) reported by that committee on the 31st July, for repaving and repairing a portion of said avenue.

Mr. Richard W. Thompson, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, to which were referred petitions of sundry citizens of said District, praying that an additional appropriation may be made for the repair of the Potomac bridge, made a detailed report, which is intended to illustrate the bill (No. 22) to provide for the repair of the said bridge.

Mr. Cushing, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, to which was referred the bill from the Senate (No. 8) entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to carry into effect a convention between the United States and the Mexican Government,'" reported the same, with a recommendation that the enacting words be stricken out, and the bill be thereby rejected.

The bill remained upon the Speaker's table, to be taken up in its order.

Mr. Gilmer, from Select Committee on Retrenchment, reported the following resolution, adopted by that committee:

Resolved, That the chairman of the committee ask leave of the House to sit during the recess of Congress, and that the committee have power to send for persons and papers; and to report at the next session by bill or otherwise.

The resolution was read, and laid over under the rule.

Mr. Roosevelt presented a remonstrance and resolutions of a meeting of citizens convened in the Park, in the city of New York, against the assumption by Congress of the power to grant charters of incorporation, either for a national bank or any other object; also, against the creation of a national debt in time of peace; also, against the distribution of the proceeds of the public lands among the several States; and insisting on the right, and pledging their unceasing exertions to effect the repeal of any act (should one be passed) for the establishment of a national bank; which remonstrance and resolutions were laid on the table.

Mr. Underwood presented a petition of inhabitants of Hart county, in the State of Kentucky, protesting againt the passage of any act upon the subject of bankruptcy; which petitition was committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill from the Senate (No. 1) entitled "An act to repeal 'an act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money."

The question recurred, and was again stated, that the House do agree to the amendments reported by the Select Committee on the Currency.

And, after further debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. Giddings.

And then, at 4½ o'clock, a motion was made by Mr. Halsted, that the House do adjourn;

Which was decided in the negative, { Yeas, ... 62, / Nays, ... 95.

Further proceedings in the call were dispensed with;

And, before the House divided on the motion for the previous question,

Mr. James W. Williams submitted, in writing, the following as a question of order, viz:

That a due observance of parliamentary law and practice, not inconsistent with the standing rules of this House, requires that every bill shall be read through, at least once by paragraphs, for amendment, before the question shall be put whether it shall be read a third time; and that the bill entitled "An act to repeal 'an act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money," not having been so read, the previous question cannot now properly apply.

The Speaker overruled the point of order raised by Mr. Williams.

From which decision Mr. James W. Williams appealed.

And the question was put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 149, / Nays, ... 20.

A quorum was now present.

Mr. Mallory presented the proceedings of a meeting of the democratic republican party of the county of Norfolk, held at the Town Hall in Portsmouth, on Tuesday, August 3, 1841, containing resolutions against the establishment of a national bank, against the assumption of the debts of the States, and against the distribution of the proceeds of the sales of public lands among the States.

Ordered, That said proceedings do lie on the table.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Postmaster General, containing the information called for by the House, on the 9th instant, in relation to the expenditure of the appropriations for the New Post Office Building; which letter was ordered to lie on the table.

The Speaker presented additional documents in relation to the contested election of Linn Banks, one of the Representatives from the State of Virginia; which were referred to the Committee of Elections.

Mr. Fillmore, from the Committee of Ways and Means, to which was referred the amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," reported the same with amendments.

Ordered, That the said amendments be committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, their secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have concurred in the amendments of this House to the bill (No. 1) entitled "an act to repeal an act entitled 'An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money." And then he withdrew.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Tillinghast reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill from the Senate (No. 3) entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States," and had come to no resolution thereon.

Mr. Goode, of Ohio, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill (No. 1) entitled "An act to repeal the act entitled 'An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money, and for other purposes," and found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

Mr. Goode reported, subsequently, that the committee had presented the said bill to the President of the United States.

And, at 2¾ o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 12, 1841.

Mr. Barnard moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That; on Friday next, the 13th inst., at 12 o'clock meriedian, all debate in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union on the bill from the Senate (No. 3) entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States," shall cease, and the committee shall then proceed to vote on any question then pending, and on any amendments then pending, or that may be offered, and shall then report said bill to the House, with such amendments as may have been agreed to by the committee: Provided, That nothing in this resolution shall preclude the committee from reporting said bill at an earlier hour.

A motion was made by Mr. Wise to amend the resolution by striking out the words "Friday next, the 13th instant, at 12 o'clock meredian," and inserting the words "to-day, at 3 o'clock, P. M."

A call of the House was then ordered; and, the roll being called, all the members answered to their names except

The Speaker laid before the House a communication from the Secretary of State, informing Congress that the census of pensioners, authorized by the act of 3d of March, 1839, has been taken, and 10,000 copies thereof printed; and suggesting the propriety of making some provision for binding the census documents, and presenting estimates of the expense of such binding; which communication was committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

On motion of Mr. Barnard, the House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Tillinghast reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill from the Senate (No. 3) "to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States," and had come to no resolution thereon.

On motion of Mr. Underwood, the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union was discharged from the further consideration of the bill from the Senate (No. 7) entitled "An act to amend the act entitled 'An act to provide for taking the sixth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States,' approved, March 3d, 1839, and the acts amending the same."

The House proceeded to the consideration of said bill;

And, having further amended the same,

The question was stated, that the amendments be engrossed, and that the bill be read a third time.

And, pending this question,

The House, at 3½ o'clock, adjourned until Monday, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, AUGUST 16, 1841.

Sundry petitions and memorials, praying the enactment of a uniform system in relation to bankruptcies, were presented, viz:

By Mr. Barnard: Of citizens of the city of New York.

By Mr. Halsted: Of citizens of the State of New Jersey;

Also, of citizens of Newark, in the State of New Jersey.

By Mr Cushing: Of citizens of the town of Methuen, in the State of Massachusetts.

By Mr. Lowell: Of citizens of the town of Ellsworth, in the State of Maine.

By Mr. Birdseye: Of citizens of Madison county, in the State of Illinois.

Mr. Linn presented a petition of inhabitants of the county of Saratoga, in the State of New York, praying the enactment of a general bankrupt law, confined to natural persons.

Ordered, That the said petitions and memorials be referred to the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union.

Mr. Weller presented the proceedings of a meeting of citizens of Butler county, in the State of Ohio, condemnatory of the extra session of Congress, of the creation of a national debt, of a national bank, of a distribution of the proceeds of sales of the public lands, of the removal of officers for opinion's sake, &c.; which proceedings were laid on the table.

Mr. Hunt presented the memorial of citizens of New York, manufacturers of iron, praying the appointment of a committee by Congress to collect information with a view to a revision of the tariff; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. Slade presented the memorial of the Society of Friends, of Collins, Erie county, in the State of New York, praying Congress to annul the treaty with the Seneca Indians; referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

On motion of Mr. Hopkins, it was

Resolved, That the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads be instructed to inquire into the expediency of reporting a bill authorizing the Postmaster General to establish express mails along the great lines of steamboats and railroad communications, in cases where he is not able to make contracts to have the mails transported on said routes, by railroad or steamboats, for the rate of compensation prescribed by law.

On motion of Mr. Riggs,

Ordered, That leave be given to withdraw the petition and papers of James Phelps, presented at a former session.

[They were delivered to Mr. Riggs.]

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, the Committee of Ways and Means was discharged from the consideration of the proceedings of a meeting of citizens of Clinton county, in the State of New York, in favor of additional fortifications at Plattsburg. Also, the petition of inhabitants of Natchitoches, in Louisiana, relative to duty on cotton coming from Texas; the petition of inhabitants of Ohio, for duties on luxuries; the petitions of the Grand Gulf Railroad and Banking Company; and the said petitions were ordered to lie on the table.

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, the Committee of Ways and Means was discharged from the message from the President of the 4th instant, in relation to an appropriation necessary to complete the post office building; and it was ordered to lie on the table.

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, the Committee of Ways and Means was discharged from the consideration of the petition of stone-cutters and other workmen on public buildings in Washington for an additional appropriation for the patent office building; and it was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds.

Mr. Gilmer, from the Committee of Ways and Means, to which was referred a message from the President of the United States upon the subject, reported a bill (No. 29) to provide for placing Greenough's statue of Washington in the rotundo of the Capitol, and for expenses therein mentioned; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, the Committee of Ways and Means was discharged from the consideration of the letter of the Secretary of War upon the subject of an appropriation to carry into effect the treaty with the Miami Indians; and it was ordered to lie on the table.

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, the Committee of Ways and Means, to which was referred the bill (No. 27) to provide the means of payment for seven sites for marine hospitals in the Western States, purchased in pursuance of the act of 3d March, 1837, was discharged from the further consideration thereof; and the bill was laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. Briggs, (from the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads,)

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House of Representatives be directed to deliver to the Auditor of the Treasury, for the Post Office Department, such of the papers taken from the Post Office Department, before its destruction by fire, by the Committee of Investigation of the House of Representatives, as the said Auditor may select.

Mr. Randolph, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill (No. 28) entitled "An act to authorize the recovery of fines and forfeitures under the charter, laws, and ordinances of Georgetown, before justices of the peace," and found the same truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

A message was received from the President of the United States by Mr.

Robert Tyler, his private secretary, notifying that the President did, his day, approve and sign the bill (No. 6) entitled "An act to provide or the payment of navy pensions."

Mr. William W. Irwin, from the Select Committee on Retrenchment, eported the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Retrenchment have leave to sit during he recess of Congress, and that said committee have power to send for ersons and papers, and to report at the next session by bill or otherwise.

A motion was made by Mr. Landaff W. Andrews that the resolution do ie on the table.

ed, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker the chair, and Mr. Tillinghast reported that the committee had, g to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under considera- ticularly the bill from the Senate (No 3) entitled "An act to es- uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States," come to no resolution thereon.

otts presented the accounts of the funeral charges of General Wil- ıry Harrison, deceased, late President of the United States, placed nds by Alexander Hunter, United States Marshal of the District ıbia, (who, by order of the Heads of the Executive Departments, ended the funeral,) to the end that an appropriation may be made ayment of the said charges, which amount to $3,088 09.

ed, That the said accounts be referred to the Committee of Ways ıns.

illmore presented a communication from the Secretary of the Navy Committee of Ways and Means, with an account of expenses of the statue of Washington at the navy yard, in the city of Wash- ınd of the freight thereof, as also of the demurrage on account of ntion of the ship on which the said statue was freighted; which ication and account were referred to the Committee of the Whole n the state of the Union, to which is committed the bill in relation atue of Washington.

at half-past 2 o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 ın the forenoon.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 17, 1841.

Mr. Medill, at his request, was excused from further service on the Committee of Elections, and Mr. Shields was appointed of the committee to supply the vacancy.

Mr. Triplett presented a petition of inhabitants of Henderson county, in the State of Kentucky; also a petition of inhabitants of Butler county, in the State of Kentucky; and a petition of inhabitants of Hopkins' county, in the same State; all against the passage of any bill to establish a system of bankruptcy for the United States.

Mr. Triplett also presented a petition of inhabitants of Hopkinsville and Christian county, in the same State, in favor of the passage of a bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy.

Ordered, That said petitions be referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, to which the bill from the Senate, upon the subject of bankruptcy is committed.

Mr. J. P. Kennedy presented a petition of a large number of merchants and manufacturers of the city of Baltimore, in the State of Maryland, praying the appointment of a committee to investigate the operation of the acts imposing duties on imports, and to report the facts obtained by such committee at the next session of Congress; which petition was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. Mathiot presented the proceedings of a public meeting of the democracy of Licking county, in the State of Ohio, held at Newark on the 31st July, 1841, against a national bank; against a distribution of the proceeds of the sales of the public lands; against the passage of the loan bill; applauding the decision of the court of New York in the case of Alexander McLeod; denouncing the doctrine that to the victors belong the spoils; and upon the subject of currency generally. These proceedings were laid on the table.

Mr. Briggs, from the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads, to which the subject had been referred, reported "A bill (No. 30) to make an appropriation for the Post Office Department;" which was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, their secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The President of the United States has notified the Senate that he did, on the 13th instant, approve and sign a bill (No. 1) entitled "An act to repeal the act entitled 'An act to provide for the collection, safe-keeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue,' and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money, and for other purposes."

The Senate have passed the bill (No 21) entitled "An act further to extend the time for locating Virginia land warrants, and returning surveys thereon to the General Land Office." Also, "A joint resolution (No. 5) to provide for the distribution of the printed returns of the sixth census;" in which bill and resolution the Senate desire the concurrence of this House. And then he withdrew.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. Barnard on the 13th instant, and which was reconsidered and pending on that day: when

Mr. Barnard modified the resolution by inserting "this day, at 12 o'clock, meridian."

Mr. J. P. Kennedy moved to amend the resolution by striking out "to-day," and inserting "to-morrow;" which motion was disagreed to.

Mr. Graham moved to amend by striking out "12 o'clock, meridian," and inserting "two o'clock, P. M.;" which was negatived.

The question was then put to agree to the resolution;

And passed in the affirmative.

And so it was

Resolved, That, at 12 o'clock, meridian, this day, all debate in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, on Senate bill (No. 3) entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States," shall cease, and the committee shall then proceed to vote on any question, or on any amendments then pending, and on all amendments that may be offered, and shall then report said bill to the House, with such amendments as may have been agreed to by the committee: Provided, That the committee may report said bill to the House at an earlier hour, if they think proper.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Tillinghast reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill from the Senate (No. 3) entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States;" which bill he was directed to report to the House with an amendment, which was read at the Clerk's table.

A motion was made by Mr. Clifford to amend the amendment by adding thereto the following:

Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to alter or repeal any State law for the relief of insolvent debtors, or to alter or repeal any such law exempting certain goods and chattels from attachment, execution, and distress.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Barnard, and was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was then put, first, that the House do agree to the amendment moved by Mr. Clifford.

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 99, / Nays, ... 94.

Mr. Tillinghast presented resolutions of the General Assembly of the ate of Rhode Island, in the following words, viz:

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.

IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY, JUNE SESSION, A. D., 1841.

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this State be requested to their best efforts to procure such amendments to the Constitution of the United States as will t the eligibility of President of the United States to one term.

Resolved, That the encouragement and protection of domestic industry do not require excessive ies, but only that the revenue necessary to defray the expenses of Government be raised on h foreign articles as come in competition with similar articles grown or produced in our own ntry.

Resolved, That discriminating duties for the purpose of revenue will operate beneficially on the rests of all the States, by increasing the home consumption of their great staples, and by diishing their indebtedness abroad, as well as by giving employment to labor at home; and tha the States ought to unite in adopting the principle of raising the revenue necessary to defray expenses of Government, from duties levied on such articles of foreign growth or manufacture vill best sustain the great interests and occupations of the people.

Resolved, That his excellency the Governor be requested to transmit one copy of these resolutions he Executive of each of the United States, and a like copy to each of the Senators and Repretatives in Congress from this State.

True copy of record. Witness:

HENRY BOWEN, Secretary of State.

Mr. King presented a memorial of the mayor and alderman of the city Savannah, in the State of Georgia, praying for the admission of package ods to entry under certain regulations; which was referred to the Comittee of Ways and Means.

Mr. Wise presented a memorial of Francis A. Dickins, praying that, nen awards are made in favor of our citizens having claims on Mexico der the late treaty with that nation, the proper certificates may be issued, d the awards presented, and payment thereof asked of Mexico from ne to time by the Government of the United States; which memorial was dered to lie on the table.

Mr. Cross moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be directed to communicate to this ouse the number of troops stationed at forts Gibson, Towson, Smith, and 'ayne, respectively; whether the original location of the latter fort has not en abandoned, and, if so, the reasons therefor; and whether, in his judgent, the military force now on that border, is sufficient to protect the citizens of the State of Arkansas against Indian depredation; and what increase, if any, will be necessary for that purpose.

The rule which requires a resolution calling on a Department for information, to lie on the table one day, was dispensed with; and the resolution was read and agreed to.

Mr. Botts, from the Committee of Ways and Means, to which the subject had been referred, reported a bill (No 31) making an appropriation for the funeral expenses of William Henry Harrison, deceased, late President of the United States; which was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

A motion was made by Mr. Pickens that the papers and accounts accompanying said bill be printed for the use of the members;

Mr. Graham, in pursuance of notice heretofore given, obtained leave, and introduced a bill (No. 32) in relation to placing the statue of Washington in the Rotundo of the Capitol; which bill was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. Randolph, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill (No. 3) entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States:" and found the same to be truly enrolled; when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

A message from the President of the United States was received by Mr. John Tyler, jr., his private secretary, notifying that the President did, this day, approve and sign two bills which originated in this House, viz:

No. 28. An act to authorize the recovery of fines and forfeitures incurred under the charter, laws, and ordinances of Georgetown, before justices of the peace.

No. 21. An act further to extend the time for locating Virginia military and warrants, and returning surveys thereon to the General Land Office.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Williams, of Maryland, reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," and finding itself without a quorum, had risen and directed him to report that fact to the House.

A call of the House was then ordered, and the roll having been called, and a quorum being present,

Further proceedings in the call were dispensed with; and

The House again resumed its session in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Williams, of Maryland, reported that the committee had concurred in the first and fifth amendments of the Senate to the aforesaid bill (No. 28) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," with the amendment recommended to that amendment by the Committee of Ways and Means, and have disagreed to the 2d, 3d, and 4th, of the amendments of the Senate to said bill.

The question then recurred, that the House do concur with the Committee of the Whole House in the amendments recommended by the Committee of Ways and Means.

And, pending this question,

The House, at quarter-past 3 o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

FRIDAY, August 20, 1841.

Mr. Gilmer presented the proceedings of a meeting of citizens of Louisa county, in the State of Virginia, at their court-house, on Monday the 9th August, instant, containing resolutions expressive of the opinion of the meeting against the establishment of a national bank; that Congress has no power over the currency, except "to coin money, to regulate the value thereof, and of foreign coins;" that Congress has no power to distribute among the States the proceeds of sales of public lands, nor to raise revenue for distribution among the States; that Congress has no power to pay, or to assume the payment of the debts of the States; that the distribution of money to the States would be calculated to destroy their independence; that duties on imports should be laid only for the purpose of revenue; that the President ought not to sign the bank bill recently passed by Congress; that, should the bank bill become a law, they pledge themselves to effect the repeal of the charter; that the present extra session of Congress was unnecessary and uncalled for; and disapproving the rule recently adopted by this House limiting a speech to one hour.

Ordered, That said resolutions do lie on the table.

Mr. John P. Kennedy, from the Committee on Commerce, to which was referred the joint resolution from the Senate (No. 4) "relating to the light-boats stationed at Sandy Hook and Bartlett's Reef," reported the same without amendment.

Ordered, That said resolution be read a third time.

The said resolution was then read, and the question was put, Shall it pass?

And passed in the affirmative.

Mr. John P. Kennedy, from the Committee on Commerce, reported the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed and required to revise and condense the existing laws of Congress regulating the appointment, number, duties, and salaries, fees and compensations, of officers of the customs, with a view to a diminution of the expenses of the Government, an increased efficiency in the execution of the revenue laws, and more strict accountability of officers employed in this branch of the public service, embracing the revenue cutter service, and the duties and compensation of all persons employed therein; and the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby required to make report on the foregoing matters at the next session of Congress.

The said resolution was read and agreed to.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their secretary.

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have been notified by the President of the United States that he did, on the 19th instant, approve and sign the bill

No. 3) entitled "An act to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States." The Senate have concurred in the amendment of this House to the bill (No. 4) entitled "An act to revive and extend the charters of certain banks in the District of Columbia." And I am directed by the Senate to notify this House of the following proceeding in that body, viz:

IN SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, August 19, 1841.

The President of the United States having returned to the Senate, on the 16th instant, the bill entitled "An act to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States," with his objections to the same, the Senate proceeded to reconsider the bill; and

Resolved, That the bill do not pass; two-thirds of the Senate not agreeing thereto.

Attest: ASBURY DICKINS, Secretary.

Mr. Goode, of Ohio, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled bill (No. 4) entitled "An act to revive and extend the charters of certain banks in the District of Columbia," and found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. John G. Floyd on the 23d of June, in relation to the case of Alexander McLeod.

A motion was made by Mr. Maxwell that the resolution do lie on the table.

And then, by consent, the further consideration of the resolution was postponed.

The joint resolution from the Senate (No. 5) "to provide for the distribution of the printed returns of the sixth census," was read the first and second time, and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities."

The question recurred that the House do concur with the Committee of the Whole in their amendment to the first amendment of the Senate.

And, after debate,

The previous question was moved by Mr. Hunt, and was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And the main question was put, first, that the House do concur in the amendment of the Committee of the Whole to the first amendment of the Senate, viz: Add to the said first amendment the following:

"For purchase of site and for barracks and defensive works at or near Buffalo, New York, fifty thousand dollars.

"For fortifications at the outlet of Lake Champlain and purchase of site, seventy-five thousand dollars.

"For defensive works, barracks, and other necessary buildings, and purchase of site for a depot at or near the junction of the Matawankeag and Penobscot rivers, Maine, twenty-five thousand dollars."

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate with the proceedings of this House on the amendments to said bill.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Dawson, of Georgia, reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 14) of this House to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States, and had come to no resolution thereon.

A motion was made by Mr. Bronson that the House do reconsider the vote of yesterday, directing the printing of the papers which accompanied the bill (No. 31) reported from the Committee of Ways and Means to provide for the payment of the funeral expenses of William Henry Harrison, late President of the United States.

And, pending the motion to reconsider,

The House, at quarter-past three o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

SATURDAY, August 21, 1841.

The motion made by Mr. Bronson yesterday to reconsider the order for the printing of the documents relating to expenses attending the funeral of William Henry Harrison, late President of the United States, was withdrawn by the mover.

A motion was made by Mr. Sergeant that the House do come to the following resolution:

Resolved, That, at 4 o'clock P. M., on Monday next, all debate in Committee of the Whole on the bill (No. 14) to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States shall cease, and the committee shall then proceed to vote on the amendments then pending, or that may be offered to said bill; and the same shall then be reported to the House with such amendments as may have been agreed to by the committee: Provided, That nothing in this resolution shall prevent the committee from reporting the bill to the House at an earlier hour, if it shall think fit.

Mr. Sergeant moved the previous question.

Mr. Cave Johnson moved that the resolution do lie on the table.

A call was then ordered; and the roll being called, and a quorum being present,

Further proceedings in the call were suspended.

The question was then put on the motion of Mr. Cave Johnson, that the resolution do lie on the table;

And was decided in the negative, { Yeas, ... 87, / Nays, ... 110.

The yeas and nays being desired by one-fifth of the members present,

The previous question, moved by Mr. Sergeant, was then demanded, and was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question, that the House do agree to the resolution, was then about to be put; when

Mr. Cave Johnson requested to be excused from voting on the question, and was making a statement of the reasons for such request, when he was called to order by the Speaker for irrelevancy: and his further proceeding being objected to,

Mr. Turney moved that Mr. Cave Johnson have leave to proceed; which being agreed to, he was proceeding in his reasons to be excused from voting, when he was again called to order for irrelevancy, and took his seat.

Mr. Turney then moved that Mr. Johnson have leave to proceed.

And on the question, Shall Mr. Johnson have leave to proceed in order?

It passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 108, / Nays, ... 84

And so was

Resolved, That, at 4 o'clock P. M. on Monday next, all debate in Committee of the Whole on the bill (No. 14) to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States, shall cease, and the committee shall then proceed to vote on the amendments then pending, or that may be offerred to said bill; and the same shall then be reported to the House, with such amendments as may have been agreed to by the committee: Provided, That nothing in this resolution shall prevent the committee from reporting the bill to the House at an earlier hour, if it shall think fit.

Mr. Goode, of Ohio, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined an enrolled joint resolution (No. 4) "relating to the light-boats now stationed at Sandy Hook and Bartlett's Reef," and found the same truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said resolution.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the Chair, and Mr. Dawson, of Georgia, reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill of this House (No. 14) to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States, and had come to no resolution thereon.

And, at 4½ o'clock, the House adjourned until Monday next at 10 o'clock in the forenoon;

MONDAY, AUGUST 23, 1841.

Another member, to wit: from the State of Illinois, John Reynolds, appeared, was sworn to support the Constitution of the United States, and took a seat in the House.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Dawson, of Georgia, reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union generally under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 14) to incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States; which bill he was directed to report to the House with amendment.

The question recurred that the House do concur with the Committee of the Whole House in their amendment to the said bill.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Stanly, and, being demanded, was put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 120, / Nays, ... 97.

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, viz: Will the House reconsider the said vote?

And passed in the negative.

And so the said bill stands passed.

The title of said bill was then read: when

Mr. Sergeant moved to amend the same so as to make it read: An act to provide for the better collection, safe-keeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled "the Fiscal Corporation of the United States."

The previous question was moved, demanded, and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The main question was put, first, on the amendment moved by Mr. Sergeant;

And passed in the affirmative.

Secondly, That the House do agree to the title as amended;

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

And then, at 7 o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 24, 1841.

Mr. Adams presented a memorial of the Essex county Anti-Slavery Society, praying that Congress may take effectual measures to suppress the slave-trade; which was referred to the Commitee on Foreign Affairs.

Mr. J. P. Kennedy presented a memorial of citizens of Maryland, praying that Congress will investigate the "duty system;" which was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. Irwin presented a memorial of citizens of Pennsylvania, manufacturers of glass, remonstrating against the imposition of duties on imported articles, which are used in the glass manufacture in this country.

Mr. Irwin also presented a memorial of citizens of Butler, Armstrong, Venango, and Clarion counties, in the State of Pennsylvania, praying the establishment of a post route.

Mr. Cary presented the proceedings of a public meeting of the democratic State right's party, in the town of Petersburg, in the State of Virginia, approving the President's veto of the bank bill, and against a distribution of the proceeds of the sales of the public lands.

Mr. John W. Jones presented the preamble and resolutions of a meeting of citizens of Goochland county, in the State of Virginia, disapproving, generally, of all the measures adopted and proposed by the dominant whig party at the present extra session of Congress.

Mr. Coles presented a memorial of citizens of the town of Lynchburg, in the State of Virginia, remonstrating against the passage of a bankrupt law.

Mr. Adams presented a memorial, signed Perry Joslin, in opposition to slavery.

Ordered, That the said several petitions, memorials, and papers, do lie on the table.

Mr. Rodney moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be directed to communicate to this House the several reports made by Lieutenant Emory, of the engineer corps, in relation to the situation and improvement of the harbor at New Castle, on the river Delaware.

This resolution was considered, by consent, at this time, and agreed to.

Mr. McKay moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, directed to submit to this House, at the commencement of the next session, an estimate of a sum of money which may be necessary to defray the expenses of collecting the public revenue, that an appropriation for the same may be made by Congress.

This resolution was considered, by consent, at this time, and agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Moore,

Resolved, That the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads be instructed to inquire into the expediency of changing the route between Natchez, Mississippi, and Harrisonburg, Louisiana, so as to run once a week by Water-proof Landing and Sicily island, and once a week by Flowry mound and Trinity; and also of establishing a post route on the west side of the river Mississippi, in the State of Louisiana, from Fort Adams to Lake Providence, via Vidalia, Richmond, and Miliken's bend.

Mr. Cowen moved the following joint resolution:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives, That the President of the United States be, and he hereby is, requested to cause such inquiries and examinations to be made as he may deem expedient to enable Congress to ascertain the most favorable situation for the establishment of a Western armory in the Western or Southwestern States, and communicate the information collected by said inquiries and examinations to Congress at the next session thereof; and that the sum of five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated to defray the expenses of such inquiries and examinations, to be paid out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

The resolution was read a first time, and laid on the Speaker's table.

Mr. Saunders, from the Committee on the Judiciary, to which was referred the joint resolution from the Senate (No. 5) "to provide for the distribution of the printed returns of the sixth census," reported the same with amendments; which were read and agreed to.

Ordered, That the amendments be engrossed, and that the resolution be read a third time.

The amendments being engrossed, the resolution was read the third time. And the question was put, Shall it pass?

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

Mr. Boardman, from the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, to which was referred the memorial of stone-cutters and other workmen lately employed on the public buildings in Washington, made a report thereon, adverse to the prayer of the memorial; which report was ordered to lie on the table.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Everett reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 30) making an appropriation for the Post Office Department; and, finding itself without a quorum, had risen, and directed him so to report to the House.

And then, at three o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, ten o'clock in the forenoon.

WEDNDESAY, August 25, 1841.

The Speaker presented a letter from Wm. W. Seaton, Mayor of Washington, accompanied by a copy of the proceedings of a large meeting of citizens, convened on public notice at the City Hall, on the 19th of August, instant, in which they express their regret and indignation that an indecorous and disgraceful effort was made, a few evenings before that day, to outrage the feelings of the President of the United State, and insult him and his family, by a noisy and tumultuous scene of riot within the precincts of the President's house; and, among other things, expressing the earnest and anxious wish of the people of Washington that an efficient and vigorous police be established in the city, under the authority of the Government of the United States. These proceedings are signed by the Mayor, and by Richard S. Coxe, Joseph Bryan, Nathan Towson, and John P. Van Ness, a committee appointed by the meeting to present the same to Congress.

Ordered, That they be referred to the Committtee for the District of Columbia.

Mr. Parmenter presented a memorial of the manufacturers of glass, or those interested in the sale thereof, praying that duties may not be imposed on certain articles used in the manufacture of glass, on the importation thereof into this country; which memorial was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Parmenter presented a memorial of inhabitants of the town of Ashby, in the State of Massachusetts, praying that ardent spirits may be excluded from the navy ration; which memorial was referred to the Commit- on Naval Affairs.

Mr. Goode, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee did, this day, present to the President an enrolled bill (No. 4) entitled "An act to revive and extend the charters of certain banks in the District of Columbia." Also an enrolled joint resolution (No. 4) "relating to the light-boats now stationed at Sandy Hook and Bartlett's Reef."

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Everett reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No. 30) making an appropriation for the Post Office Department, and had come to no conclusion thereon.

And the House, at 5¼ o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

THURSDAY, August 26, 1841.

Mr. Aaron V. Brown, of Tennessee, asked to be excused from further service on the Committee of Elections; and, his request being granted, Mr. James Rogers was appointed one of the committee in his stead.

Mr. Briggs moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That, at 12 o'clock this day, all debate in Committee of the Whole on bill No. 30, making an appropriation for the Post Office Department, shall cease, and the committee shall then proceed to vote on the amendments then pending, or that may be offered to said bill; and the same shall then be reported to the House, with such amendments as may have been agreed to by the committee.

Mr. Landaff W. Andrews moved to amend the resolution by striking out "at 12 o'clock this day," and inserting "on Monday next, at 12 o'clock meridian."

A motion was made by Mr. Linn that there be a call of the House.

The call was then dispensed with; and
The House again resumed its session as in Committee of the Whole on state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker re-ned the chair, and Mr. Shepperd reported that the committee had, ac-ding to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideran, particularly the bill (No. 18) making further provision for the sup-ssion of Indian hostilities in Florida; the bill (No. 24) making approations to purchase sites and make certain surveys, and for other purses, and had come to no resolution thereon. Also, that the committee had l under consideration the bill (No. 17) making appropriations for outfits l salaries of diplomatic agents; and the joint resolution from the Senate

o. 2) for the distribution of 750 copies of the Digest of Patents, which t mentioned bill and resolution he was directed to report to the House thout amendment.

The said joint resolution (No. 2) for the distribution of 750 copies of the gest of Patents, was then ordered to be read a third time.

The resolution was read the third time accordingly.

And the question was put, that it do pass;

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith

Ordered, That the aforesaid bill (No. 17) making an appropriation for fits and salaries of diplomatic agents be engrossed and read a third time.

The said bill, being engrossed, was read the third time accordingly.

And the question was then put, that it do pass;

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate therein.

Ordered, That the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the ion be discharged from the consideration of the bill (No. 24) making propriations to purchase sites and to make certain surveys, and for other poses, and that the said bill be recommitted to the Committee on Miliy Affairs.

On motion of Mr. John Quincy Adams, it was Resolved, That the Committee on Foreign Affairs be instructed to in-re into the expediency of reducing the expenditure in the diplomatic partment of the Government, by diminishing the number of ministers l other diplomatic agents abroad, and report thereon to the House.

Ordered, That the amendments of the Senate to the bill of this House, itled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, l to grant pre-emption rights," be referred to the Committee on Public nds.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker re-ned the chair, and Mr. Arnold reported that the committee had, accord-to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, ticularly the bill (No. 22) to provide for repairing the Potomac bridge, l the bill (No. 23) for paving and repairing a portion of Pennsylvania nue; which he reported to the House without amendment.

Ordered, That the bill (No. 22) to provide for repairing the Potomac lge be engrossed and read a third time to-day.

The bill, being brought in engrossed, was read the third time, and the stion that it do pass was stated: when,

At 2½ o'clock, a motion was made by Mr. Cave Johnson that the House adjourn; which was negatived.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Landaff W. Andrews.

A motion was made by Mr. John G. Floyd that the bill do lie on the table; on which a quorum did not vote.

And, at 20 minutes to 3 o'clock, a motion was made by Mr. Campbell, of South Carolina, to adjourn; which was decided in the negative.

A call of the House was ordered; and the roll being called, and a quorum appearing, further proceedings therein were dispensed with.

And the question was put on the motion to lie on the table, and decided in the negative.

The previous question, moved by Mr. Landaff W. Andrews, was then demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And then, at 3 o'clock, a motion was made by Mr. Cave Johnson to adjourn; which was decided in the negative.

And the main question was put, viz: Shall the bill pass?

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

The House then proceeded to the consideration of the bill (No. 23) for paving and repairing a portion of Pennsylvania avenue.

A motion was made by Mr. Aaron V. Brown, that the bill do lie on the table.

And so the bill was rejected.

The amendment of the Senate to the amendment of this House to the joint resolution of the Senate (No. 5) to provide for the distribution of the printed returns of the sixth census, was read and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the bill from the Senate (No. 8) entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to carry into effect a convention between the United States and the Mexican Republic.'"

The Committee on Foreign Affairs, to which the said bill was referred, reported it with a recommendation that the enacting words thereof be stricken out, i. e. that the bill be rejected.

And the question was put, Shall the enacting words be stricken out?

And passed in the negative.

An amendment was proposed to the said bill: when

A motion was made by Mr. Garrett Davis, that the bill do lie on the table; which being decided in the negative,

Mr. Wise moved the previous question; which was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.
The main question was put, first, on the amendment proposed;
And passed in the affirmative.
Second, that the amendment be engrossed, and that the bill be read third time;
And passed in the affirmative.
The amendment being engrossed, the bill was read a third time.
And the question was put, that it do pass;
And passed in the affirmative.
Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.
And the House, at 12¼ o'clock, P.M., adjourned until Monday next, at 10 'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, AUGUST 30, 1841.

The following message, in writing, heretofore received from the President of the United States, was read, viz:

To the House of Representatives of the United States:

I transmit, herewith, a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, bearing date this day, with the accompanying papers, in answer to the resolution of the House of Representatives, of the 16th ultimo, relative to removals from office, &c.

These statements should have accompanied those from the other Departments on the same subject, transmitted in my message to the House of the 7th ult., but which have been delayed for reasons stated in the letter of the Secretary of the Treasury, above referred to.

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, August 27, 1841.

Ordered, That the said message do lie on the table.

Mr. Steenrod presented the proceedings of a meeting of citizens of Marshall county, in the State of Virginia, in opposition to the creation of a national bank, under whatever name; to the distribution of the public lands; and to a tariff of protection for conferring exclusive privileges, &c.

Ordered, That the same do lie on the table.

Mr. Stanly presented the petition of citizens of Washington county, in the State of North Carolina, praying Congress to charter a national bank; which was laid on the table.

Mr. Patrick G. Goode presented a memorial of citizens of Wood county, in the State of Ohio, praying the passage of a uniform bankrupt law at the present session of Congress; which was laid on the table.

Mr. Ridgway presented the resolutions adopted by a meeting of citizens held at Circleville, in the State of Ohio, approving the leading measures brought forward at the present Congress; recommending the passage of a bill creating a bank; and such an amendment to the Constitution as will only require a majority to pass any bill into a law, on reconsideration, which has been returned with the President's objections.

Ordered, That the same do lie on the table.

Mr. Barton presented a memorial of citizens and armorers of Harper's Ferry, in Jefferson county, Virginia, remonstrating against the substitution of a military officer to superintend the armory, instead of one appointed from civil life; which was referred to the Committee on Military affairs.

Mr. Barton also presented the memorial of citizens of Harper's Ferry and its vicinity, praying Congress to sanction the plan recommended by the Secretary of War, of placing the armory under the control of an ordnance officer; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Moore presented a petition of William B. Davis, representing that he had invented a machine for deepening bars and mud shoals, for heavy shipping, and asking aid to construct and apply said apparatus to deepening the mud bar at the northeast pass of the mouth of the Mississippi; which was referred to the Committee on Commerce.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins, their secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have concurred in the amendments of this House to their bills of the following titles, viz:

No. 7. An act to amend the act entitled "An act to provide for taking the sixth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States," approved March 3d, 1839, and the acts amending the same.

No. 8. An act to amend an act entitled "An act to carry into effect a convention between the United States and the Mexican Republic."

The Senate have concurred in the amendments of this House to their first amendment to the bill (No 8) entitled "An act making appropriations or various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," and insist on the 2d and 4th amendments to said bill, which have been disagreed to by this House. And then he withdrew.

Mr. Morrow, from the Committee on Public Lands, to which was referred the amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 4) entitled "An act to appropriate for a limited time the proceeds of the sales of the public lands of the United States, and for granting lands to certain States," reported the same with a recommendation that the House do concur in the said amendments.

The question was stated from the Chair, that the House do concur with the Senate in the amendments to said bill: when

The previous question was moved by Mr. John C. Clark.

A call of the House was ordered, and, the roll being called twice, all the members answered to their names except Julius C. Alford, John M. Botts, David P. Brewster, Aaron V. Brown, Jeremiah Brown, Sampson H. Butler, Green W. Caldwell, John Campbell, George B. Cary, Timothy Childs, Davis Dimock, jr., John C. Mr. Wise here submitted a question of order, viz: that by the amendments a grant of land is provided for the present Territories of the United States upon their being formed into States and admitted into the Union; which he contended was an appropriation of an additional quantity of public land. And further, that the amendments also contained provision for paying over to the States of Mississippi and Alabama the two per cent. of the proceeds of the sales of lands within those States respectively, reserved to them by the acts for their admission into the Union, as a fund for making roads leading to said States; which paying over was, in fact, he contended, an appropriation of money from the Treasury, and, therefore, under the rules of the House, the amendments must be committed to and discusssed in Committee of the Whole; and, consequently, if the previous question were sustained, the main question would be on commitment.

The Speaker decided that the bill provided for the disposition of the whole of the public lands, and of all the proceeds of the sales thereof, and had already been discussed in Committee of the Whole; that the amendments merely provided a distribution of land, and of the proceeds of the sales of the lands, different, in some of its details, from the bill, as it originally passed this House, but did not take any thing from the public store, which had not been previously taken by the bill; that therefore it was not, under the rule, necessary to commit the amendments to to a Committee of the Whole; and that, if the previous question be ordered, the main question would be on concurrence in the amendments.

From this decision Mr. Wise appealed.

And the question was put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 108, / Nays, ... 81.

The question on the amendments was then divided so as to take the main question separately on each amendment.

The first amendment was then agreed to.

The bill, as passed by this House, provided that the distribution to be made should be made according to their [the States, Territories, and District of Columbia] respective federal representative population, as ascertained by the last census.

The second amendment of the Senate proposes to strike out the words "respective federal representative population, as ascertained by the last census," and inserting the following in lieu thereof: "representation, respectively, in the two Houses of Congress, as the same may be fixed by the apportionment to be made under the census of 1840, and hereafter, according to the representation as aforesaid in the two Houses of Congress, as it shall be apportioned, from time to time, under any future census, except that the District of Columbia and each of the Territories shall receive a distributive share equal to that which would be assigned in any State for one Representative in the Congress of the United States."

The third and sixth amendments were disagreed to; and the fourth, fifth, seventh, and eighth, were agreed to.

The ninth amendment proposes to add to the 6th section a proviso in the words following:

Provided, That if, at any time during the existence of this act, there shall be an imposition of duties on imports inconsistent with the provisions of the act of March second, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three, entitled "An act to modify the act of the fourteenth of July, one thousand eight hundred thirty-two, and all other acts imposing duties on imports," and beyond the rate of duty fixed by that act, to wit: twenty per centum on the value of such imports, or any of them, then the distribution provided in this act shall be suspended, and shall so continue until this cause of its suspension shall be removed; and, when removed, if not prevented by other provisions of this act, such distribution shall be resumed.

The amendments from the tenth to the twenty-first, both inclusive, were concurred in.

And the question was put, that the House do concur in the twenty-second amendment, which proposes to add to the bill the following additional section:

Sec. 16. And be it further enacted, That the two per cent. of the nett proceeds of the lands sold, or that may hereafter be sold by the United States, in the State of Mississippi, since the first day of December, 1817, and by the act entitled "An act to enable the people of the western part of the Mississippi Territory to form a constitution and State Government, and for the admission of such State into the Union on an equal footing with the original States," and all acts supplemental thereto, reserved for the making of a road or roads leading to said State, be, and the same is hereby, relinquished to the State of Mississippi, payable in two equal instalments: the first to be paid on the first of May, eighteen hundred and forty-two, and the other on the first of May, eighteen hundred and forty-three, so far as the same may then have accrued, and quarterly, as the same may accrue, after said period: Provided, That the Legislature of said State shall first pass an act declaring their acceptance of said relinquishment in full of said fund, accrued and accruing, and also embracing a provision, to be unalterable without the consent of Congress, that the whole of said two per cent. fund shall be faithfully applied to the construction of a railroad, leading from Brandon, in the State of Mississippi, to the eastern boundary of said State, in the direction, as near as may be, of the towns of Selma, Cahawba, and Montgomery, in the State of Alabama.

The twenty-third and last amendment was then agreed to.

And so it was

Resolved, That the House do concur in all the amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 4) entitled "Act to appropriate, for a limited time, the proceeds of the sales of the public lands of the United States, and for granting land to certain States," except the second, third, and sixth, to which the House doth disagree.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

A motion was made by Mr. Harris that the House do reconsider the vote by which it agreed to the 9th amendment of the Senate to the said bill.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Stanly, and was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

And the main question was put, viz: Will the House reconsider the said vote?

And passed in the negative, { Yeas, ... 95, / Nays, ... 100.

On motion of Mr. Wise, it was Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy furnish this House, at the next session of Congress, with a list of the names of all officers of the Navy, from lieutenants to captains inclusive, who have been on shore for the term of five years, for ten years, and for a period longer than ten years, without going to sea, or without applying for orders, with a statement of the causes, if any, which prevented their going to sea; and with a statement of the services rendered by each of such officers respectively, and the yearly pay and emoluments of each.

Mr. Patrick G. Goode, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined enrolled bills and resolutions of the following titles:

No. 8. An act in addition to an act entitled "An act to carry into effect a convention between the United States and the Mexican Republic;"

No. 7. An act to amend the act entitled "An act to provide for taking the sixth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States," approved, March 3, 1839, and the acts amending the same;

No. 5. A resolution to provide for the distribution of the printed returns of the sixth census;

No. 2. A resolution for the distribution of 700 copies of the digest of patents; and found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bills and resolutions.

The House proceeded to the reconsideration of the 2d and 4th amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," to which this House have heretofore disagreed.

The said second amendment proposes to insert in the bill an item in the words following:

"For surveys in reference to military defences of the frontier, inland and atlantic, thirty thousand dollars."

A motion was made by Mr. Fillmore that the House do recede from its disagreement to said amendment.

And the question was put, under the operation of the previous question, that the House do recede from its disagreement as aforesaid.

And so the House refused to recede from its disagreement to said second amendment.

Mr. Fillmore then moved that the House do recede from its disagreement to the 4th amendment of the Senate to said bill.

And, after debate,

The House, at half-past 3 o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 31, 1841.

Mr. Banks presented the proceedings of a meeting of people of the county of Orange, in the State of Virginia, convened at the court-house, in said county, on the 23d of August instant, declaring that the present extra session of Congress was unnecessary and uncalled for by the exigencies of the public service, and condemnatory of all the great measures of public policy pursued by the majority of the two Houses of Congress at the present session; which proceedings were laid on the table.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of War, containing the information called for by the House on the 19th instant, in relation to the number of troops stationed at Forts Gibson, Towson, Smith, and Wayne, and as to the sufficiency of the military force now stationed on the frontier of Arkansas to protect that State against Indian depredations; which letter was ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Underwood, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, reported a bill (No. 33) to extend the jurisdiction and limits of Georgetown, and for other purposes; which bill was read the first and second time.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have receded from the second, third, and sixth amendments to the bill (No. 4) entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights;" which have been disagreed to by this House. (And so the said bill has passed both Houses.) The Senate have passed the bill of this House (No. 31) entitled "An act making an appropriation for the funeral expenses of William Henry Harrison, late President of the United States." And then he withdrew.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. John G. Floyd on the 23d of June last, in relation to the case of Alexander McLeod; and, after further debate, the hour elapsed, and the subject was laid over.

The House resumed the reconsideration of the 4th amendment of the Senate to the bill (No. 8,) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities."

The question pending yesterday, that the House do recede from its disagreement to the said 4th amendment, recurred: when

Mr. Morgan moved that the House do reconsider the vote of yesterday refusing to recede from the disagreement to the second amendment of the Senate to the said bill; and, by consent, the motion to reconsider was laid over for the present.

And the question recurred on the motion to recede from disagreement to the 4th amendment: when

A motion was made by Mr. Landaff W. Andrews that the bill do lie on the table; which motion was decided in the negative.

And the question was put, under the operation of the previous question, that the House do recede from its disagreement to the fourth amendment of the Senate to the said bill; which said fourth amendment proposes to insert in the bill an item in the words following:

"For defraying the expenses of selecting and purchasing a site for a western, southwestern, or northwestern armory, to be selected by the President of the United States, the sum of $75,000."

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 120,

And so the House receded from its disagreement to the fourth amendment of the Senate to said bill.

And the question then recurred that the House do agree to said 4th amendment: when

A motion was made by Mr. Summers to amend the same by striking out all of said amendment after the word "selecting," and inserting as follows: "a suitable site on the western waters, for the establishment of a national armory, a sum not exceeding five thousand dollars. And the President of the United States is hereby authorized to cause such selection to be made, and to communicate all the proceedings which may be had therein to the Congress of the United States, to be subject to its approval."

A motion was made by Mr. Thomas Butler King to amend this amendment so as to make it read "one site in the Western States, and one site in the Southern States."

This amendment was disagreed to.

And the question was put, under the operation of the previous question, that the House do agree to the amendment moved by Mr. Summers;

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, a conference was asked on the disagreeing vote of the two Houses on the second amendment of the Senate.

And so it was

Resolved, That this House do recede from its disagreement to the fourth amendment of the Senate, to the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," and do agree to the said fourth amendment, with an amendment; that this House do insist on its disagreement to the second amendment of the Senate to the said bill, and ask a conference with the Senate on the subject-matter thereof.

Mr. Fillmore, Mr. Pickens, and Mr. Wallace, of Indiana, were appointed managers at said conference on the part of this House.

And, at 2 o'clock and 20 minutes, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock, in the forenoon.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1841.

Another member, viz: From the State of Illinois, Zadok Casey, appeared, was sworn to support the Constitution of the United States, and took a seat in the House.

Mr. Randolph, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the Committee had examined bills of the following titles, viz:

No. 4. An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and to grant pre-emption rights;

No. 31. An act making an appropriation for the funeral expenses of William Henry Harrison, late President of the United States;

and found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bills.

On motion of Mr. John Quincy Adams, it was Resolved, That the further investment of any public funds of the United States in stocks of the several States ought forthwith to be prohibited by law; and that the Committee of Ways and Means be instructed to report a bill for that purpose.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr.

John G. Floyd on the 23d June last, in relation to the case of Alexander McLeod; and, after further debate, the hour allotted for reports and resolutions expired, and the further consideration thereof was postponed.

And so the resolutions were ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Randolph, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined a bill (No. 30) entitled "An act to make appropriations for the Post Office Department," and found the same truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the bill.

Mr. Underwood, from the Committee for the District of Columbia, reported a bill (No. 35) for repairing Pennsylvania avenue, in the city of Washington; which was read the first and second time, and ordered to lie on the table.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. John G. Floyd, on the 23d of June last, in relation to the case of Alexander McLeod; and, after further debate, the hour elapsed, and the further consideration thereof was postponed.

The unfinished business of yesterday was resumed, viz: the motion of Mr. Proffit that the rules in relation to the order of business be suspended to enable him to move that the House do come to a resolution in the words following:

Whereas the Secretary of War, in his report of 31st May, 1841, makes use of the following language:

"The attention of the Department has been directed to the subject of Indian treaties, and particularly to the manner in which some of those recently made have been executed, involving the disbursement of large sums of money for the emigration and subsistence of Indians.

"The frauds that have been practised in the Southwest have been, to some extent, inquired into, but a full disclosure of all the facts has not been arrived at. Enough has, however, been brought to light to establish the conviction that certain contractors have realized the most enormous profits, the greater portion of which is believed to have been the direct fruit of gross fraud upon the Government or the Indians, practised by bribing some of the subordinate instruments in the public employment, or through the mismanagement of higher public agents, who can only screen themselves from the suspicion of a connivance in the frauds by submitting to the imputation of gross negligence, ignorance, or incompetency in the performance of their duty.

"From the involved character of these transactions and the difficulty of procuring full and precise information, it has been found impossible as yet to fix upon the point where these frauds commenced, or to ascertain the boundaries of responsibility among the numerous public officers and agents, through whose direct or indirect instrumentality, connivance, or ignorance, the contractors were able to consummate their unprincipled designs. This investigation has been prosecuted with the most painful reluctance, though persevered in under a paramount sense of duty; and enough has been disclosed to suggest an inquiry whether the guilty recipients may not be compelled to refund their iniquitous gains to the Treasury by process of law."

And whereas three months have now elapsed, and no further information has been given to this House of the nature or extent of the frauds alluded to, or of the persons engaged therein:

Resolved, That the Secretary of War be directed to lay before this House the names of the persons engaged in such frauds, and the extent of the frauds, as far as they have come to the knowledge of the War Department.

And on the question, Shall the rules be suspended for the purpose aforesaid?

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

On motion of Mr. Fillmore, it was

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be required to report to this House, as soon after the commencement of the next session as practicable, a statement of the privileges and restrictions of the commercial intercourse of the United States with all foreign nations, similar to that communicated to the Senate December 18, 1837, (Doc. 8, 1st session 26th Congress,) only chang-ng the denominations of the foreign money, weights, and measures into hose of the United States, according to the custom-house entries of domestic exports; and adding columns showing the average amount and value of the articles exported to each country for the years 1838, 1839, and 1840, and of the duties on the same; together with a summary of the average aggregate value of exports to each country for those years of articles the growth, produce, or manufacture of the United States, with the average amount of duties thereon accruing to each country.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. John G. Floyd on the 23d of June, in relation to the case of Alexander McLeod;

And, after further debate,

A motion was made by Mr. Boardman that the resolution do lie on the table.

And, pending the question on this motion,

The House, at 10 minutes after 11 o'clock A. M., adjourned until tomorrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

SATURDAY, September 4, 1841.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of War, transmitting a contract entered into by his predecessor (Mr. Poinsett) with Jean B. and Pelagi Ferribault, for the purchase of the island or point of land at the junction of the St. Peter's and Mississippi rivers, as a part of the military reserve at Fort Snelling, together with other papers in relation to said purchase; all of which were referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of War, transmitting reports of Lieutenant W. H. Emory, in relation to the situation and improvement of the harbor of New Castle, on the river Delaware; which were ordered to lie on the table.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Dickins their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have been notified that the President of the United States did, on the 1st September instant, approve and sign the bill (No. 7) entitled "An act to amend the act entitled 'An act to provide for taking the sixth census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the United States,' approved March 3, 1837, and the acts amending the same." Also, on the same day, the bill entitled "An act in addition to an act entitled 'An act to carry into effect a convention between the United States and the Mexican Republic.'" Also, the joint resolution for the distribution of 700 copies of the Digest of Patents. Also, the joint resolution to provide for the distribution of the printed returns of the sixth census.

The Senate have passed bills of this House of the following titles, viz:

No. 14. An act to provide for the better collection, safe-keeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States.

No. 36. An act authorizing the transmission of letters and packets to and from Mrs. Harrison free of postage.

No. 29. An act to provide for placing Greenough's statue of Washington in the rotundo of the Capitol, and for expenses therein mentioned.

No. 22. An act to provide for repairing the Potomac bridge, with an amendment to the last-mentioned bill (No. 22.)

The Senate have agreed to the amendment of this House to their fourth amendment to the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities."

And then the Secretary of the Senate withdrew.

On motion of Mr. Steenrod,

Ordered, That the papers on file in relation to the selection of sites on the Western waters for marine hospitals, not heretofore printed, be now printed for the use of the House.

On motion of Mr. Cross, it was

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to cause to be communicated to this House, whether any and, if any, what regulations exist by treaty stipulation or otherwise, between this Government and the Republic of Texas on the subject of the collection of debts, regaining the possession of property, and enforcing legal liabilities and rights by citizens of the one Government against those of the other; and, likewise, such laws and treaty stipulations as have direct relation to the commercial intercourse between the said Governments.

On motion of Mr. Halsted,

Resolved, That the case of David Levy, claiming a seat in this House as Delegate from Florida, be postponed until Monday next at 10 o'clock, and that he be heard in person or by counsel at the bar of the House upon his case, if he shall so desire.

Mr. Randolph, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined the bill (No. 14) entitled "An act to provide for the better collection, safe-keeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States," and found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

Mr. William O. Goode presented the proceedings of a meeting of citizens of the county of Brunswick, in the State of Virginia, held on the 23d August, 1841, expressive of their disapprobation of all the leading measures proposed by the political or whig party now in power at the present session of Congress; which proceedings were ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. William O. Goode also presented proceedings of a meeting of democratic State-rights republicans of Surry county, in the State of Virginia, held on the 28th August, 1841, also condemnatory of the measures proposed at the present extra session of Congress; which proceedings were laid on the table.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution moved by Mr. John G. Floyd, on the 23d June last, in relation to the case of Alexander McLeod.

The question recurred on the motion that the resolution do lie on the table; when the said motion was withdrawn.

And, after further debate, the motion that the resolution do lie on the table, was renewed;

There not being two-thirds in the affirmative, the motion did not prevail.

Mr. Fillmore, from the managers appointed to conduct the conference on the part of this House on the disagreeing vote of the two Houses on the second amendment of the Senate to the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," reported that the managers had freely conferred with the managers on the part of the Senate, and had agreed, unanimously, to recommend that the House of Representatives recede from its disagreement to said second amendment, and agree to the same.

The said second amendment proposes to insert in the bill an item in the words following:

"For surveys in reference to military defences of the frontier, inland and Atlantic, thirty thousand dollars."

And, after debate, the question was put, under the operation of the previous question, that the House do concur in the report of the managers at the said conference;

And so it was

Resolved, That the House do recede from its disagreement to said second amendment of the Senate to the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," and that the House do agree to said second amendment.

And the bill thus finally passed both Houses.

And, at ten minutes to one o'clock, the House adjourned until Monday next, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, 1841.

Mr. J. Irvin, from the Committee on Enrolled bills, reported that the committee had examined bills of the following titles, viz:

No. 29. An act to provide for placing Greenough's statue of Washington in the rotundo of the Capitol, and for expenses therein mentioned;

No. 36. An act authorizing the transmission of letters and packets to and from Mrs. Harrison free of postage;

And found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bills.

Mr. John W. Jones presented proceedings of a meeting of citizens of the county of Amelia, in the State of Virginia, on the 26th of August ultimo, disapproving the measures proposed by the dominant party at the present session of Congress; which proceedings were ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Summers moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the special committee appointed to investigate the expenditures from the contingent fund of the House of Representatives, have leave to report by bill or otherwise at the next session of Congress.

Mr. Watterson moved to amend the resolution by adding as follows:

"And that said committee be instructed to inquire into the propriety of directing the postmaster of the House to keep the stationary account of every member during each session of Congress."

Mr. Summers accepted this as a modification of his resolution, and as modified the resolution was agreed to.

Leave was given to withdraw the petition and papers of Lieut. M. F. Maury, and they were delivered to Mr. Dawson, of Georgia.

Leave was given to withdraw the petition and papers of Ephriam F. Gilbert, and they were delivered to Mr. Fillmore, of New York.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the report of the Committee of Elections on the contested election of David Levy, as the Delegate from the Territory of Florida: when

A motion was made by Mr. Levy that he be allowed until the first Monday of December next to procure testimony to prove his right to the seat he now occupies as a Delegate from said Territory.

And, after debate,

The House, at 1½ o'clock, adjourned until to morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

TUESDAY, September 7, 1841.

Mr. Harris presented proceedings of a meeting of the democratic party of Clark county, in the State of Virginia, held at the court-house on the 23d of August ultimo, disapproving of the measures of public policy proposed by the present dominant whig party at the present extra session of Congress; which proceedings were laid on the table.

Mr. Russell presented the proceedings of a convention of delegates of the democratic whig voters of the counties of Ross, Pike, Jackson, and Hocking, in the State of Ohio, approving the measures proposed by the dominant party at the present extra session of Congress; which proceedings were ordered to lie on the table.

On motion of Mr. Calhoun,

Resolved, That the Committee on the Public Buildings make inquiry as to the practicability of ventilating the Hall of the Representatives upon a plan recently adopted for the Houses of Parliament in England; and, if deemed practicable, to report how the same may be adapted to this Hall.

Mr. Taliaferro moved the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That the Clerk of this House do pay to William Smith the same compensation per diem and mileage that is allowed to members of Congress, computing the per diem allowance from the 9th day of July last, that being the period when the said Smith appeared before the Committee of Elections to contest the right of Linn Banks to a seat in the House of Representatives, to the 4th of September inclusive, that being the day when, at the instance of Linn Banks, the sitting member, the contest was postponed to the next session of Congress, in order to enable the said Banks to procure additional evidence to sustain a right to the seat he occupies.

The said resolution was read, debated, and ordered to lie on the table.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed the joint resolution (No. 3) "making it the duty of the Attorney General to examine into the titles of the lands or sites for the purpose of erecting thereon armories, and other public works and buildings, and for other purposes." And the Senate have passed an order in the words following:

IN SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES, September 7, 1841.

Ordered, That a message be sent to the House of Representatives requesting the return of the bill (S. 8) "to provide for the satisfaction of the outstanding Choctaw reservations, under the 19th article of the treaty of Dancing Rabbit Creek of September, 1830."

Attest: ASBURY DICKINS, Secretary.

The Committee on the Public Lands, to which the said bill from the Senate (No. 8) had been referred, thereupon returned the same to the Clerk's table; and then it was Ordered, That the Clerk deliver the said bill to the Senate in pursuance of the request of that body.

The House resumed the consideration of the report of the Committee of Elections on the contested election of David Levy, as the Delegate from the Territory of Florida.

The question recurred on the motion to postpone; when that motion was modified to read as follows:

That David Levy, the returned Delegate from the Territory of Florida, be allowed until the first Monday of December next to procure testimony to prove his right to the seat he now occupies as Delegate from said Territory; and that both parties have leave to take testimony.

And the question was put, that the House do agree to this motion;

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 123, / Nays, ... 44.

The amendment of the Senate to the bill (No. 22) entitled "An act to provide for repairing the Potomac bridge," was read and concurred in, with an amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

Mr. James Irvin, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined the bill (No. 8) entitled "An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities," and found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bill.

On motion of Mr. Proffit, it was Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be directed to inform this House what amount has been expended in the purchase of furniture for the custom-house at New York, since the fourth of March, 1841; also the items of furniture; also under what authority the purchases have been made, and out of what particular funds payment has been or is contemplated to be made.

Mr. W. C. Dawson, from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported a bill (No. 37) making an appropriation for repairing the forts on Staten island, in the State of New York; which was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The House then resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Linn reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the bill (No 37) making an appropriation for repairing the forts on Staten island, in the State of New York; which he was directed to report to the House without amendment.

Ordered, That said bill be engrossed and read a third time.

And the said bill, being brought in engrossed, was read the third time accordingly.

And the question was put, Shall it pass?

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said bill.

Mr. Ferris, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, to which was referred, on the 20th of July, the message from the President of the United States transmitting information desired by the House in relation to persons claiming to be American citizens, now British prisoners of State in Van Dieman's Land, made a report recommending the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the United States of America, That the President of the United States be requested to consider the propriety of entering into negotiations with the British Government for the purpose of obtaining the release of such citizens of the United States as may now be detained in Van Dieman's Land, or in any other part of the British dominions, for any alleged or actual participation in the late insurrection in the Canadas.

And, after debate on the resolution,

The House, at 1 o'clock, adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

WEDNESDAY, September 8, 1841.

The House resumed the consideration of the resolution reported by Mr. Ferris yesterday from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and which was under consideration at the adjournment.

A motion was made by Mr. Everett that the resolution do lie on the table;

And the question being put,

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, ... 79, / Nays, ... 82.

And after further debate on the resolution, the hour elapsed, and the debate was suspended till to-morrow.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed bills of this House of the following titles, viz:

No. 12. An act relating to duties and drawbacks;

No. 17. An act making appropriations for outfits and salaries of diplomatic agents; with amendments to each.

The Senate have agreed to the amendment of this House to their amendment to the bill (No. 22) entitled "An act to provide for repairing the Potomac bridge."

I am directed to return to this House the bill of the Senate (No. 8) entitled "An act to provide for the satisfaction of the outstanding Choctaw reservations under the 19th article of the treaty of Dancing Rabbit Creek of September, 1830," as the same has been corrected by the Senate, and again to ask the concurrence of this House therein. And then he withdrew.

The amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 17) entitled "An act making appropriations for outfits and salaries of diplomatic agents," were read, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 12) entitled "An act relating to duties and drawbacks," were read, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The bill from the Senate (No. 8) entitled "An act to provide for the satisfaction of the outstanding Choctaw reservations under the 19th article of the treaty of Dancing Rabbit Creek of September, 1830," was again referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed the bill of this House (No. 9) entitled "An act making an appropriation for the purchase of naval ordnance and ordnance stores, and for other purposes." The Senate have also postponed, until the first Monday in December next, the bill of this House (No 37) entitled "An act making an appropriation for repairing the forts on Staten island, in the State of New York." The Senate have passed the bill (No. 34) entitled "An act to repeal the sixth section of the act entitled 'An act to provide for the support of the Military Academy of the United States for the year 1838, and for other purposes,' and to prohibit the investment of the funds of the United States in stocks of the several States," with an amendment. And the Senate have passed "A joint resolution (No. 3) in relation to the purchase of domestic water-rotted hemp for the use of the United States Navy." And then he withdrew.

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Burnell reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 12) entitled "An act relating to duties and drawbacks."

The House proceeded to the consideration of the said amendments of the Senate, one of which proposes to insert in the list of articles, which by the bill are declared to be "exempt from duty," "tea and coffee."

A motion was made by Mr. Wise to amend the said amendment by inserting therein, after the word "coffee," the word "salt."

A motion was made by Mr. Stanly to amend the amendment proposed by Mr. Wise, by adding thereto iron, sugar, cotton, and tobacco.

Mr. Wise accepted Mr. Stanly's motion as a modification of his motion to amend.

The previous question was also moved by Mr. Stanly, and was demanded and put, viz: Shall the main question be now put?

And passed in the affirmative.

The question was then divided, so as that the same be put separately on each item.

And the main question was put, first, on adding to the amendment of the Senate, proposing to include in the list of free articles tea and coffee, the article salt;

And passed in the affirmative, { Yeas, ... 94, Nays, ... 88.

And thereupon the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1841.

The House resumed the consideration of the unfinished business of yesterday, to wit: the amendments of the Senate to the bill (No. 12) entitled "An act relating to duties and drawbacks."

A motion was made by Mr. Hopkins that the House do adjourn;* which was decided in the negative, every member present voting against it, viz:

Mr. John Quincy Adams

*The occasion of the motion to adjourn was this: The business before the House was highly important, and it was desirable to have a full attendance of members, with a view to which a call of the House was moved; but as the previous question, ordered yesterday, was still in operation, a call was forbidden by the rules; an adjournment was then moved, not for the purpose of adjourning for the day, but for the purpose of taking the yeas and nays thereon, and thereby giving time for the members to come in.

And so it was

Resolved, That the House do agree to all of the amendments of the Senate, with an amendment to the 17th and 21st amendments.

A message was received from the President of the United States by Mr. Robert Tyler, his private secretary, notifying that the President did this day approve and sign bills of the following titles, viz:

No. 8. An act making appropriations for various fortifications, for ordnance, and for preventing and suppressing Indian hostilities.

No. 36. An act authorizing the transmission of letters and packets to and from Mrs. Harrison free of postage.

No. 29. An act to provide for placing Greenough's statue of Washington in the rotundo of the Capitol, and for expenses therein mentioned.

No. 30. An act to make appropriations for the Post Office Department.

VETO OF THE FISCAL CORPORATION BILL.

The private secretary of the President of the United States also delivered the following message from the President of the United States, viz:

To the House of Representatives of the United States:

It is with extreme regret that I feel myself constrained by the duty faithfully to execute the office of President of the United States, and to the best of my ability to "preserve, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States," to return to the House in which it originated the bill "To provide for the better collection, safe-keeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States," with my written objections.

In my message sent to the Senate on the 16th day of August last, returning the bill "To incorporate the subscribers to the Fiscal Bank of the United States," I distinctly declared that my own opinion had been uniformly proclaimed to be against the exercise "of the power of Congress to create a National Bank to operate per se over the Union;" and, entertaining that opinion, my main objection to that bill was based upon the highest moral and religious obligations of conscience and the Constitution. I readily admit that whilst the qualified veto with which the Chief Magistrate is invested, should be regarded, and was intended by the wise men who made it a part of the Constitution, as a great conservative principle of our system, without the exercise of which, on important occasions, a mere representative majority might urge the Government in its legislation beyond the limits fixed by its framers, or might exert its just powers too hastily or oppressively, yet it is a power which ought to be most cautiously exerted, and perhaps never, except in a case eminently involving the public interest, or one in which the oath of the President, acting under his convictions both mental and moral, imperiously requires its exercise. In such a case he has no alternative. He must either exert the negative power entrusted to him by the Constitution, chiefly for its own preservation, protection, and defence, or commit an act of gross moral turpitude. Mere regard to the will of a majority must not, in a constitutional republic like ours, control this sacred and solemn duty of a sworn officer. The Constitution itself I regard and cherish as the embodied and written will of the whole people of the United States. It is their fixed and fundamental law, which they unanimously prescribe to the public functionaries—their mere trustees and servants. This their will, and the law which they have given us as the rule of our action, have no guard, no guarantee of preservation, protection, and defence, but the oaths which it prescribes to the public officers, the sanctity with which they shall religiously observe those oaths, and the patriotism with which the people shall shield it by their own sovereign will, which has made the Constitution supreme. It must be exerted against the will of a mere representative majority, or not at all. It is alone in pursuance of that will that any measure can reach the President; and to say that, because a majority in Congress have passed a bill, he should therefore sanction it, is to abrogate the power altogether, and to render its insertion in the Constitution a work of absolute supererogation. The duty is to guard the fundamental will of the people themselves from (in this case, I admit, unintentional) change or infraction by a majority in Congress. And in that light alone do I regard the constitutional duty which I now most reluctantly discharge. Is this bill, now presented for my approval or disapproval, such a bill as I have already declared could not receive my sanction? Is it such a bill as calls for the exercise of the negative power under the Constitution? Does it violate the Constitution by creating a National Bank to operate per se over the Union? Its title, in the first place, describes its general character. It is "An act to provide for the better collection, safe-keeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States." In style, then, it is plainly national in its character. Its powers, functions, and duties are those which pertain to the collecting, keeping, and disbursing the public revenue. The means by which these are to be exerted is a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States. It is a corporation created by the Congress of the United States, in its character of a National Legislature for the whole Union, to perform the fiscal purposes, meet the fiscal wants and exigencies, supply the fiscal uses, and exert the fiscal agencies of the Treasury of the United States. Such is its own description of itself. Do its provisions contradict its title? They do not. It is true that, by its first section, it provides that it shall be established in the District of Columbia; but the amount of its capital—the manner in which its stock is to be subscribed for and held; the persons and bodies, corporate and politic, by whom its stock may be held; the appointment of its directors, and their powers and duties; its fundamental articles, especially that to establish agencies in any part of the Union; the corporate powers and business of such agencies; the prohibition of Congress to establish any other corporation with similar powers for twenty years, with express reservation in the same clause to modify or create any bank for the District of Columbia, so that the aggregate capital shall not exceed five millions—without enumerating other features which are equally distinctive and characteristic, clearly show that it cannot be regarded as other than a Bank of the United States, with powers seemingly more limited than have heretofore been granted to such an institution. It operates per se over the Union by virtue of the unaided, and, in my view, assumed authority of Congress as a National Legislature, as distinguishable from a bank created by Congress for the District of Columbia, as the local Legislature of the District. Every United States Bank, heretofore created, has had power to deal in bills of exchange as well as local discounts. Both were trading privileges conferred, and both were exercised by virtue of the aforesaid power of Congress over the whole Union. The question of power remains unchanged, without reference to the extent of privilege granted. If this proposed corporation is to be regarded as a local bank of the District of Columbia, invested by Congress with general powers to operate over the Union, it is obnoxious to still stronger objections. It assumes that Congress may invest a local institution with general or national powers. With the same propriety that it may do this in regard to a bank of the District of Columbia, it may as to a State bank. Yet, who can indulge the idea that this Government can rightfully, by making a State bank its Fiscal Agent, invest it with the absolute and unqualified powers conferred by this bill? When I come to look at the details of the bill, they do not recommend it strongly to my adoption. A brief notice of some of its provisions will suffice.

1st. It may justify substantially a system of discounts of the most objectionable character. It is to deal in bills of exchange, drawn in one State and payable in another, without any restraint. The bill of exchange may have an unlimited time to run, and its renewability is nowhere guarded against. It may, in fact, assume the most objectionable form of accommodation paper. It is not required to rest on any actual, real, or substantial exchange basis: a drawer in one place becomes the accepter in another, and so in turn the accepter may become the drawer upon a mutual understanding. It may, at the same time, indulge in mere local discounts under the name of bills of exchange. A bill drawn at Philadelphia on Camden, New Jersey, at New York on a border town in New Jersey, at Cincinnati on Newport in Kentucky, not to multiply other examples, might, for any thing in this bill to restrain it, become a mere matter of local accommodation. Cities thus relatively situated would possess advantages over cities otherwise situated, of so decided a character as most justly to excite dissatisfaction.

2d. There is no limit prescribed to the premium in the purchase of bills of exchange, thereby correcting none of the evils under which the community now labors, and operating most injuriously upon the agricultural States, in which the irregularities in the rates of exchange are most severely felt. Nor are these the only consequences. A resumption of specie payments by the banks of those States would be liable to indefinite postponement; for, as the operation of the agencies of the interior would chiefly consist in selling bills of exchange, and the purchases could only be made in specie or the notes of banks paying specie, the State banks would either have to continue with their doors closed, or exist at the mercy of this national monopoly of brokerage. Nor can it be passed over without remark, that whilst the District of Columbia is made the seat of the principal bank, its citizens are excluded from all participation in any benefit it might afford, by a positive prohibition on the bank from all discounting within the District.

These are some of the objections which prominently exist against the details of the bill; others might be urged of much force, but it would be unprofitable to dwell upon them: suffice it to add, that this charter is designed to continue for twenty years without a competitor; that the defects to which I have alluded, being founded on the fundamental law of the corporation, are irrevocable; and that, if the objections be well-founded, it would be over-hazardous to pass the bill into a law.

In conclusion, I take leave most respectfully to say that I have felt the most anxious solicitude to meet the wishes of Congress in the adoption of a Fiscal Agent which, avoiding all constitutional objections, should harmonize conflicting opinions. Actuated by this feeling, I have been ready to yield much, in a spirit of conciliation, to the opinions of others. And it is with great pain that I now feel compelled to differ from Congress a second time in the same session. At the commencement of this session, inclined from choice to defer to the legislative will, I submitted to Congress the propriety of adopting a Fiscal Agent which, without violating the Constitution, would separate the public money from the Executive control, and perform the operations of the Treasury without being burdensome to the People or inconvenient or expensive to the Government. It is deeply to be regretted that this department of the Government cannot, upon constitutional and other grounds, concur with the legislative department in this last measure proposed to attain these desirable objects. Owing to the brief space between the period of the death of my lamented predecessor and my own installation into office, I was, in fact, not left time to prepare and submit a definitive recommendation of my own in my regular message; and since, my mind has been wholly occupied in a most anxious attempt to conform my action to the legislative will. In this communication I am confined by the Constitution to my objections simply to this bill; but the period of the regular session will soon arrive, when it will be my duty, under another clause of the Constitution, "to give to Congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as" I "shall judge necessary and expedient." And I most respectfully submit, in a spirit of harmony, whether the present differences of opinion should be pressed further at this time, and whether the peculiarity of my situation does not entitle me to a postponement of this subject to a more auspicious period for deliberation? The two Houses of Congress have distinguished themselves at this extraordinary session by the performance of an immense mass of labor, at a season very unfavorable both to health and action, and have passed many laws which I trust will prove highly beneficial to the interests of the country, and fully answer its just expectations. It has been my good fortune and pleasure to concur with them in all measures except this. And why should our difference on this alone be pushed to extremes? It is my anxious desire that it should not be. I, too, have been burdened with extraordinary labors of late, and I sincerely desire time for deep and deliberate reflection on this the greatest difficulty of my administration. May we not now pause until a more favorable time, when, with the most anxious hope that the Executive and Congress may cordially unite, some measure of finance may be deliberately adopted, promotive of the good of our common country?

I will take this occasion to declare that the conclusions to which I have brought myself are those of a settled conviction, founded, in my opinion, on a just view of the Constitution; that, in arriving at it, I have been actuated by no other motive or desire than to uphold the institutions of the country, as they have come down to us from the hands of our god-like ancestors; and that I shall esteem my efforts to sustain them, even though I perish, more honorable than to win the applause of men by a sacrifice of my duty and my conscience.

JOHN TYLER.

WASHINGTON, September 9, 1841.

The said message having been read, it was,

On motion of Mr. Morrow,

Ordered, That the message of the President of the United States be entered at large on the journal of the House; that it be printed for the use of the House; and that the House will to-morrow, at 12 o'clock M., proceed to reconsider the bill "to provide for the better collection, safekeeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States."

The House resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, a rencounter took place between two members of the House, viz: Mr. Henry A. Wise, of Virginia, and Mr. Edward Stanly, of North Carolina; and great heat and confusion arising, and the committee being in disorder, the Speaker took the chair and brought the House to order.

Mr. Ingersoll thereupon moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That a special committee be appointed to inquire into the circumstances of the rencounter on the floor of the House between Mr. Wise and Mr. Stanly, members of this House, and to report thereon to the House.

The previous question was moved by Mr. Hopkins: when

A motion was made by Mr. Andrews, of Kentucky, that the resolution do lie on the table; and, pending the question to lie,

A motion was made by Mr. Andrews, of Kentucky, at 10 minutes before 2 o'clock, P. M., that the House do adjourn;

And passed in the affirmative.

And the main question was put, viz: that the House do agree to the resolution moved by Mr. Ingersoll;

And passed in the affirmative.

And so it was

Resolved, That a special committee be appointed to inquire into the circumstances of the rencounter on the floor of this House between Mr. Wise and Mr. Stanly, members of this House, and to report thereon to the House.

Ordered, That the said committee consist of seven members.

Mr. Ingersoll, Mr. Morrow, Mr. Everett, Mr. Caruthers, Mr. Saltonstall, Mr. Holmes, and Mr. Ferris, were appointed the said special committee.

The House resumed its session in Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some further time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Pope reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the amendments of the Senate to the bill of this House (No. 17) entitled "An act making appropriations for outfits and salaries of diplomatic agents," and had directed him to report their disagreement to the first, and their agreement to the second of the said amendments, with an amendment.

The question recurred on concurring with the committee in their report: when

The previous question was demanded, put, and carried.

And the main question was put, first, on concurring in the first amendment of the Senate;

And was decided in the negative.

Second, on concurring in the second amendment of the Senate, as amended, to wit: add to the bill an item in the words following:

"Also so much as may be necessary to pay for compensation to the clerks and other officers in the service of the two Houses, the librarian and assistant librarians of Congress, the gate-keeper and lamp-lighter, for the services rendered by them during the present extra session, three months' additional pay; and to the messengers, assistant messengers, pages, and laborers of the two Houses and library of Congress, and the hostler of the House of Representatives, the usual allowances made at the close of each session; and to each of the police of the Capitol the same as to the messengers, to be paid under the direction of the Committee on the Contingent Fund of each House; and the regular pay of the messenger of the office of the Secretary of the Senate and office of the Clerk of the House of Representatives shall be equal to the pay of any other permanent messenger employed in the Capitol; also, a sum not exceeding $273 for completing the contract for printing and binding the catalogue of the library."

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

The House proceeded to the consideration of the amendment of the Senate to the bill (No. 34) entitled "An act to repeal the sixth section of the act entitled 'An act to provide for the support of the Military Academy of the United States for the year 1838, and for other purposes,' passed July 7, 1838, and to prohibit the investment of funds of the United States in stocks of the several States."

And the said amendment being read, was amended and concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

And, at 4 o'clock, the House adjourned until to-morrow, 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1841.

Mr. Everett asked to be excused from serving on the select committee appointed yesterday to inquire into the circumstances of the rencounter between Mr. Wise and Mr. Stanly. Mr. Everett's request was refused by the House.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary :

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have agreed to the amendment of this House to the 21st amendment of the Senate to the bill (No. 12) entitled "An act relating to duties and drawbacks," and have disagreed to the amendment to their 17th amendment to said bill, and ask a conference on the disagreeing votes on the said amendment; to which conference the Senate have appointed managers. And then he withdrew.

The House proceeded to the reconsideration of their amendment to the 17th amendment of the Senate to the said bill.

Mr. Fillmore moved that the House insist on their said amendment, which is as follows : The Senate propose to add to the second section a proviso in the words following : "Provided, That no duty which may be levied and collected in virtue of this section shall exceed 20 per cent. ad valorem." The House propose to strike out that proviso, and insert the following : "Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall in anywise affect the disposition of the proceeds of the public lands as provided for by an act passed at the present session of Congress."

And the question was put, under the operation of the previous question, that the House do insist on their said amendment.

Resolved, That the House agree to the conference asked by the Senate, and that Mr. Fillmore, Mr. Dawson, of Georgia, and Mr. Powell, be the managers to conduct the same on the part of this House.

Mr. Gilmer presented proceedings of a meeting of the democratic party of the county of Albemarle, in the State of Virginia, held on the 7th of September instant, in opposition to all the leading and prominent measures of the present session of Congress; which proceedings were ordered to lie on the table.

Mr. Yorke moved the following resolution:

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives in Congress assembled, That the two Houses of Congress will adjourn and close the present session on Monday, the 13th day of September, 1841, at 11 o'clock, A. M.

A motion was made by Mr. Atherton to amend the resolution by striking out "Monday, the 13th day of September, 1841, at 11 o'clock, A. M.," and inserting "to-morrow, at 7 o'clock, P. M." This motion was decided in the negative.

And the question was put, that the House do agree to the resolution;

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate therein.

The joint resolution from the Senate (No. 3) "in relation to the purchase of domestic water-rotted hemp for the use of the United States navy," was read the first and second time, and committed to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

The House then resolved itself into the Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, the Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Barnard reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union, generally, under consideration, particularly the resolution from the Senate (No. 3) "in relation to the purchase of domestic watter-rotted hemp for the use of the United States navy," which he was directed to report without amendment.

Ordered, That the said resolution be read a third time.

The said resolution was read the third time.

And the question was put, that it do pass;

And passed in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate therewith.

On motion of Mr. McKay, it was Resolved, That the Postmaster General be, and he is hereby, directed to take such measures as he may deem most eligible to ascertain the number of letters which may be carried in the mails during any one month or longer period of time that may be selected by him, charged with postage, designating, as far as practicable, the number chargeable with each rate, and the amount of revenue from each State and Territory receivable for each class, and also the number of free letters and packages that may be carried during the same time, distinguishing, as far as it can be done, those under the franks of members and officers of Congress from others.

Resolved, further, That the Postmaster General also ascertain the number of newspapers, pamphlets, and periodicals, classifying them, as far as it can be done, in reference to size and weight, that may be carried in the mails during the same time, designating the number chargeable with each rate of postage, and the amount of revenue receivable for each class, and also the number of newspapers received by printers thereof free of postage.

Resolved, further, That the Postmaster General ascertain the number of dead letters, and the amount that may have been paid to postmasters during the year ending the 30th June last, of the two cents allowed to them for the delivery of each free letter, and that he report to this House on the foregoing subjects at an early day in the next session.

A motion was made by Mr. Owsley that the rules in relation to the order of business be suspended to enable him to move a joint resolution proposing to amend the Constitution, as follows:

First. That no person who shall have been elected President of the United States shall be again eligible to that office.

Second. Every bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate shall, before it become a law, be presented to the President of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, a majority of all the members elected to that House shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by a majority of all the members elected to that House, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both Houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journa of each House respectively.

And on the question, Shall the rules be suspended for the purpose aforesaid?

There appeared, { Yeas, ... 87,

Two-thirds not voting in the affirmative, the question to suspend the rules was lost.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have concurred in the report of the managers appointed to conduct the conference on the disagreeing vote of the two Houses, on the bill of this House (No. 12) "relating to duties and drawbacks."

The Senate have receded from their first amendment to the bill (No. 17) entitled "An act making appropriations for outfits and salaries of diplomatic agents;" and have concurred in the amendment of this House to their second amendment to said bill.

The Senate have concurred in the first amendment of this House to their amendment to the bill of this House (No. 34) entitled "An act to repeal the sixth section of the act entitled 'An act to provide for the support of the Military Academy for the year 1838, and for other purposes,' and to prohibit the investment of funds of the United States in stocks of the several States," with an amendment thereto; and have disagreed to the second amendment of this House to their amendment to said bill. And then he withdrew.

Mr. James Irvin, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined bills and resolutions of the following titles, viz:

No. 9. An act making an appropriation for the purchase of naval ordnance and ordnance stores, and for other purposes;

No. 17. An act making appropriations for outfits and salaries of diplomatic agents, and for other purposes;

No. 22. And act to provide for repairing the Potomac bridge;

No. 3. Joint resolution making it the duty of the Attorney General to examine into the titles of the lands or sites for the purpose of erecting thereon armories and other public works or buildings, and for other purposes;

No. 3. Joint resolution in relation to the purchase of domestic water-rotted hemp for the use of the United States navy;

and found the same to be truly enrolled: when

The Speaker signed the said bills and resolutions.

The House proceeded to the reconsideration of the bill (No. 14) passed by the two Houses of Congress, entitled "An act to provide for the better collection, safe-keeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States;" which was presented to the President of the United States for his approbation or disapprobation on the 4th day of September, instant, and returned by the President yesterday with objections.

The said bill is in the words following:

AN ACT to provide for the better collection, safe-keeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That a Fiscal Corporation of the United States shall be established in the District of Columbia, with a capital of twenty-one millions of dollars, divided into two hundred and ten thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each share. Seventy thousand shares shall be subscribed for by the United States, and the residue of the said capital may be subscribed and paid for by individuals, companies, corporations, or States, the said individuals being citizens of the United States, and the said companies and corporations being of the several States, or of the United States, or Territories thereof, in the manner hereinafter specified. But Congress reserve to itself the power of augmenting the capital of the said corporation, at any time after the 1st of January, 1851, by authorizing the addition thereto of a sum not exceeding fourteen millions of dollars, divided into shares as aforesaid, which may be subscribed for, at not less than their par value, by the United States, or by any State, corporation, company, or individuals, in the manner directed by law: Provided, That the United States shall not subscribe for more than one-third of the said additional capital.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That subscriptions for the sum of fourteen millions of dollars, towards constituting the capital of the said corporation, shall be opened on the first Monday of October next, at the following places, that is to say: at Washington, in the District of Columbia; at Portland, in the State of Maine; at Portsmouth, in the State of New Hampshire; at Boston, in the State of Massachusetts; at Providence, in the State of Rhode Island; at Hartford, in the State of Connecticut; at Burlington, in the State of Vermont; at New York, in the State of New York; at New Brunswick, in the State of New Jersey; at Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania; at Wilmington, in the State of Delaware; at Baltimore, in the State of Maryland; at Richmond, in the State of Virginia; at Lexington, in the State of Kentucky; at Cincinnati, in the State of Ohio; at Raleigh, in the State of North Carolina; at Nashville, in the State of Tennessee; at Charleston, in the State of South Carolina; at Savannah, in the State of Georgia; at New Orleans, in the State of Louisiana; at Indianapolis, in the State of Indiana; at Mobile, in the State of Alabama; at St. Louis, in the State of Missouri; at Springfield, in the State of Illinois; at Detroit, in the State of Michigan; at Natchez, in the State of Mississippi; and at Little Rock, in the State of Arkansas. And the said subscriptions shall be opened under the superintendence of five commissioners at Washington city, and of three commissioners at each of the other places aforesaid, to be appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, who is hereby authorized to make such appointments, and shall continue open every day, from the time of opening the same, between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon, for the term of ten days, exclusive of Sundays, when the same shall be closed; and immediately thereafter the commissioners, or any two of them, at the respective places aforesaid, shall cause two transcripts or copies of such subscriptions to be made, one of which they shall send to the Secretary of the Treasury, one they shall retain, and the original they shall transmit, within seven days from the closing of the subscriptions as aforesaid, to the commissioners at Washington city. And on the receipt of the said original subscriptions, or either of the said copies thereof, if the original be lost, mislaid, or detained, the commissioners at Washington aforesaid, or a majority of them, shall immediately thereafter convene, and proceed to take an account of the said subscriptions; and if more than the amount of fourteen millions of dollars shall have been subscribed, then the said last mentioned commissioners shall deduct the amount of such excess from the largest subscriptions, in such manner as that no subscription shall be reduced in amount while any one remains larger: Provided, That if the subscriptions, taken at either of the places aforesaid, shall not exceed fourteen hundred shares, there shall be no reduction of such subscriptions, nor shall, in any case, the subscriptions taken at either of the places aforesaid, be reduced below that amount. And, in case the aggregate amount of the said subscriptions shall exceed fourteen millions of dollars, the said last mentioned commissioners, after having apportioned the same, as aforesaid, shall cause lists of the said apportioned subscriptions to be made out, including in each list the apportioned subscription for the place where the original subscription was made, one of which lists they shall transmit to the commissioners, or one of them, under whose superintendence such subscriptions were originally made, that the subscribers may thereby ascertain the number of shares to them respectively apportioned, as aforesaid; and in case the aggregate amount of the said subscriptions made during the period aforesaid, at all places aforesaid, shall not amount to fourteen millions of dollars, the subscriptions to complete the said sum shall be and remain open at Washington city, aforesaid, under the superintendence of the commissioners appointed for that place, until the first day of January next, if not sooner completed; and the subscriptions may be then made by any individual, company, corporation, or State, for any number of shares, not exceeding in the whole the amount required to complete the said sum of fourteen millions of dollars.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for any individual, company, corporation, or State, when the subscriptions shall be opened as heretofore directed, to subscribe for any number of shares of the capital of the said corporation not exceeding two thousand shares; and that the sums so subscribed shall be payable and paid in bullion, in gold or silver coin of the United States, or in foreign coins, made and declared current in the United States by the act of Congress of the 25th of June, 1834, entitled "An act regulating the value of certain foreign silver coins in the United States," and by the act of the 28th of June, 1834, entitled "An act regulating the value of certain gold coins within the United States," at the following rates, to wit: the sovereign of Great Britain, at ninety-four cents and sixty-two hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the pieces of forty and twenty francs of France, at ninety-two cents and ninety-two hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloon and parts of Spain, at eighty-nine cents and fifty-one hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloon and parts of Mexico, at eighty-nine cents and fifty-one hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloon and parts of Peru, at eighty-nine cents and seventy-one hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloon and parts of Chili, at eighty-nine cents and seventy-one hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloons of Bogota, Colombia, at eighty-nine cents and ninety-two hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloons of Popayan, Colombia, at eighty-eight cents and sixty-eight hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloons of 1837 and 1838 of New Grenada, at ninety cents and two hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloons of Boliva, at eighty-nine cents and ninety-two hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloons of Central America, at eighty-five cents and seventy-nine hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the doubloons of La Plata, at eighty-four cents and twenty-four hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the johannes and half of Portugal, at ninety-four cents and forty-six hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the crown (of 5,000 reis) and a half since 1838, of Portugal, at ninety-four cents and forty-six hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; the piece (of 5,400 reis) of 1838, of Brazil, at ninety-four cents and forty-six hundredths of a cent for each pennyweight; and in foreign silver coins at the value fixed upon them severally in the act first above named, or in Treasury notes of the United States, or in certificates of stock issued under the act entitled "An act authorizing a loan not exceeding the sum of twelve millions of dollars," approved July 21st, 1841. And the payments made in Treasury notes or in the said certificates of stock shall be paid and received at the par value thereof, including all interest which shall have accrued thereon on the day of such payment. And the payments of the said subscriptions shall be made and completed by the subscribers respectively at the time and in the manner following, that is to say: at the time of subscribing there shall be paid ten dollars on each share in bullion, in gold or silver coin, in the Treasury notes of the United States, or in the said certificates of stock, and twenty-five dollars more in bullion, in coin, Treasury notes, or certificates of stock, as aforesaid, at the expiration of three calendar months from the first Monday in October, 1841; and there shall be paid the further sum of twenty-five dollars on each share in bullion, in gold or silver coin, Treasury notes, or certificates of stock, as aforesaid, in eight calendar months from the first Monday in October, 1841; and forty dollars more in bullion, in coin, Treasury notes, or certificates of stock, as aforesaid, at the expiration of twelve calendar months from the said first Monday.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That if, in consequence of the apportionment of the shares in the capital of the said corporation among the subscribers, in the case and in the manner hereinbefore provided, any subscriber shall have delivered to the commissioners, at the time of subscribing, a greater amount of bullion, or gold or silver coin, Treasury notes, or certificates of stock, then shall be necessary to complete the payments for the share or shares of such subscribers, apportioned as aforesaid, the commissioners shall only retain so much of the said bullion, or gold or silver coin, Treasury notes, or certificates of stock, as shall be necessary to complete such payments; and shall, forthwith, return the surplus thereof, on application for the same, to the subscribers lawfully entitled thereto. And the commissioners, respectively, shall deposite the bullion, or gold and silver coin, Treasury notes, and certificates of stock, by them respectively received, as aforesaid, from the subscribers to the capital of the said corporation, in some place of secure and safe-keeping, so that the same may and shall be specifically delivered and transferred, as the same were by them respectively received, to the Fiscal Corporation of the United States, or to their order, as soon as shall be required after the organization of the said corporation. And the said commissioners appointed to superintend the subscriptions to the capital of the said corporation, as aforesaid, shall receive a reasonable compensation for their services, respectively, and shall be allowed all reasonable charges and expenses incurred in the execution of their trust, to be paid by the corporation out of the funds thereof.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That no certificate of stock, or any subscription, or any right thereto, shall be transferred, except by operation of law, until after the whole amount of the second instalment shall have been fully paid; and every contract or agreement made or entered into for the transfer of such stock, or for the holding the same in trust for the use of any other person, except the person in whose name it is subscribed in the books, or for whose use it is therein expressed, shall be wholly and absolutely null and void in law. That it shall be lawful for the president, directors, and company of the said corporation, to sell and transfer for gold and silver coin, or bullion, Treasury notes, and certificates of stock, subscribed to the capital of the said corporation, as aforesaid.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That, at the opening of the subscription to the capital stock of the said corporation, the Secretary of the Treasury shall subscribe, or cause to be subscribed, on behalf of the United States, the said number of seventy thousand shares, amounting to seven millions of dollars, as aforesaid; which said subscriptions, so made by the Secretary of the Treasury, as aforesaid, shall be paid in bullion, in gold or silver coin, or in stock of the United States, bearing interest at the rate of five per centum per annum; and if payment thereof, or of any part thereof, be made in public stock, bearing interest as aforesaid, the said interest shall be payable half yearly, to commence from the time of making such payments on account of the said subscription; and the principal of the said stock shall be redeemable in any sums, and at any periods, which the Government shall deem fit, after the expiration of fifteen years. And the Secretary of the Treasury shall cause certificates of public stock, to the amount of seven millions of dollars, to be prepared and made in the usual form, and shall, at his discretion, and whensoever he shall think fit, sell the same for gold or silver coin, or bullion, at not less than the par value thereof, or he shall pay over and deliver two millions four hundred and fifty thousand dollars of the same to the said corporation, on the first day of January, eighteen hundred and forty-two, and one million seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars on the first day of May, and two millions eight hundred thousand dollars of the same on the first day of September, in the same year; which said stock it shall be lawful for the said corporation to sell and transfer for gold and silver coin, or bullion, at their discretion. And if the Secretary of the Treasury shall sell the whole or any part of the said stock, he shall pay to the said corporation gold and silver coin or bullion to the nominal amount of stock so sold in like instalments: Provided, nevertheless, That if the amount of stock which may be offered for the subscription of individuals, States, or corporations, shall not be fully taken prior to the first day of January next, and the deficiency do not exceed one-third, the residue shall be subscribed for by the Secretary of the Treasury, on behalf of the United States, and shall be sold by him as soon thereafter as he can obtain its par value; and for which the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to issue stocks of the United States, in manner as before provided.

Sec. 7. And be it further enacted, That the subscribers to the said corporation, their successors and assigns, shall be, and they are hereby, created a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of "the Fiscal Corporation of the United States," and shall so continue until the first day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two; and by that name shall be, and are hereby, made able and capable in law to have, purchase, receive, possess, enjoy, and retain, to them and their successors, lands, rents, tenements, hereditaments, goods, chattels, and effects, of whatsoever kind, nature, and quality; and the same to sell, grant, demise, alien, or dispose of; to sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded, answer and be answered, defend and be defended, in all State courts having competent jurisdiction, and in any circuit court of the United States; and also to make, have, and use a common seal, and the same to break, alter, and renew at their pleasure; and also to ordain, establish, and put in execution, such by-laws, and ordinances, and regulations, as they shall deem necessary and convenient for the government of the said corporation, not being contrary to the constitution thereof, or to the laws of the United States; and, generally, to do and execute all and singular the acts, matters, and things, which to them it shall or may appertain to do; subject, nevertheless, to the rules, regulations, restrictions, limitations, and provisions, hereinafter prescribed and declared.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That, for the management of the affairs of the said corporation, there shall be nine directors, three of whom shall be annually appointed by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and six of whom shall be annually elected at the banking-house in the city of Washington, on the first Monday of January in each year, by the qualified stockholders of the capital of said corporation, other than the United States, and by a plurality of votes then and there actually given, according to the scale of voting hereinafter prescribed: Provided, always, That no member of Congress, or of the respective State Legislatures, and no officer or contractor of the Federal or State Governments, shall be a director in said corporation, and that no person, being a director in the Fiscal Corporation of the United States, shall be a director of any bank; and should any such director act as a director in any bank, it shall forthwith vacate his appointment in the direction of the Fiscal Corporation of the United States; and the directors so duly appointed and elected shall be capable of serving, by virtue of such appointment and choice, from the first Monday in the month of January of each year, until the end and expiration of the first Monday in the month of January of the year next ensuing the time of each annual election, to be held by the stockholders as aforesaid. And the board of directors annually, at the first meeting after their election in each and every year, shall proceed to elect one of the directors to be president of the corporation, who shall hold the said office during the same period for which the directors are appointed and elected as aforesaid: Provided, also, That the first appointment and election of the directors and president of the said corporation shall be at the time and for the period hereinafter declared: And provided, also, That, in case it should at any time happen that an appointment or election of directors, or an election of the president of the said corporation, should not be so made as to take effect on any day when, in pursuance of this act, they ought to take effect, the said corporation shall not for that cause be deemed to be dissolved; but it shall be lawful at any other time to make such appointments, and to hold such elections, (as the case may be,) and the manner of holding the elections shall be regulated by the by-laws and ordinances of the said corporation; and until such appointments or elections be made, the directors and president of the said corporation for the time being shall continue in office: And provided, also, That in case of the death, resignation, or removal of the president of the said corporation, the directors shall proceed to elect another president from the directors as aforesaid; and in case of the death, resignation, or absence from the United States, or removal of a director from office, the vacancy shall be supplied by the President of the United States, or by the surviving directors, as the case may be; but the President of the United States alone shall have power to remove either of the directors appointed by him as aforesaid.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That as soon as the sum of ten dollars on each share, in bullion, gold or silver coin, Treasury notes, or certificates of stock, shall have been actually re ceived on account of the subscriptions to the capital of the said corporation, (exclusively of the subscription aforesaid on the part of the United States,) notice thereof shall be given, by the persons under whose superintendence the subscriptions shall have been made at the city of Washington, in at least two newspapers printed in each of the places (if so many be printed in such place respectively) where subscriptions shall have been made; and the said persons shall, at the same time, and in like manner, notify a time and place, within the said city of Washington, at the distance of at least thirty days from the time of such notification, for proceeding to the election of six directors, as aforesaid; and it shall be lawful for such election to be then and there made. And the President of the United States is hereby authorized, during the next session of Congress hereafter, to nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint three directors of the said corporation, whether they be stockholders or not, any thing in the provisions of this act to the contrary notwithstanding; and the persons who shall be elected and appointed, as aforesaid, shall be the first directors of the said corporation, and shall proceed to elect one of the directors to be president of the said corporation; and the directors and president of the said corporation, so appointed and elected, as aforesaid, shall be capable of serving in their respective offices, by virtue thereof, until the end and expiration of the first Monday of the month of January next ensuing the said appointments and elections: Provided, That it shall and may be lawful for the President of the United States, as soon as ten dollars on each share are paid, in manner herein provided, to appoint three directors, who shall serve until they are superseded by appointments made by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, as hereinbefore provided: And provided further, That as soon as the sum of four millions of dollars, in bullion, gold or silver coin, or in Treasury notes, or certificates of stock, shall have been actually received on account of the subscriptions to the capital of the said corporation, (exclusively of the subscription of seven millions aforesaid on the part of the United States,) the operations of the same shall thenceforth commence and continue at the city of Washington.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That the directors, for the time being, shall have power to appoint such officers, clerks, and servants, under them, as shall be necessary for executing the business of the said corporation, and to allow them such compensation for their services respectively, as shall be reasonable; and shall be capable of exercising such other powers and authorities, for the well-governing and ordering of the affairs of the said corporation, as shall be prescribed, fixed, and determined by the by-laws, regulations, and ordinances of the same.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the following rules, restrictions, limitations, and provisions, shall form and be fundamental articles of the constitution of said corporation, to wit:

1st. The number of votes to which the stockholders shall be entitled, in voting for directors, shall be according to the number of shares he, she, or they, respectively, shall hold, in the proportions following, that is to say: for one share, and not more than two shares, one vote; for every two shares above two, and not exceeding ten, one vote; for every four shares above ten, and not exceeding thirty, one vote; for every six shares above thirty, and not exceeding sixty, one vote; for every eight shares above sixty, and not exceeding one hundred, one vote; for every ten shares above one hundred, one vote; but no person, co-partnership, or body politic, shall be entitled to a greater number than sixty votes; and, after the first election, no share or shares shall confer a right of voting, which shall not have been holden three calendar months previous to the day of election; no proxy to any officer of the bank, or of more than ninety days' standing, shall be valid; no proxy shall have a right to give more than three hundred votes; and stockholders actually resident citizens of the United States, and none others, may vote in elections by proxy or otherwise; and any person holding a proxy may be required by any stockholder, at the time of voting, to make oath that he believes his principal, in whose behalf he votes, to be the bona fide holder of the share or shares, and that no sale or transfer has been made for the purpose of evading the scale of voting established by this act.

2d. Not more than five-sixths of the directors elected by the stockholders, who shall be in office at the time of an annual election, shall be elected for the succeeding year; and no director shall hold his office for more than five years out of six in succession; but the director who shall be president at the time of an election, may always be reappointed, or selected, as the case may be.

3d. None but a stockholder, resident citizen, shall be a director. Not more than two directors shall be elected, and not more than one appointed, out of any one State; and they shall be paid by said corporation such reasonable compensation for their services, as the stockholders, at their annual meeting, shall direct; but the salary of the president shall be fixed by the directors.

4th. Not less than five directors shall constitute a board for the transaction of business, of whom the president shall always be one; and at least three of the five shall be of the directors elected by the stockholders; and in case of sickness or necessary absence of the president, his place shall be supplied by any other director whom he, by writing, under his hand, shall depute for that purpose; and the director so deputed may do and transact all the necessary business belonging to the office of the president of the said corporation, during the continuance of the sickness or necessary absence of the president.

5th. A number of stockholders, not less than sixty, who, together, shall be proprietors of one thousand shares, or upwards, shall have power at any time to call a general meeting of the stockholders, for purposes relative to the institution, giving at least four weeks' notice in the public newspapers of the place where the corporation is seated, and specifying in such notice the object or objects of such meeting.

6th. Each cashier or treasurer, before he enters upon the duties of his office, shall be required to give bond, with two or more sureties, to the satisfaction of the directors, in a sum not less than fifty thousand dollars, with a condition for his good behaviour, and the faithful performance of his duties to the corporation.

7th. The lands, tenements, and hereditaments, which it shall be lawful for the said corporation to hold, shall be only such as shall be requisite for its immediate accommodation, in relation to the convenient transaction of its business, and such as shall have been purchased at sales upon judgments or decrees, or shall have been assigned or set off to said corporation in satisfaction of said judgments or decrees, which shall have been obtained for debts due, or as have been bona fide mortgaged to it by way of security: Provided, That the said corporation shall not hold any one parcel of such lands or tenements, not necessary for the convenient transaction of its business, for a longer period than five years.

8th. The total amount of debts which the said corporation shall at any time owe, whether by bond, bill, note, or other contract, over and above the debt or debts due for money deposited in the corporation, shall not exceed the sum of seventeen millions five hundred thousand dollars, unless the contracting of any greater debt shall have been previously authorized by law. In case of excess, the directors under whose administration it shall happen, shall be liable for the same in their natural and private capacities; and an action of debt may, in such case, be brought against them, or any of them, their, or any of their heirs, executors, or administrators, in any court of record of the United States, by any creditor or creditors of the said corporation, and may be prosecuted to judgment and execution, any condition, covenant, or agreement, to the contrary notwithstanding; but this provision shall not be construed to exempt the said corporation, or the lands, tenements, goods, or chattels of the same, from being also liable for, and chargeable with, the said excess. Such of the said directors as may have been absent when the said excess was contracted or created, or who may have dissented from the resolution or act whereby the same was so contracted or created, may respectively exonerate themselves from being so liable by forthwith giving notice of the fact, and of their absence or dissent, to the President of the United States, and to the stockholders, at a general meeting, which they shall have power to call for that purpose.

9th. The said corporation shall not, directly or indirectly, deal or trade in any thing except foreign bills of exchange, including bills or drafts drawn in one State or Territory, the District of Columbia included, and payable in another, or gold or silver coin, or bullion, or goods, or lands purchased on execution, sued out on judgments, or decrees obtained for the benefit of said corporation, or taken bona fide in the payment of debts due to it, or goods which shall be the proceeds of its lands. It shall not be at liberty to purchase any public debt whatever; nor shall the board of directors of the said corporation make donations or presents of its funds to any officer or director for any purpose whatever.

10th. It shall be lawful for the said corporation to loan to the Government of the United States to an amount not exceeding one million of dollars, and for a period not exceeding one hundred and eighty days, or to any particular State to an amount not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars, or for any period not exceeding one hundred and eighty days; but such loans may be for a larger amount and for a longer period if previously authorized by a law of the United States.

11th. The stock of the said corporation shall be assignable and transferable, according to such rules as shall be instituted in that behalf, by the by-laws and ordinances of the same.

12th. The bills obligatory and of credit, under the seal of the said corporation, which shall be made to any person or persons, shall be assignable by endorsement thereupon, under the hands of such person or persons, and his, her, or their executors, or administrators, and of his, her, or their assignee or assignees, so as absolutely to transfer and vest the property thereof in each and every assignee or assignees successively; and to enable such assignee or assignees, and his, her, or their executors, or administrators, to maintain an action thereupon, in his, her, or their own name or names: Provided, That said corporation shall not make any bill obligatory, or of credit, or other obligation under its seal, for the payment of a sum less than five thousand dollars, or for a longer period than one year.

13th. All bills or notes issued by order of the said corporation, signed by the president and countersigned by the principal cashier or treasurer thereof, promising the payment of money to any person or persons, his, her, or their order, or to bearer, although not under the seal of the said corporation, shall be binding and obligatory upon the same in like manner, and with like force and effect, as upon any natural person or persons, if issued by him, her, or them, in his, her, or their private or natural capacity or capacities, and shall be assignable and negotiable in like manner as if they were so issued by such natural person or persons; that is to say: those which shall be payable to any person or persons, his, her, or their order, shall be assignable by endorsement, in like manner and with the like effect as foreign bills of exchange now are; and those which are payable to bearer shall be assignable and negotiable by delivery only: Provided, That all bills or notes, so to be issued by said corporation, shall be made payable on demand.

14th. Half yearly dividends may be made of so much of the profits of the corporation as shall appear to the directors advisable, not exceeding three and a half per cent. for any one half year. When a surplus beyond that limit shall have accumulated in the said corporation to an amount exceeding two millions of dollars, the excess beyond that sum, and beyond the annual dividends, as such excess accrues, shall be annually transferred and paid over to the Treasurer of the United States; and, upon the expiration of this charter, any surplus which may be in the said corporation, after the payment of dividends as aforesaid, and after reimbursing the capital of the stockholders, shall, in like manner, be paid into the Treasury of the United States. If the dividends shall in any half year fall below the above limitation of three and a half per cent., the Secretary of the Treasury shall, out of the surpluses which shall have been previously paid over to the Treasurer, but out of no other funds or money in the Treasury of the United States, pay a sum sufficient to make up the deficiency. The directors shall make no dividends, except from the nett profits arising from the business of the corporation, and shall not, at any time, or in any manner, pay to the stockholders, or any of them, any part of the capital stock of the said corporation; nor shall they, at any time, or in any way or manner, reduce the capital stock of the said corporation, without the consent of Congress; nor shall the said directors apply, or suffer to be applied, any portion of the funds of the said corporation, directly or indirectly, to the purchase of shares of its own stock; nor shall the said directors, or any of them, receive, as a security for any loan or discount, or in any payment or satisfaction of any debt due to the said corporation, except in the necessary course of collection of debts previously contracted in a bona fide manner, in the ordinary course of its banking operations, and actually due and unpaid, any shares of the capital stock of the said corporation; and any shares of the said capital stock, so received in payment of any such debts, shall be, in good faith, sold and transferred from the hands and ownership of the said corporation, within ten months from the time of its transfer to and reception by the same, in the manner and for the purposes aforesaid; nor shall the said directors, or any of them, receive, from any banking or other stock corporation, shares of the stock of any such banking or other stock corporation, or any notes, bonds, or other evidences of debt issued by or upon the credit of such corporation, in exchange for the shares of stock, notes, bonds, or other evidences of debt of the corporation created by this act.

And the said directors, in determining what are "nett profits" of the said corporation, from which the dividends allowed by this article may be made, shall first deduct from the profits of the business of the said corporation all expenses paid or incurred, both ordinary and extraordinary, attending the management of the affairs and the transaction of the business of the said corporation; all interest paid, or then accrued, due and unpaid, on debts owing by the said corporation, and all losses sustained by the said corporation; and in the computation of such losses, all debts owing to the corporation shall be included which shall have remained due, without prosecution, and no interest shall have been paid thereon for more than one year; or on which judgments shall have been recovered that shall have remained for more than two years unsatisfied, and on which no interest shall have been paid during that period. If there shall be a failure in the payment of any part of any sum subscribed to the capital of the said corporation, the stockholder so delinquent shall lose the benefit of any dividend which may have accrued prior to the time for making such payment and during the delay of the same.

15th. Once in every year the directors shall lay before the stockholders, at a general meeting, or publish, for their information, an exact and particular statement of the debts which shall remain unpaid after the expiration of the original credit, and of the surplus of the profits, if any, after deducting losses and dividends.

16th. That, for the purpose of carrying on and transacting the business of the said corporation herein and hereby authorized, and fulfilling the duties herein and hereby required, it shall be lawful for the directors of the said corporation, from time to time, to establish agencies in any State or Territory of the United States, at any place or places they may deem safe and proper, and to employ any agent or agents, or, with the approbation of the Secretary of the Treasury, any bank or banks, under such agreements, and subject to such regulations, as they may deem just and proper, not being contrary to law or to this charter; and the same agencies, at their pleasure, to relinquish or discontinue, and the same agent or agents to remove, and to commit to such agents, agencies, or banks, such portions of the business and concerns of the said corporation as they may think fit: Provided, always, That neither the said corporation, nor any agent or agents thereof, nor any bank or banks employed by the same, shall be authorized to discount promissory notes with the moneys or means of the said corporation, but shall employ the same in the business and dealing in foreign bills of exchange, including bills and drafts drawn in one State or Territory and payable in another.

17th. The officer at the head of the Treasury Department of the United States shall be furnished, from time to time, as often as he may require, not exceeding once a week, with such statements of the condition and business of said corporation as he may specially direct; and he shall also have a right to inspect, or cause to be inspected, by some one by him duly authorized, all the books, papers, and accounts of the said corporation, of every kind, including the accounts of individuals, and to make, or cause to be made, an examination into the affairs, transactions, and condition of the corporation; and the condition of the corporation shall be published monthly, in such manner and with such particularity as the Secretary of the Treasury shall direct. And the said corporation and its agencies shall be open at all times to the full and unrestricted inspection and examination of a committee of either House of Congress, a committee of the stockholders, and to each and all of the directors of the corporation. And, for the purpose of securing a full and unrestricted inspection and examination as aforesaid, the Secretary of the Treasury, or any one by him duly authorized, or a committee of either House of Congress, may respectively summon and examine, under oath, all the directors, officers, or agents of the said corporation, and of any agency thereof, and such other witnesses as they may think proper, in relation to the affairs, transactions, and condition of the corporation; and any such director, officer, agent, or other person, who shall refuse, without justifiable cause, to appear and testify, when thereto required, as aforesaid, shall, on conviction, be subject to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, and imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year. No part of the proceedings of the corporation, nor any loans or payments made by it, nor any order given by it, shall be concealed or kept secret from the Government directors, nor shall said directors be excluded from the free and full participation in all the transactions and business of the institution.

18th. No note shall be issued of a less denomination than five dollars; but Congress may hereafter, if it shall think fit, restrain the lowest denomination of notes to ten dollars; nor shall the said corporation knowingly increase the amount of the debts due to it, when the notes in circulation exceed three times the amount of specie in its vaults; and whenever such excess takes place, it shall be the duty of the said corporation to return to such proportion as speedily as shall be safe and practicable.

19th. The debts due and becoming due to said corporation shall never, at any one time, exceed the amount of the capital stock actually paid in, and seventy-five per cent. advance thereon.

20th. The said corporation shall not hold any public debt or stocks, or the stocks of any incorporated institution, unless taken for the security or in satisfaction of debts previously contracted, except the stock paid in by the United States on their subscription.

21st. The said corporation shall not pay out the notes of any bank, or any thing except legal coin, or its own notes.

22d. The directors of the said corporation shall not, within the District of Columbia, buy or discount any bill of exchange, nor make any loan whatever, except it be a loan to the Government of the United States, according to the provisions of law.

23d. All notes or bills, adapted and intended to circulate as money, shall be prepared under the direction of the parent institution at Washington, shall be signed as hereinbefore provided for, and shall be made payable at the house of said corporation in Washington, or at some one of its agencies, to be specified on the face of the note or bill, except notes of a denomination not exceeding ten dollars, which may be signed by an authorized person at the agency at which they may be issued and made payable, but shall, nevertheless, be prepared at, and authorized by, the parent institution at Washington. And no notes or bills but such as are prepared and signed, as aforesaid, shall be issued by any of the said agencies: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to prohibit the said agencies from selling drafts for fifty dollars and upwards, each, drawn and intended for the purpose of remittance.

24th. The notes or bills of the said corporation, although the same be upon their face, respectively, made payable at a particular place only, shall, nevertheless, be received by the said corporation, or at any of its agencies, when tendered in liquidation or payment of any debt or balance due to said corporation.

25th. The officers of the corporation, and the agents thereof, shall not be permitted to borrow money from the said corporation, or contract any debt therewith, in any manner whatever; and no bill or other evidence of debt, of which such officer or agent is maker, drawer, endorser, accepter, or otherwise a party, shall be discounted.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That if the said corporation, or any person or persons for or to the use of the same, shall deal or trade in buying or selling any goods, wares, merchandise, or commodities whatsoever, contrary to the provisions of this act, all and every person or persons by whom any order or direction for so dealing or trading shall have been given, and all and every person or persons who shall have been concerned as parties or agents therein, shall forfeit and use treble the value of the goods, wares, merchandise, and commodities, in which such dealing and trade shall have been; one-half thereof to the use of the informer, and the other half thereof to the use of the United States, to be recovered in any action of law, with costs of suit.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That if the said corporation shall advance or lend any sum of money for the use or on account of the Government of the United States, to an amount exceeding one million of dollars, or for the use or on account of any particular State, to an amount exceeding one hundred thousand dollars, (unless specially authorized by law,) all and every person and persons, by and with whose order, agreement, consent, approbation, and connivance, such unlawful advance or loan shall have been made, upon conviction thereof, shall forfeit and pay for every such offence treble the value or amount of the sum or sums which have been so unlawfully advanced or lent; one-fifth thereof to the use of the informer and the residue thereof to the use of the United States.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That the bills or notes of the said corporation originally made payable, or which shall have become payable on demand, shall be receivable in all payments to the United States, unless otherwise directed by act of Congress: Provided, however, That if the said corporation, or any of its agencies, shall at any time suspend specie payments, or shall neglect or refuse to discharge, on demand, any and all of its liabilities in specie, then its bills or notes shall not, during such suspension, be received in payment of any debt or demand of the United States; and such suspension of specie payments for thirty days in any one year shall be held and adjudged a cause of forfeiture of the charter hereby granted.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That during the continuance of this act, and whenever required by the Secretary of the Treasury, the said corporation shall give the necessary facilities for transferring the public funds from place to place within the United States, or the Territories thereof, and for distributing the same in payment of the public creditors, and shall also do and perform the several respective duties formerly required of the pension agents and commissioners of loans for the several States, or of any one or more of them, without charging commissions, or claiming allowances on account of difference of exchange.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That the deposites of the money of the United States in places in which the said corporation and agencies thereof may be established, shall be made in said corporation or such agencies thereof, unless Congress shall otherwise direct by law; and that all public moneys in deposite in said corporation, or standing on its books to the credit of the Treasurer, shall be taken and deemed to be in the Treasury of the United States, and all payments made by the Treasurer shall be in checks drawn on said corporation: Provided, That, if the said corporation shall suspend specie payments during the recess of Congress, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury to provide for the safe-keeping of the public moneys until the action of Congress can be had thereon, and he shall report the same to Congress on the first day of the session next after such suspension.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the said corporrtion shall not at any time suspend or refuse payment in gold and silver coin of any of its notes, bills, or obligations, nor of any moneys received upon deposite in said corporation, or any of its agencies; and if the said corporation shal at any time refuse or neglect to pay, on demand, any bill, note, or obligation, issued by the corporation according to the contract, promise, or undertaking therein expressed, or shall neglect or refuse to pay, on demand, any moneys received in said corporation, or in any of its agencies, on deposite, to the person or persons entitled to receive the same, then, and in every such case, the holder of any such note, bill, or obligation, or the person or persons entitled to demand and receive such moneys as aforesaid, shall respectively be entitled to receive and recover interest on the said bills, notes, obligations, or moneys, until the same shall be fully paid and satisfied, at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum, from the time of such demand aforesaid: Provided, That Congress may, at any time hereafter, enact laws enforcing and regulating the recovery of the amount of the notes, bills, obligations, or other debts, of which payment shall have been refused as aforesaid, with the rate of interest above-mentioned, vesting jurisdiction for that purpose in any courts of the United States, or Territories thereof, as they may deem expedient.

SEC. 18. And be it further enacted, That if any person shall falsely make, forge, or counterfeit, or cause or procure to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, or willingly aid or assist in falsely making, forging, or counterfeiting, any bill or note in imitation of, or purporting to be, a bill or note issued by order of the said corporation, or any order or check on the said corporation or any cashier thereof; or shall falsely alter, or cause or procure to be falsely altered, or willingly aid or assist in falsely altering, any bill or note issued by order of the said corporation, or any order or check on the said corporation, or any cashier thereof; or shall pass, utter, or publish, or attempt to pass, utter, or publish, as true, any false, forged, or counterfeit bill or note, purporting to be a bill or note issued by order of the said corporation, or any false, forged, or counterfeited order or check upon the said corporation, or any cashier thereof, knowing the same to be falsely forged or counterfeited; or shall pass, utter, or publish, or attempt to pass, utter, or publish, as true, any falsely altered bill or note issued by order of the said corporation, or any falsely altered order or check on the said corporation, or any cashier thereof, knowing the same to be falsely altered, with intention to defraud the said corporation, or any other body politic or person; or shall sell, utter, or deliver, or cause to be sold, uttered, or delivered, any forged or counterfeit note or bill in imitation of, or purporting to be, a bill or note issued by order of the said corporation, knowing the same to be false, forged, or counterfeited, every such person shall be deemed and adjudged guilty of felony; and, being thereof convicted by due course of law, shall be sentenced to be imprisoned and kept to hard labor, for not less than three years, nor more than ten years; or shall be imprisoned not exceeding ten years, and fined not exceeding five thousand dollars: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall be construed to deprive the courts of the individual States of a jurisdiction under the laws of the several States, over any offence declared punishable by this act.

SEC. 19. And be it further enacted, That if any person shall make or engrave, or cause or procure to be made or engraved, or shall have in his custody or possession any plate, or stone, made or engraved after the similitude of any plate from which any notes or bills issued by the said corporation shall have been printed, with intent to use such plate, or stone, or cause or suffer the same to be used, in forging or counterfeiting any of the notes or bills issued by the said corporation; or shall have in his custody or possession any blank note or notes, bill or bills, made, engraved, or printed after the similitude of any notes or bills issued by said corporation, with intent to use such blanks, or cause or suffer the same to be used in forging or counterfeiting any of the notes or bills issued by the said corporation; or shall have in his custody or possession any paper adapted to the making of bank notes or bills, and similar to the paper upon which any notes or bills of the said corporation shall have been issued, with intent to use such paper, or cause or suffer the same to be used in forging or counterfeiting any of the notes or bills issued by the said corporation, every such person, being thereof convicted by due course of law, shall be sentenced to be imprisoned for a term not exceeding five years, and fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars.

SEC. 20. And be it further enacted, That if any officer, agent, or servant of the said corporation, shall embezzle or appropriate to his own use any moneys, goods, effects, or funds, of the said corporation, with intent to cheat or defraud the said corporation, or shall make false entries upon the books of the said corporation, with intent to defraud the said corporation or any other person whatsoever, such officer, agent, or servant, shall be deemed guilty of felony, and, on conviction thereof, shall be fined at the discretion of the court, and imprisoned not exceeding six years.

SEC. 21. And be it further enacted, That no bank or other corporation, with powers similar to those herein and hereby conferred, shall be established by any future law of the United States, during the continuance of the corporation hereby created: Provided, That Congress may renew or modify the charters of the banks heretofore established within the District of Columbia, or establish other banks within and for the use of the said District, so that the aggregate capital of all the banks chartered for the said District shall not exceed the sum of five millions of dollars. And, notwithstanding the expiration of the term for which the said corporation is created, it shall be lawful to use the corporate name, style, and capacity, for the purpose of suits, and for the final settlement and liquidation of the affairs and accounts of the corporation, and for the sale and disposition of their estate, real, personal, and mixed; but not for any other purpose, or in any other manner whatever, nor for a period exceeding two years after the expiration of the said term of incorporation.

SEC. 22. And be it further enacted, That if the subscriptions and payments to said corporation shall not be made and completed, so as to enable the same to commence its operations, or if the said corporation shall not commence its operations on or before the first Monday in May next, then, and in that case, Congress may, at any time within twelve months thereafter, declare, by law, this act null and void.

SEC. 23. And be it further enacted, That whenever a committee of either House of Congress, appointed to inspect the books and to examine into the proceedings of the corporation hereby created, shall report that the provisions of this charter have been by the same violated, or the President of the United States shall have reason to believe that the charter has been violated, it may be lawful for Congress to direct, or the President to order, a scire facias to be sued out of the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, in the name of the United States, (which shall be served upon the president of the corporation for the time being, at least fifteen days before the commencement of the term of said court,) calling on the said corporation to show cause wherefore the charter hereby granted shall not be declared forfeited; and it shall be lawful for the said court, upon the return of the said scire facias, to examine into the truth of the alleged violation; and if such violation be made to appear, then to pronounce and adjudge that the said charter is forfeited and annulled: Provided, however, That every issue of fact which may be joined between the United States and the corporation aforesaid shall be tried by a jury. And it shall be lawful for the court aforesaid to require the production of such of the books or papers of the corporation as it may deem necessary for the ascertainment of the controverted facts; and the final judgment of the court aforesaid shall be examinable in the Supreme Court of the United States by writ of error, and be there reversed or affirmed, according to the usages of the law.

SEC. 24. And be it further enacted, That if the said corporation shall assume or exercise any franchise or privilege, or attempt to carry on any business not allowed by this act, it shall be lawful for the Attorney General of the United States, under the direction of Congress, or of the President of the United States, to file an information in the nature of a bill in equity, in the Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Columbia, to restrain, by injunction, the said corporation from assuming or exercising such franchise or privilege, or transacting such business. And the said court may issue temporary or perpetual writs of injunction, direct such course of proceedings, and make all such orders and decrees, on such information as may be consonant with the course of such court in cases in equity: Provided, That no final decree shall be made in any such case, unless the issues of fact joined therein shall be first found by a jury. And that, from such final decree, an appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

JOHN WHITE,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
SAM'L L. SOUTHARD,
President of the Senate pro tem.

I certify that this act originated in the House of Representatives.

M. ST. CLAIR CLARKE, Clerk.

The President's objections (entered on the journal of yesterday) were read; and, after debate on the subject-matter of the said bill, the debate was suspended for the present, and sundry proceedings on other subjects were had, viz:

Mr. Fillmore, from the managers appointed on the part of this House to conduct the conference on the disagreeing vote of the two Houses, on the amendment of this House to the 17th amendment of the Senate to the bill (No. 12) entitled "An act in relation to duties and drawbacks," made the following report:

"That the managers have agreed to recommend to their respective Houses the following modification of the amendment proposed by the House of Representatives to the 17th amendment of the Senate to the within mentioned bill:

"Provided, That if, in virtue of this section, any duty exceeding the rate of 20 per centum ad valorem, shall be levied prior to the 30th of June, 1842, the same shall not in anywise affect the disposition of the proceeds of the public lands as provided for by an act passed at the present session of Congress: And provided, further, That no duty higher than 20 per centum ad valorem, in virtue of the said section, shall be levied and paid on any unmanufactured article."

The House proceeded to the consideration of the report of the managers aforesaid:" when it was

Resolved, That this House doth agree to the modification of their said amendment as recommended in the report of the managers of the said conference, and that the bill do pass accordingly.

The said amendment, as modified, is as follows:

"Provided, That if, in virtue of this section, any duty exceeding the rate of 20 per centum ad valorem, shall be levied prior to the 30th of June, 1842, the same shall not in anywise affect the disposition of the proceeds of the public lands as provided for by an act passed at the present session of Congress: And provided, further, That no duty higher than 20 per centum ad valorem, in virtue of the said section, shall be levied and paid on any unmanufactured article."

The House proceeded to the consideration of the message from the Senate in relation to the amendments of this House to the amendment of the Senate to the bill (No. 34) entitled "An act to repeal the 6th section of the act entitled 'An act to provide for the support of the Military Academy for the year 1838, and for other purposes,' and to prohibit the investment of the funds of the United States in stocks of the several States:" when it was

Resolved, That this House concur in the amendment of the Senate to the first amendment of this House to the amendment of the Senate to said bill, and recede from their second amendment to the amendment of the Senate to said bill; and that the bill do pass accordingly.

The House resumed the reconsideration of the bill (No. 14) passed by the two Houses entitled "An act to provide for the better collection, safekeeping, and disbursement of the public revenue, by means of a corporation to be styled the Fiscal Corporation of the United States;" which was returned by the President of the United States yesterday, with objections;

And the question, "That the House, on reconsideration, do agree to pass the same," was stated.

And, after further debate,

A motion was made by Mr. Richard W. Thompson, at five o'clock, that the House do adjourn;

And the question being put,

It passed in the negative, { Yeas, ... 55, / Nays, ... 92.

The Clerk then proceeded to call the roll; and, before the same was completed, the call was dispensed with.

On motion of Mr. Everett, it was Resolved, That a committee be appointed on the part of this House, to join such committee as may be appointed on the part of the Senate, to wait on the President of the United States, and notify him that, unless he may have other communications to make to the two Houses of Congress, they are ready to adjourn.

Mr. Everett, Mr. Ward, and Mr. Lewis Williams, were appointed the committee on the part of this House.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said resolution.

On motion of Mr. Morrow,

Ordered, That the Committee on the Public Lands be discharged from the further consideration of the bill from the Senate (No. 8) entitled "An act to provide for the satisfaction of the outstanding Choctaw reservations under the 19th article of the treaty of Dancing Rabbit Creek of September, 1830."

And then, at 11 o'clock, on motion, the House took a recess until 12 o'clock, meridian.

TWELVE O'CLOCK, MERIDIAN.

The House resumed its session.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Dickins, their Secretary:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have postponed indefinitely the joint resolution (No. 2) "regulating the price of printing ordered by the heads of Departments and others." The Senate have been notified by the President of the United States that he did, on the 11th instant, approve and sign the joint resolution in relation to the purchase of domestic water-rotted hemp for the use of the United States navy.

And the House took a further recess until 5 o'clock P. M.

FIVE O'CLOCK, P. M.

The Speaker resumed the chair, and called the House to order.

A message from the Senate by Mr. Machen:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have passed the resolution for the appointment of a joint committee to wait on the President of the United States, and notify him that, unless he may have other communications to make to the two Houses of Congress, they are ready to close the present session by an adjournment, and have appointed Mr. Dixon and Mr. King of the committee on their part. And then he withdrew.

And, after some time,

Mr. Everett, from the above-named committee, reported that the committee had waited on the President of the United States, and made to him the communication directed in the order for their appointment, and received for answer from the President that he had no further communication to make to Congress at the present session.

On motion,

Ordered, That a message be sent to the Senate to notify that body that the House of Representatives is ready to close the present session by adjournment.

The Clerk having delivered the said message, and being returned,

The Speaker, on motion, and the question being put and carried, adjourned the House until the first Monday, being the 6th day, of December, 1841, being the day appointed by the Constitution of the United States for the annual meeting of Congress.

:r, questions of, decided, viz:
in the absence of written rules, the law of Parliament governs, and previous question may be demanded by a member - - - - - - - 36
under Parliamentary law, previous question applies only to a single branch of a question - - - 43 under Parliamentary law, previous question has precedence of a motion to lie on the table - - 45 previous question expends itself when put, and, if subject be reconsidered, must be again moved - - 129 the House having decided not to adopt the 21st rule, it was objected that it was not in order afterwards to propose a set of rules which contained that rule - 131 under the Parliamentary law, the division of a question must be ordered by the House - - - 132 under same law, to strike out and insert is divisible - 135 a majority may make a standing rule - - - 153 a petition on subject of tariff may be acted upon as coming within view of the matters embraced in the President's message - - - - - - 159 a select committee may report in part at different times 204 appointment of a committee to amend the rules is a notice of amendment, so far as regards the reports of the committee - 206 a majority, under the amended rule, may take a bill out of Committee of the Whole - - - - - 217 amendments reported from Committee of the Whole take precedence of a motion to postpone indefinitely 220 an act having been passed to distribute the proceeds of the public lands, it is not in order, immediately thereafter, to amend another bill by proposing a different disposition of the same proceeds - - - 223 respecting the operation of the previous question, if it be the wish of a member to propose amendments - 260 when it has been agreed to receive petitions by general consent, it is not competent to a single member afterwards to interpose objections - - - 284, 285 it is a breach of privilege for a foreign diplomatic agent to remonstrate against proceedings in Congress - 320

Order, previous question may be put before a bill has been read through by paragraphs - - - - 342 in giving reasons to be excused from voting, the merits of the question under discussion are not open - 401 when a bill has undergone discussion in Committee of the Whole, appropriating the whole proceeds of the sales of lands, an amendment changing the disposition of a portion of said proceeds need not, necessarily, be committed - - - - - - 432 a vote receding from a disagreement is not conclusive as a vote to agree, but the subject is open to amendment - - - - - - - - 445, 446

STANDING RULES AND ORDERS.

FOR CONDUCTING BUSINESS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE UNITED STATES,

AS THEY EXISTED AT THE COMMENCEMENT OF THIS SESSION.

JUNE 7, 1841.

Resolved, That a committee of nine members be appointed to revise, amend, and report rules for the government of this House; and that, until such committee make report, and the same be finally acted upon, the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives, except the 21st, shall be considered as the rules and orders of this House.

William B. Calhoun, Lewis Williams, Richard W. Habersham, George W. Hopkins, A. Lawrence Foster, Thomas J. Campbell, Joseph Lawrence, James W. Williams, and Linn Banks, were appointed the committee under the said resolution.

JUNE 15, 1841.

The House having reconsidered the vote adopting the above resolution, rejected the same; and, on

JUNE 17, 1841,

The following resolution was proposed, and agreed to, viz:

Resolved, That all the rules and orders of the last House of Representatives, not superseded by any rule or resolution adopted at the present session, now in force, be, and the same are hereby adopted for the regulation of the House at the present session; and that the select committee upon the rules, heretofore raised, proceed to revise and amend the rules hereby adopted; and that they have leave to report at all times.

Touching the duty of the Speaker.

1. He shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day; shall immediately call the members to order; and, on the appearance of a quorum, shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read.

2. He shall preserve order and decorum; may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose; and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members; on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House.

3. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

4. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit: "As many as are of opinion that (as the question may be) say Ay ;" and, after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say No." If the Speaker doubt, or a division be called for, the House shall divide : those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative. If the Speaker still doubt, or a count be required, the Speaker shall name two members, one from each side, to tell the members in the affirmative ; which being reported, he shall then name two others, one from each side, to tell those in the negative ; which being also reported, he shall rise, and state the decision to the House. No division and count of the House by tellers shall be in order, but upon motion seconded by at least one-fifth of a quorum of the members.

5. When any motion or proposition is made, the question, "Will the House now consider it ?" shall not be put, unless it is demanded by some member, or is deemed necessary by the Speaker.

6. The Speaker shall examine and correct the Journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the Hall. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment.

7. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially directed by the House, in which case they shall be appointed by ballot ; and if, upon such ballot, the number required shall not be elected by a majority of the votes given, the House shall proceed to a second ballot, in which a plurality of votes shall prevail ; and, in case a greater number than is required to compose or complete a committee shall have an equal number of votes, the House shall proceed to a further ballot or ballots.

8. In all other cases of ballot than for committees, a majority of the votes given shall be necessary to an election ; and where there shall not be such a majority on the first ballot, the ballot shall be repeated until a majority be obtained. And in all ballotings blanks shall be rejected, and not taken into the count in the enumeration of votes, or reported by the tellers.

9. In all cases of election by the House, the Speaker shall vote ; in other cases he shall not vote, unless the House be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal ; and, in case of such equal division, the question shall be lost.

10. In all cases where other than members of the House may be eligible to an office by the election of the House, there shall be a previous nomination.

11. In all cases of election by the House, of its officers, the vote shall be taken viva voce.—(December 10, 1839.)

12. All acts, addresses, and joint resolutions, shall be signed by the Speaker ; and all writs, warrants, and subpœnas, issued by the order of the House, shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Clerk.

13. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

14. No person, except members of the Senate, their Secretary, Heads of Departments, Treasurer, Comptrollers, Register, Auditors, Postmaster General, President's Secretary, Chaplains to Congress, Judges of the United States, Foreign Ministers and their Secretaries, officers who, by name, have received, or shall hereafter receive, the thanks of Congress for their gallantry and good conduct displayed in the service of their country, the Commissioners of the Navy Board, Governor, for the time being, of any State or Territory in the Union, who may attend at the seat of the General Government during the session of Congress, and who may choose to avail himself of such privilege, such gentlemen as have been Heads of Departments, or members of either branch of the Legislature, and, at the discretion of the Speaker, persons who belong to such Legislatures of foreign Governments as are in amity with the United States, shall be admitted within the Hall of the House of Representatives.

15. Stenographers, wishing to take down the debates, may be admitted by the Speaker, who shall assign such places to them on the floor, or elsewhere, to effect their object, as shall not interfere with the convenience of the House.

16. No person shall be allowed the privilege of the Hall, under the character of stenographer, without a written permission from the Speaker, specifying the part of the Hall assigned to him; and no reporter or stenographer shall be admitted under the rules of the House, unless such reporter or stenographer shall state, in writing, for what paper or papers he is employed to report.—(March 1, 1838.)

17. The Doorkeeper shall execute strictly the 14th and 15th rules, relative to the privilege of the Hall.—(March 1, 1838.)

18. The Clerk of the House shall take an oath for the true and faithful discharge of the duties of his office, to the best of his knowledge and abilities.—(Rule April 13, 1789; and act June 1st, 1789.) He shall be deemed to continue in office until another be appointed.—(March 1, 1791.)*

Order of Business of the Session.

19. After six days from the commencement of a second or subsequent session of any Congress, all bills, resolutions, and reports, which originated in the House, and at the close of the next preceding session remained undetermined, shall be resumed and acted on in the same manner as if an adjournment had not taken place.

Order of Business of the Day.

20. As soon as the Journal is read, the Speaker shall call for petitions from the members of each State, and delegates from each Territory, beginning with Maine and the Territory of Wiskonsan,† alternately; and if, on any day, the whole of the States and Territories shall not be called, the Speaker shall begin on the next day where he left off the previous day: provided that, after the first thirty days of the session, petitions shall not be received, except on the first day of the meeting of the House in each week.

21. No petition, memorial, resolution, or other paper praying the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, or any State or Territory, or the

* There is no law, resolution, rule, or order, directing the appointment of the Clerk of the House. On the 1st of April, 1789, being the first day that a quorum of the House assembled under the new constitution, the House immediately elected a Clerk by ballot, without a previous order having been passed for that purpose; although, in the case of the Speaker, who was chosen on the same day, an order was previously adopted. A Clerk has been regularly chosen at the commencement of every Congress since.

† This rule was adopted before Iowa was constituted a Territory. Since that Territory was constituted, the Speaker substitutes it for Wiskonsan.

slave trade between the States or Territories of the United States in which it now exists, shall be received by this House, or entertained in any way whatever.

22. The petitions having been presented and disposed of, reports from committees shall be called for and disposed of; in doing which, the Speaker shall call upon each standing committee in the order they are named in the 70th and 98th rules; and when all the standing committees have been called on, then it shall be the duty of the Speaker to call for reports from select committees: if the Speaker shall not get through the call upon the committees before the House passes to other business, he shall resume the next call where he left off. Resolutions shall then be called for in the same order, and disposed of by the same rules which apply to petitions: provided that no member shall offer more than one resolution, or one series of resolutions, all relating to the same subject, until all the States and Territories shall have been called.

23. All the States and Territories shall be called for resolutions on each alternate Monday during each session of Congress; and, if necessary to secure this object on said days, all resolutions which shall give rise to debate shall lie over for discussion, under the rules of the House already established; and the whole of said days shall be appropriated to resolutions, until all the States and Territories are called through.—(February 6, 1838.)

24. After one hour shall have been devoted to reports from committees, and resolutions, it shall be in order, pending the consideration or discussion thereof, to entertain a motion that the House do now proceed to dispose of the business on the Speaker's table, and to the orders of the day; which being decided in the affirmative, the Speaker shall dispose of the business on his table in the following order, viz:

1st. Messages and other Executive communications.

2d. Messages from the Senate, and amendments proposed by the Senate to bills of the House.

3d. Bills and resolutions from the Senate on their first and second reading, that they be referred to committees, and put under way; but if, on being read a second time, no motion be made to commit, they are to be ordered to their third reading, unless objection be made; in which case, if not otherwise ordered by a majority of the House, they are to be laid on the table in the general file of bills on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in their turn.

4th. Engrossed bills, and bills from the Senate on their third reading.

5th. Bills of the House and from the Senate, on the Speaker's table, on their engrossment, or on being ordered to a third reading, to be taken up and considered in the order of time in which they passed to a second reading. The messages, communications, and bills, on his table, having been disposed of, the Speaker shall then proceed to call the orders of the day.

25. The business specified in the two preceding rules shall be done at no other part of the day, except by permission of the House.

Local or Private Business.

26. Friday and Saturday in every week shall be set apart for the consideration of private bills and private business, in preference to any other, unless otherwise determined by a majority of the House.

27. On the first and fourth Friday of each month the calendar of private bills shall be called over, and the bills to the passage of which no objection shall then be made shall be first considered and disposed of.—(January 25, 1839.)

Of Decorum and Debate.

28. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat, and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," and shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality.

29. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; in which case, the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case, but without debate: if there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall not be permitted to proceed, in case any member object, without leave of the House; and, if the case require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.

30. If a member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to the censure of the House, for words spoken in debate, if any other member has spoken, or other business has intervened, after the words spoken, and before exception to them shall have been taken.

31. When two or more members happen to rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

32. No member shall speak more than once to the same question, without leave of the House, unless he be the mover, proposer, or introducer, of the matter pending; in which case he shall be permitted to speak in reply, but not until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

33. If a question depending be lost by adjournment of the House, and revived on the succeeding day, no member, who shall have spoken on the preceding day, shall be permitted again to speak, without leave.

34. While the Speaker is putting any question or addressing the House, none shall walk out of or across the House; nor, in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse; nor, while a member is speaking, shall pass between him and the Chair. Every member shall remain uncovered during the session of the House. No member or other person shall visit or remain by the Clerk's table while the ayes and noes are calling, or ballots are counting.

35. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is immediately and particularly interested, or in any case where he was not within the bar of the House when the question was put. And when any member shall ask leave to vote, the Speaker shall propound to him the question: "Were you within the bar when your name was called?"

36. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no member without the bar shall be counted.

37. Every member who shall be in the House when the question is put shall give his vote, unless the House, for special reasons, shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the House divides, or before the call of the yeas and nays is commenced; and any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

38. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker; or, being in writing, it shall be handed to the Chair, and read aloud by the Clerk before debated.

39. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member desire it.

40. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment.

41. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lie on the table, for the previous question, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill or proposition. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend, and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

42. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made, to refer any subject, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

The Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; the Committee of the Whole House; a standing committee; a select committee.

43. A motion to adjourn, and a motion to fix the day to which the House shall adjourn, shall be always in order: these motions, and the motion to lie on the table, shall be decided without debate.

44. The hour at which every motion to adjourn is made, shall be entered on the Journal.—(October 9, 1837.)

45. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effects shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the seconding of the same, a call of the House shall be in order; but, after a majority shall have seconded such motion, no call shall be in order prior to a decision of the main question.

46. On a previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.

47. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon again during the session.

48. Any member may call for the division of a question, which shall be divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct, that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out and insert, shall be deemed indivisible; but a motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither amendment, nor a motion to strike out and insert.

49. Motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the House.

50. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.*—(March 13, 1822.) No bill or resolution shall, at any time, be amended by annexing thereto, or incorporating therewith, any other bill or resolution pending before the House.†—(September 15, 1837.)

51. When a motion has been once made, and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof on the same or the succeeding day; and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn.

52. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

53. The unfinished business in which the House was engaged at the last preceding adjournment shall have the preference in the orders of the day; and no motion on any other business shall be received, without special leave of the House, until the former is disposed of.

54. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate shall be necessary, shall be read to the House, and laid on the table, on a day preceding that in which the same shall be moved, unless the House shall otherwise expressly allow.

55. Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House, shall be presented by the Speaker, or by a member in his place; a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made verbally by the introducer; they shall not be debated on the day of their being presented, nor on any day assigned by the House for the receipt of petitions after the first thirty days of the session, (unless where the House shall direct otherwise,) but shall lie on the table, to be taken up in the order in which they were presented.

56. A proposition requesting information from the President of the United States, or directing it to be furnished by the head of either of the Executive Departments, or by the Postmaster General, or to print an extra number of any document or other matter, excepting messages of the President to both Houses at the commencement of each session of Congress, and the reports and documents connected with or referred to in it, shall lie on the table one day for consideration, unless otherwise ordered by the unanimous consent of the House; and all such propositions shall be taken up for consideration in the order they were presented, immediately after reports are called for from select committees; and when adopted, the Clerk shall cause the same to be delivered.

57. Any fifteen members (including the Speaker, if there be one) shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members.

58. Upon calls of the House, or in taking the yeas and nays on any question, the names of the members shall be called alphabetically.

* This rule was originally established on the 7th of April, 1789, and was in these words: "No new motion or proposition shall be admitted, under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion or proposition under debate." On the 13th of March, 1822, it was changed to its present form, in which the words "new" and "substitute" do not appear.

† The latter clause of this rule was adopted at the 1st session of the 25th Congress; and, as originally reported by the committee, the following words were contained at the end of it: nor by any proposition containing THE SUBSTANCE, in whole or in part, of any other bill or resolution pending before the House." These words were stricken out by the House before it would agree to the rule; by which it would seem to be decided that a bill or resolution might be amended by incorporating therein the substance of any other bill or resolution before the House.

59. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee at the time of his appointment, if he is then a member of two other committees.

60. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House, unless he have leave, or be sick, or unable to attend.

61. Upon the call of the House, the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk, and the absentees noted; after which, the names of the absentees shall again be called over, the doors shall then be shut, and those for whom no excuse, or insufficient excuses, are made, may, by order of those present, if fifteen in number, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody, wherever to be found, by special messengers to be appointed for that purpose.

62. When a member shall be discharged from custody, and admitted to his seat, the House shall determine whether such discharge shall be with or without paying fees; and, in like manner, whether a delinquent member, taken into custody by a special messenger, shall, or shall not, be liable to defray the expense of such special messenger.

63. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be appointed, to hold his office during the pleasure of the House, whose duty it shall be to attend the House during its sittings; to execute the commands of the House from time to time; together with all such process, issued by authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the Speaker.

64. The fees of the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be, for every arrest, the sum of two dollars; for each day's custody and releasement, one dollar; and for travelling expenses for himself or a special messenger, going and returning, one-tenth of a dollar per mile.

65. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of members, to prepare checks, and, if required to do so, to draw the money on such checks for the members, (the same being previously signed by the Speaker, and endorsed by the member,) and pay over the same to the member entitled thereto.—(April 4, 1838.)

66. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall give bond, with surety, to the United States, in a sum not less than five, nor more than ten thousand dollars, at the discretion of the Speaker, and with such surety as the Speaker may approve, faithfully to account for the money coming into his hands for the pay of members.—(April 4, 1838.)

67. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall be sworn to keep the secrets of the House.

68. A Doorkeeper and an Assistant Doorkeeper shall be appointed for the service of the House.—(April 2, 1789.)

69. The Doorkeeper and Assistant Doorkeeper shall be sworn to keep the secrets of the House.

70. The Postmaster, to superintend the Post Office kept in the Capitol for the accommodation of the members, shall hereafter be appointed by the House.*—(April 4, 1838.)

* Immediately after the organization of the Government under the present constitution, a room was set apart in the Capitol for the reception and distribution of letters and packets to and from members of the House, without an order for that purpose, and was called the Post Office. It was superintended by the Doorkeeper and his assistants. On the 9th of April, 1814, a special allowance was made to the Doorkeeper to meet the expenses of this office, and he was authorized to appoint a Postmaster. The office continued on this footing till April 4, 1838, when an order was passed, as above, for the appointment of the Postmaster by the House itself.

71. Twenty-seven standing committees shall be appointed at the commencement of each session, viz:

A Committee of Elections,	To consist of nine members each.
A Committee of Ways and Means,
A Committee of Claims,
A Committee on Commerce,
A Committee on the Public Lands,
A Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads,
A Committee for the District of Columbia,
A Committee on the Judiciary,
A Committee on Revolutionary Claims,
A Committee on Public Expenditures,
A Committee on Private Land Claims,
A Committee on Manufactures,
A Committee on Agriculture,
A Committee on Indian Affairs,
A Committee on Military Affairs,
A Committee on the Militia,
A Committee on Naval Affairs,
A Committee on Foreign Affairs,
A Committee on the Territories,
A Committee on Revolutionary Pensions,
A Committee on Invalid Pensions,
A Committee on Roads and Canals,
A Committee on Patents,
A Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds,	To consist of five members each.
A Committee of Revisal and Unfinished Business,
A Committee of Accounts,
A Committee on Mileage,

72. It shall be the duty of the Committee of Elections to examine and eport upon the certificates of election, or other credentials, of the members returned to serve in this House; and to take into their consideration ll such petitions, and other matters touching elections and returns, as hall or may be presented, or come into question, and be referred to them y the House.

73. It shall be the duty of the Committee of Ways and Means to take nto consideration all such reports of the Treasury Department, and all uch propositions relative to the revenue, as may be referred to them by he House; to inquire into the state of the public debt or the revenue, and f the expenditure; and to report, from time to time, their opinion thereon; to examine into the state of the several public departments, and particularly into the laws making appropriations of moneys, and to report whether he moneys have been disbursed conformably with such laws; and also to eport, from time to time, such provisions and arrangements as may be necessary to add to the economy of the departments, and the accountability f their officers.]*

* That portion of the duty of the Committee of Ways and Means which is printed within rackets was, originally, adopted on the 7th of January, 1802. On the 26th February, 1814, he Committee on Public Expenditures was created, and added to the list of standing committees; the duties of this latter committee are exactly those contained in that portion of the duties f the Committee of Ways and Means which is referred to in this note as within brackets; (see ule 84.) The words ought to be stricken from the specification of the duties of the Committee f Ways and Means.

In preparing bills of appropriations for other objects, the Committee of Ways and Means shall not include appropriations for carrying into effect treaties made by the United States; and where an appropriation bill shall be referred to them for their consideration, which contains appropriations for carrying a treaty into effect, and for other objects, they shall propose such amendments as shall prevent appropriations for carrying a treaty into effect being included in the same bill with appropriations for other objects.

74. It shall also be the duty of the Committee of Ways and Means within thirty days after their appointment, at every session of Congress commencing on the first Monday of December, to report the general appropriation bills—for the civil and diplomatic expenses of Government; for the army; for the navy; and for the Indian Department and Indian annuities; or, in failure thereof, the reasons of such failure.

75. General appropriation bills shall be in order, in preference to any other bills of a public nature, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the House.

76. No appropriation shall be reported in such general appropriation bills, or be in order as an amendment thereto, for any expenditure not previously authorized by law, (September 14, 1837,) unless in continuation of appropriations for such public works and objects as are already in progress, and for the contingencies for carrying on the several departments of the Government.—(May 13, 1838.)

77. It shall be the duty of the Committee of Claims to take into consideration all such petitions and matters or things touching claims and demands on the United States as shall be presented, or shall or may come in question, and be referred to them by the House; and to report their opinion thereupon, together with such propositions for relief therein as to them shall seem expedient.

78. It shall be the duty of the Committtee on Commerce to take into consideration all such petitions and matters or things touching the commerce of the United States as shall be presented, or shall or may come into question, and be referred to them by the House; and to report, from time to time, their opinion thereon.

79. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Public Lands to take into consideration all such petitions and matters or things respecting the lands of the United States as shall be presented, or shall or may come in question, and be referred to them by the House; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions for relief therein as to them shall seem expedient.

80. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads to take into consideration all such petitions and matters or things touching the post office and post roads as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them by the House; and to report their opinion thereupon, together with such propositions relative thereto as to them shall seem expedient.

81. It shall be the duty of the Committee for the District of Columbia to take into consideration all such petitions and matters or things touching the said District as shall be presented, or shall come in question, and be referred to them by the House; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto as to them shall seem expedient.

82. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Judiciary to take into nsideration such petitions and matters or things touching judicial pro- edings as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred them by the House; and to report their opinion thereupon, together with ch propositions relative thereto as to them shall seem expedient.

83. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Revolutionary Claims to ke into consideration all such petitions and matters or things touching aims and demands originating in the revolutionary war, or arising there- om, as shall be presented, or shall or may come in question, and be re- rred to them by the House; and to report their opinion thereupon, to- ther with such propositions for relief therein as to them shall seem ex- dient.

84. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Public Expenditures to ex- nine into the state of the several public departments, and particularly in- laws making appropriations of money, and to report whether the moneys ve been disbursed conformably with such laws; and also to report, from ne to time, such provisions and arrangements as may be necessary to add the economy of the departments and the accountability of their officers.*

85. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Private Land Claims to ke into consideration all claims to land which may be referred to them, shall or may come in question; and to report their opinion thereupon, gether with such propositions for relief therein as to them shall seem ex- dient.

86. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Military Affairs to take into nsideration all subjects relating to the military establishment and public efence, which may be referred to them by the House, and to report their pinion thereupon; and also to report, from time to time, such measures as ay contribute to economy and accountability in the said establishment.

87. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Militia to take into con- deration and report on all subjects connected with the organizing, arming, nd disciplining the militia of the United States.

88. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Naval Affairs to take into nsideration all matters which concern the naval establishment, and hich shall be referred to them by the House, and to report their opinion ereupon; and also to report, from time to time, such measures as may ntribute to economy and accountability in the said establishment.

89. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Foreign Affairs to take into nsideration all matters which concern the relations of the United States ith foreign nations, and which shall be referred to them by the House, nd to report their opinion on the same.

90. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Territories to examine nto the legislative, civil, and criminal proceedings of the Territories, and to evise and report to the House such means as, in their opinion, may be ne- essary to secure the rights and privileges of residents and non residents.

91. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions to ake into consideration all such matters respecting pensions for services in ne revolutionary war, other than invalid pensions, as shall be referred to hem by the House.

* See note to rule 73.—And further, on the 30th March, 1816, six committees on expenditures n the several departments of the Government were created, and added to the list of standing com- ittees. The duties assigned to these several committees would seem entirely to cover the duties f the Committee on Public Expenditures. (See rules 99 and 100.)

92. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Invalid Pensions to take into consideration all such matters respecting invalid pensions as shall be referred to them by the House.

93. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Roads and Canals to take into consideration all such petitions and matters or things relating to roads and canals, and the improvement of the navigation of rivers, as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them by the House; and to report thereupon, together with such propositions relative thereto as to them shall seem expedient.

94. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Patents to consider all subjects relating to patents which may be referred to them; and report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto as may seem to them expedient.

95. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to consider all subjects relating to the public edifices and grounds within the city of Washington which may be referred to them; and report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relating thereto as may seem to them expedient.

96. It shall be the duty of the Committee of Revisal and Unfinished Business to examine and report what laws have expired, or are near expiring, and require to be revived or further continued; also, to examine and report, from the Journal of last session, all such matters as were then depending and undetermined.

97. It shall be the duty of the Committee of Accounts to superintend and control the expenditures of the contingent fund of the House of Representatives, and to audit and settle all accounts which may be charged thereon; and also to audit the accounts of the members for their travel to and from the seat of Government, and their attendance in the House.*

98. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Mileage to ascertain and report the distance, to the Sergeant-at-Arms, for which each member shall receive pay.

99. Six additional standing committees shall be appointed at the commencement of the first session in each Congress, whose duties shall continue until the first session of the ensuing Congress:

1. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Department of State;
2. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Treasury Department;
3. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Department of War;
4. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Department of the Navy;
5. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Post Office; and
6. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Public Buildings;

} To consist of five members each.

100. It shall be the duty of the said committees to examine into the state of the accounts and expenditures respectively submitted to them, and to inquire and report particularly—

* So much of this rule as directs the Committee of Accounts to audit and settle the mileage and daily pay of the members, was adopted at the 1st session 12th Congress, (1812.) At the 1st session of the 25th Congress, (1837,) a Standing Committee on Mileage was created for the especial purpose of ascertaining and reporting the mileage for which each member shall receive pay.—(See Rule 98.)

Whether the expenditures of the respective departments are justified by law;

Whether the claims from time to time satisfied and discharged by the respective departments are supported by sufficient vouchers, establishing their justness both as to their character and amount;

Whether such claims have been discharged out of funds appropriated therefor, and whether all moneys have been disbursed in conformity with appropriation laws; and

Whether any, and what, provisions are necessary to be adopted, to provide more perfectly for the proper application of the public moneys, and to secure the Government from demands unjust in their character, or extravagant in their amount.

And it shall be, moreover, the duty of the said committees to report from time to time whether any, and what, retrenchment can be made in the expenditures of the several departments, without detriment to the public service; whether any, and what, abuses at any time exist in the failure to enforce the payment of moneys which may be due to the United States from public defaulters or others; and to report, from time to time, such provisions and arrangements as may be necessary to add to the economy of the several departments and the accountability of their officers.†

101. The several standing committees of the House shall have leave to report by bill or otherwise.

102. No committee shall sit during the sitting of the House, without special leave.

103. It shall be the duty of the Clerk to make, and cause to be printed, and delivered to each member at the commencement of every session of Congress, a list of the reports which it is the duty of any officer or department of the Government to make to Congress; referring to the act or resolution, and page of the volume of the laws or journal, in which it may be contained; and placing under the name of each officer the list of reports required of him to be made, and the time when the report may be expected.

104. It shall be the duty of the Clerk of the House, at the end of each session, to send a printed copy of the Journals thereof to the Executive, and to each branch of the Legislature of every State.

105. All questions of order shall be noted by the Clerk, with the decision, and put together at the end of the Journal of every session.

106. Whenever confidential communications are received from the President of the United States, the House shall be cleared of all persons, except the members, Clerk, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper, and so continue during the reading of such communications, and (unless otherwise directed by the House) during all debates and proceedings to be had thereon. And when the Speaker, or any other member, shall inform the House that he has communications to make which he conceives ought to be kept secret, the House shall, in like manner, be cleared, till the communication be made; the House shall then determine whether the matter communicated requires secrecy or not, and take order accordingly.

107. All questions relating to the priority of business to be acted on shall be decided without debate.

† See notes to Rules 73 and 84.

Of Bills.

108. Every bill shall be introduced on the report of a committee, or by motion for leave. In the latter case, at least one day's notice shall be given of the motion: and the motion shall be made, and the bill introduced, if leave is given, when resolutions are called for: such motion, or the bill when introduced, may be committed.

109. Every bill shall receive three several readings in the House, previous to its passage; and bills shall be despatched in order as they were introduced, unless where the House shall direct otherwise; but no bill shall be twice read on the same day, without special order of the House.

110. The first reading of a bill shall be for information; and, if opposition be made to it, the question shall be, "Shall this bill be rejected?" If no opposition be made, or if the question to reject be negatived, the bill shall go to its second reading without a question.

111. Upon the second reading of a bill, the Speaker shall state it as ready for commitment or engrossment; and, if committed, then a question shall be, whether to a select or standing committee, or to a Committee of the Whole House: if to a Committee of the Whole House, the House shall determine on what day: if no motion be made to commit, the question shall be stated on its engrossment; and if it be not ordered to be engrossed on the day of its being reported, it shall be placed in the general file on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in its order. But, if the bill be ordered to be engrossed, the House shall appoint the day when it shall be read the third time.

112. Not more than three bills, originating in the House, shall be committed to the same Committee of the Whole; and such bills shall be analogous in their nature, which analogy shall be determined by the Speaker.

113. After commitment and report thereof to the House, or at any time before its passage, a bill may be recommitted.

114. All bills ordered to be engrossed shall be executed in a fair round hand.

115. No amendment by way of rider shall be received to any bill on its third reading.

116. When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified by the Clerk, noting the day of its passage at the foot thereof.

Of Committees of the Whole House.

117. It shall be a standing order of the day, throughout the session, for the House to resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

118. In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave his chair, and a chairman, to preside in committee, shall be appointed by the Speaker.

119. Upon bills committed to a Committee of the Whole House, the bill shall be first read throughout by the Clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble to be last considered: the body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined; but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House. After report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses, before a question to engross it be taken.

120. All amendments made to an original motion in committee shall be incorporated with the motion, and so reported.

121. All amendments made to a report committed to a Committee of the Whole House shall be noted and reported, as in the case of bills.

122. All questions, whether in committee or in the House, shall be propounded in the order in which they were moved, except that, in filling up blanks, the largest sum and longest time shall be first put.

123. No motion or proposition for a tax or charge upon the people shall be discussed the day in which it is made or offered; and every such proposition shall receive its first discussion in a Committee of the Whole House.

124. No sum or quantum of tax or duty, voted by a Committee of the Whole House, shall be increased in the House until the motion or proposition for such increase shall be first discussed and voted in a Committee of the Whole House; and so in respect to the time of its continuance.

125. All proceedings touching appropriations of money shall be first discussed in a Committee of the Whole House.

126. The rules of proceedings in the House shall be observed in a Committee of the Whole House, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking; but no member shall speak twice to any question, until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

127. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor. Nor shall any rule be suspended, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present. Nor shall the order of business, as established by the rules of the House, be postponed or changed, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present.

Resolved, That so much of the 127th rule of the House as is in the following words, to wit: "Nor shall any rule be suspended except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present," be, and hereby is, so far rescinded and changed that the House may, at any time, by a vote of a majority of the members present, suspend the rules and orders of the House for the purpose of going into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union.—(June 1, 1840.—See Journal 1st session 26th Congress, p. 1071.)

128. It shall be in order for the Committee on Enrolled Bills to report at any time.

129. The Rules of Parliamentary Practice, comprised in Jefferson's Manual, shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House, and the joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

130. No person shall be permitted to perform divine service in the chamber occupied by the House of Representatives, unless with the consent of the Speaker.

131. The rule for paying witnesses summoned to appear before this House, or either of its committees, shall be as follows: For each day a witness shall attend, the sum of two dollars; for each mile he shall travel in coming to or going from the place of examination, the sum of ten cents each way; but nothing shall be paid for travelling home when the witness has been summoned at the place of trial.

132. The Clerk shall, within thirty days after the close of each session of Congress, cause to be completed the printing and primary distribution, to members and delegates, of the Journal of the House, together with an accurate index to the same.—(June 18, 1832.)

133. There shall be retained in the library of the Clerk's office, for the use of the members there, and not to be withdrawn therefrom, two copies of all the books and printed documents deposited in the library.—(December 22, 1826.)

134. The Clerk shall have preserved for each member of the House an extra copy, in good binding, of all the documents printed by order of either House at each future session of Congress.—(February 9, 1831.)

135. The Clerk shall make a weekly statement of the resolutions and bills (Senate bills inclusive) upon the Speaker's table, accompanied with a brief reference to the orders and proceedings of the House upon each, and the date of such order and proceedings; which statement shall be printed for the use of the members.—(April 21, 1836.)

136. The Clerk shall cause an index to be prepared to the acts passed at every session of Congress, and to be printed and bound with the acts.—(July 4, 1832.)

137. The Clerk shall take proper measures for the care and preservation of the public stable provided for the business and accommodation of the House of Representatives.—(July 9, 1838.)

138. The unappropriated rooms in that part of the Capitol assigned to the House shall be subject to the order and disposal of the Speaker, until the further order of the House.—(May 26, 1824.)

139. Maps accompanying documents shall not be printed, under the general order to print, without the special direction of the House.—(March 2, 1837; September 11, 1837.)

140. No committee shall be permitted to employ a clerk at the public expense, without first obtaining leave of the House for that purpose.—(December 14, 1838.)

JOINT RULES AND ORDERS OF THE TWO HOUSES.

1. In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one House, and dissented to in the other, if either House shall request a conference, and appoint a committee for that purpose, and the other House shall also appoint a committee to confer, such committee shall, at a convenient hour, to be agreed on by their chairman, meet in the conference chamber, and state to each other, verbally, or in writing, as either shall choose, the reasons of their respective Houses for and against the amendment, and confer freely thereon.

2. When a message shall be sent from the Senate to the House of Representatives, it shall be announced at the door of the House by the Doorkeeper, and shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair by the person by whom it may be sent.

3. The same ceremony shall be observed when a message shall be sent from the House of Representatives to the Senate.

4. Messages shall be sent by such persons as a sense of propriety in each House may determine to be proper.

5. While bills are on their passage between the two Houses, they shall be on paper, and under the signature of the Secretary or Clerk of each House respectively.

6. After a bill shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled on parchment by the Clerk of the House of Representatives, or the Secretary of the Senate, as the bill may have originated in the one or the other House, before it shall be presented to the President of the United States.

7. When bills are enrolled, they shall be examined by a joint committee of two from the Senate and two from the House of Representatives, appointed as a standing committee for that purpose, who shall carefully compare the enrolment with the engrossed bills, as passed in the two Houses, and, correcting any errors that may be discovered in the enrolled bills, make their report forthwith to their respective Houses.

8. After examination and report, each bill shall be signed in the respective Houses, first by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, then by the President of the Senate.

9. After a bill shall have been thus signed in each House, it shall be presented, by the said committee, to the President of the United States for his approbation, (it being first endorsed on the back of the roll, certifying in which House the same originated; which endorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Clerk, as the case may be, of the House in which the same did originate,) and shall be entered on the Journal of each House. The said committee shall report the day of presentation to the President; which time shall also be carefully entered on the Journal of each House.

10. All orders, resolutions, and votes, which are to be presented to the President of the United States for his approbation, shall also, in the same manner, be previously enrolled, examined, and signed; and shall be presented in the same manner, and by the same committee, as provided in the cases of bills.

11. When the Senate and House of Representatives shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the President, it shall be presented to him in his audience chamber by the President of the Senate, in the presence of the Speaker and both Houses.

12. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed in one House is rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the House in which the same shall have passed.

13. When a bill or resolution which has been passed in one House shall be rejected in the other, it shall not be brought in during the same session, without a notice of ten days, and leave of two-thirds of that House in which it shall be renewed.

14. Each House shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

15. After each House shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or resolution shall be lost.

16. No bill that shall have passed one House shall be sent for concurrence to the other on either of the last three days of the session.

17. No bill or resolution that shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall be presented to the President of the United States for his approbation on the last day of the session.

18. When bills which have passed one House are ordered to be printed in the other, a greater number of copies shall not be printed than may be necessary for the use of the House making the order.

19. No spirituous liquors shall be offered for sale, or exhibited, within the Capitol, or on the public grounds adjacent thereto.

RULES AND ORDERS,

As reported on the 11th of September, 1841, by the Select Committee to which the subject had been referred, but not acted upon by the House.

The Select Committee on "Rules and Orders," in discharge of the duty assigned them by the House, report the following system of rules.

The committee have endeavored to make a systematic arrangement of the rules, and to condense the phraseology as far as possible consistently with clearness. They have embraced in the arrangement all the rules, and amendments of rules, adopted by the House during the present session. All substantial alterations are marked to be printed in italic.

For the committee: W. B. CALHOUN.

Of the Speaker.

1. The Speaker shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day; shall immediately call the members to order; and, on the appearance of a quorum, shall cause the journal of the preceding day to be read.

2. He shall preserve order and decorum; may speak on points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose; and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members; on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House.

3. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

4. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit: "As many as are of opinion that (as the question may be) say Ay;" and, after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say No." If the Speaker doubt, or a division be called for, the House shall divide: those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and afterward those in the negative. If the Speaker still doubt, or a count be required, the Speaker shall name two members, one from each side, to tell the members in the affirmative and in the negative. Report being made by the tellers, the Speaker shall state the decision to the House. No division and count of the House by tellers shall be in order, but upon motion seconded by at least one-fifth of a quorum of the members.

5. The Speaker shall examine and correct the journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the Hall. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair; but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment.

6. In all cases of election by the House, the Speaker shall vote; in other cases he shall not vote, unless the House be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal; and, in case of such equal division, the question shall be lost.

7. All acts, addresses, and joint resolutions, shall be signed by the Speaker; and all writs, warrants, and subpœnas, issued by order of the House, shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Clerk.

8. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or chairman of the Committee of the Whole House) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

Of the Clerk.

9. The Clerk of the House shall take an oath for the true and faithful discharge of the duties of his office, to the best of his knowledge and abilities.—(Act June 1, 1789.) He shall be deemed to continue in office until another be appointed.

10. The Clerk shall make, and cause to be printed, and delivered to each member, at the commencement of every session of Congress, a list of the reports which it is the duty of any officer or department of the Government to make to Congress; referring to the act or resolution, and page of the volume of the laws or journal, in which it may be contained; and placing under the name of each officer the list of reports required of him to be made, and the time when the report may be expected.

11. He shall, at the end of each session, send a printed copy of the journals thereof to the Executive and to each branch of the Legislature of every State.

12. All questions of order shall be noted by the Clerk, with the decision, and put together at the end of the journal of every session.

13. The Clerk shall, within thirty days after the close of each session of Congress, cause to be completed the printing and primary distribution, to members and delegates, of the journal of the House, together with an accurate index to the same.

14. There shall be retained in the library of the Clerk's office, for the use of the members, and not to be withdrawn therefrom, two copies of all the books and printed documents deposited in the library.

15. The Clerk shall reserve, for each member of the House, an extra copy, in good binding, of all the documents printed by order of either House at each session of Congress.

16. The Clerk shall make a weekly statement of the resolutions and bills (Senate bills inclusive) upon the Speaker's table, accompanied with a brief reference to the orders and proceedings of the House upon each, and the date of such order and proceedings; which statement shall be printed for the use of the members.

17. The Clerk shall cause an index to be prepared to the acts passed at every session of Congress, and to be printed and bound with the acts.

18. The Clerk shall take proper measures for the care and preservation of the public stable provided for the business and accommodation of the House of Representatives.

Of Elections.

19. The officers of the House shall be chosen viva voce.

20. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially directed by the House, in which case they shall be appointed by ballot; and if, on balloting, the number required shall not be elected by a majority of the votes given, the House shall proceed to a second balloting, in which a plurality of votes shall prevail; and, in case a greater number than is required to compose or complete a committee shall have an equal number of votes, the House shall proceed to a further balloting

21. In all other cases of balloting than for committees, a majority of the votes given shall be necessary to an election; and where there shall not be such a majority on the first balloting, it shall be repeated until a majority be obtained. And in all ballotings blanks shall be rejected.

22. In all cases where other than members may be eligible by the House, there shall be a previous nomination.

Sergeant-at-Arms and Doorkeeper.

23. A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be appointed, to hold his office during the pleasure of the House, whose duty it shall be to attend the House during its sittings; to execute the commands of the House, and all such process, issued by authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the Speaker.

24. The fees of the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be, for every arrest, two dollars; for each day's custody and release, one dollar; and for travelling expenses for himself or a special messenger, going and returning, one-tenth of a dollar per mile.

25. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of members, to prepare checks, and, if required to do so, to draw the money on such checks for the members, (the same being previously signed by the Speaker, and endorsed by the member,) and pay over the same to the member entitled thereto.

26. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall give bond, with surety, to the United States, in a sum not less than five nor more than ten thousand dollars, at the discretion of the Speaker, and with such surety as the Speaker may approve, faithfully to account for the money coming into his hands for the pay of members.

27. The Sergeant-at-Arms shall be sworn to keep the secrets of the House.

28. The House shall appoint, for its service, a Doorkeeper and Assistant Doorkeeper, who shall be sworn to keep the secrets of the House, and a Postmaster to superintend the Post Office in the Capitol, kept for the accommodation of the members.

COMMITTEES AND THEIR DUTIES.

29. Twenty-seven standing committees shall be appointed at the commencement of each session, viz:

A Committee on Elections,	To consist of nine members each.
A Committee on Ways and Means,
A Committee on Claims,
A Committee on Commerce,
A Committee on the Public Lands,

A Committee on Patents, A Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, A Committee on Revisal and Unfinished Business, A Committee on Accounts, A Committee on Mileage,	To consist of five members each.

Committee on Elections.

30. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Elections to examine and report on the certificates of election, or other credentials, of the members returned to serve in the House of Representatives; and to take into consideration all such petitions, and other matters touching elections and returns, as may be presented, or come in question, and be referred to them.

Committee on Ways and Means.

31. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Ways and Means to take into consideration all such reports of the Treasury Department, and all such propositions relative to the revenue, as may be referred to them; to inquire into the state of the public debt, of the revenue, and of the expenditure; and to report, from time to time, their opinion thereon. In preparing bills of appropriations, the Committee on Ways and Means shall not include, with other objects, appropriations for carrying into effect treaties: and where an appropriation bill shall be referred to them containing appropriations for carrying a treaty into effect, and for other objects, they shall report the former in a separate bill, as an amendment.

32. It shall also be the duty of the Committee on Ways and Means, within thirty days after their appointment, at every session of Congress commencing on the first Monday of December, to report the general appropriation bills—for the civil and diplomatic expenses of Government; for the army; for the navy; and for the Indian Department and Indian annuities; or, in failure thereof, the reasons of such failure.

Committee on Claims.

33. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Claims to take into consideration all such petitions and matters touching claims and demands against the United States as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions for relief as shall seem expedient.

Committee on Commerce.

34. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Commerce to take into consideration all such petitions and matters touching the commerce of the United States as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them; and to report, from time to time, their opinion thereon.

Committee on the Public Lands.

35. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Public Lands to take into consideration all such petitions and matters respecting the lands of the United States as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions for relief as shall seem expedient.

Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads.

36. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads to take into consideration all such petitions and matters touching the Post Office and post roads as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto as shall seem expedient.

Committee on the District of Columbia.

37. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the District of Columbia to take into consideration all such petitions and matters touching the said District as shall be presented, or shall come in question, and be referred to them; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto as shall seem expedient.

Committee on the Judiciary.

38. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Judiciary to take into consideration such petitions and matters touching judicial proceedings as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto as shall seem expedient.

Committee on Revolutionary Claims.

39. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Revolutionary Claims to take into consideration all such petitions and matters touching claims and demands originating in the Revolutionary war, or arising therefrom, as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions for relief as shall seem expedient.

Committee on Public Expenditures.

40. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Public Expenditures to examine into the state of the several public departments, and particularly into laws making appropriations of money, and to report whether the moneys have been disbursed conformably with such laws; and also to report, from time to time, such provisions and arrangements as may be necessary to add to the economy of the departments, and the accountability of their officers.

Committee on Private Land Claims.

41. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Private Land Claims to take into consideration all claims to land which may be referred to them, or may come in question; and to report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions for relief as shall seem expedient.

Committee on Military Affairs.

42. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Military Affairs to take into consideration all subjects relating to the military establishment and public defence which may be referred to them, and to report their opinion thereon; and also to report, from time to time, such measures as may contribute to economy and accountability in said establishment.

Committee on the Militia.

43. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Militia to take into consideration and report on all subjects connected with the organizing, arming, and disciplining of the militia of the United States.

Committee on Naval Affairs.

44. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Naval Affairs to take into consideration all matters concerning the naval establishment which shall be referred to them, and to report their opinion thereon; and also to report, from time to time, such measures as may contribute to economy and accountability in said establishment.

Committee on Foreign Affairs.

45. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Foreign Affairs to take into consideration all matters affecting the relations of the United States with foreign nations which shall be referred to them, and to report their opinion on the same.

Committee on the Territories.

46. It shall be the duty of the Committee on the Territories to examine into the legislative, civil, and criminal proceedings of the Territories, and to devise and report to the House such means as, in their opinion, may be necessary to secure the rights and privileges of residents and non-residents

Committee on Revolutionary Pensions.

47. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions to take into consideration all such matters respecting pensions for services in the revolutionary war, other than invalid pensions, as shall be referred to them.

Committee on Invalid Pensions.

48. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Invalid Pensions to take into consideration all such matters respecting invalid pensions as shall be referred to them.

Committee on Roads and Canals.

49. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Roads and Canals to take into consideration all such petitions and matters relating to roads and canals, and the improvement of the navigation of rivers, as shall be presented, or may come in question, and be referred to them; and to report thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto as shall seem expedient.

Committee on Patents.

50. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Patents to consider all subjects relating to patents which may be referred to them; and report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relative thereto as may seem expedient.

Committee on Public Buildings.

51. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to consider all subjects relating to the public edifices and grounds within the city of Washington which may be referred to them; and report their opinion thereon, together with such propositions relating thereto as may seem expedient.

Committee on Revisal and Unfinished Business.

52. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Revisal and Unfinished Business to examine and report what laws have expired, or are near expiring, and need to be revived or further continued; also, to examine and report, from the journal of the preceding session, all such matters as were then depending and undetermined.

Committee on Accounts.

53. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Accounts to superintend and control the expenditures of the contingent fund of the House of Representatives, and to audit and settle all accounts which may be charged thereon.

Committee on Mileage.

54. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Mileage to ascertain and report to the Sergeant-at-Arms the distance for which each member shall receive pay.

Committees on Expenditures in Departments.

55. Six additional standing committees shall be appointed at the commencement of the first session in each Congress, whose duties shall continue until the first session of the ensuing Congress:

1. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Department of State;
2. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Treasury Department;
3. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Department of War;
4. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Department of the Navy;
5. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Post Office; and,
6. A committee on so much of the public accounts and expenditures as relate to the Public Buildings;

To consist of five members each.

56. It shall be the duty of said committees to examine into the state of the accounts and expenditures respectively submitted to them, and to inquire and report particularly—

Whether the expenditures of the respective departments are justified by law;

Whether the claims from time to time satisfied and discharged by the respective departments are supported by sufficient vouchers, establishing their justness both as to their character and amount;

Whether such claims have been discharged out of funds appropriated therefor, and whether all moneys have been disbursed in conformity with appropriation laws; and

Whether any, and what, further legislation may be necessary to provide more perfectly for the proper application of the public moneys, and to secure the Government from demands unjust in their character, or extravagant in their amount.

And it shall be, moreover, the duty of said committees to report from time to time whether any, and what, retrenchment can be made in the expenditures of the several departments, without detriment to the public service; whether any, and what, abuses at any time exist in the failure to enforce the payment of moneys which may be due to the United States from public defaulters or others; and to report, from time to time, such measures as may be necessary to add to the economy of the several departments, and the accountability of their officers.

57. The several standing committees of the House shall have leave to report by bill or otherwise; and the committees on the various public expenditures and accounts shall make report within the first sixty days of each session, or, on failure so to do, their reasons for such failure.

58. It shall be in order for the Committee on Enrolled Bills to report at any time.

59. No committee shall sit during the sitting of the House, without special leave.

60. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee at the time of his appointment, if he is then a member of two other committees.

61. No committee shall be permitted to employ a clerk at the public expense, without first obtaining leave of the House for that purpose.

Of General Appropriation Bills.

62. General appropriation bills shall be in order, in preference to any other bills of a public nature, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the House.

63. No appropriation shall be reported in such general appropriation bills, or be in order as an amendment thereto, for any expenditure not previously authorized by law, unless in continuation of appropriations for such public works and objects as are already in progress, and for the contingencies for carrying on the several departments of the Government.

64. All propositions to appropriate money shall be first discussed in a Committee of the Whole House.

Of propositions for a Tax.

65. No proposition for a tax or charge upon the people shall be discussed on the day of its being offered; and every such proposition shall receive its first discussion in a Committee of the Whole House.

66. No sum or quantum of tax or duty, voted by a Committee of the Whole House, shall be increased in the House until the proposition for such increase shall be first discussed and voted in a Committee of the Whole House; and so in respect to the time of its continuance.

Of Bills, in general.

67. Every bill shall be introduced on the report of a committee, or by motion for leave.

68. Every bill shall receive three several readings previous to its passage; and bills shall be despatched in order as they are introduced, unless where the House shall direct otherwise; but no bill shall be twice read on the same day, without special order.

69. The first reading of a bill shall be for information; and, if opposition be made to it, the question shall be, "Shall this bill be rejected?" If no opposition be made, or if the question to reject be negatived, the bill shall go to its second reading without a question.

70. On the second reading of a bill, the Speaker shall state it as ready for commitment or engrossment; and, if committed, then the question shall be, whether to a select or standing committee, or to a Committee of the Whole House: if to a Committee of the Whole House, the House shall determine on what day; if no motion be made to commit, the question shall be stated on its engrossment; and if it be not ordered to be engrossed on the day of its being reported, it shall be placed in the general file on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in its order. But, if the bill be ordered to be engrossed, the House shall appoint the day when it shall be read the third time.

71. After commitment and report to the House, or at any time before its passage, a bill may be recommitted.

72. All bills ordered to be engrossed shall be executed in a fair round hand.

73. No amendment by way of rider shall be made to any bill on its third reading.

74. When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified by the Clerk, noting the day of its passage at the foot thereof.

75. Every order, resolution, or vote, to which the concurrence of the Senate shall be necessary, shall be read and laid on the table, on a day preceding that in which the same shall be moved, unless the House shall order otherwise.

Order of Business of the Session.

76. After six days from the commencement of a second or subsequent session of any Congress, all bills, resolutions, and reports which originated in the House, and at the close of the next preceding session remained undetermined, shall be resumed and acted on in the same manner as if an adjournment had not taken place.

Order of Business of the Day.

77. As soon as the journal is read, the Speaker shall call for petitions from the members of each State, and delegates from each Territory, beginning with Maine and the Territory of Iowa, alternately; and if, on any day, the whole of the States and Territories shall not be called, the Speaker shall begin on the next day where he left off the previous day; provided that, after the first thirty days of the session, petitions shall not be received, except on the first day of the meeting of the House in each week.

78. On petitions, memorials, and other papers, being presented, a brief statement of the contents shall be made verbally before they are committed or otherwise disposed of; they shall not be debated on any day assigned for the receiving of petitions, unless the House shall so direct, but shall lie on the table, to be taken up for debate in the order of their being presented.

79. Petitions having been disposed of, the Speaker shall call upon the standing committees, in their order, for reports, and then upon select committees; if the Speaker shall not get through the call upon the committees before the House passes to other business, he shall resume the next call where he left off. Reports being disposed of, resolutions shall then be called for and disposed of by the same rules which apply to petitions; provided that no member shall offer more than one resolution, or one series of resolutions, all relating to the same subject, until all the States and Territories shall have been called.

80. All the States and Territories shall be called for resolutions on each alternate Monday during each session of Congress; and, if necessary to secure this object on said days, all resolutions which shall give rise to debate shall lie over for discussion; and the whole of said days shall be appropriated to resolutions, until all the States and Territories are called.

81. After one hour shall have been devoted to reports and resolutions, it shall be in order, pending the consideration thereof, to entertain a motion that the House do now proceed to dispose of the business on the Speaker's table, and to the orders of the day; which being decided in the affirmative, the Speaker shall dispose of the business on his table in the following order, viz:

1st. Messages and other Executive communications.

2d. Messages from the Senate, and amendments proposed by the Senate to bills of the House.

3d. Bills and resolutions from the Senate on their first and second reading, that they be referred to committees, and put under way; but if, on being read a second time, no motion be made to commit, they are to be ordered to their third reading, unless objection be made; in which case, if not otherwise ordered by a majority of the House, they are to be laid on the table in the general file of bills on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in their turn.

4th. Bills of the House and from the Senate on their engrossment, or on being ordered to a third reading, to be taken up in the order of time in which they passed to a second reading.

5th. Engrossed bills and bills from the Senate on their third reading.

The messages, communications, and bills on the table, having been disposed of, the Speaker shall then proceed to call the orders of the day.

82. The unfinished business in which the House was engaged at the last preceding adjournment shall have the preference in the orders of the day; and no motion on any other business shall be received, without special leave, until the former is disposed of.

83. It shall be the duty of the Speaker rigidly to adhere to the course of business specified in the "Order of Business."

Local or Private Business.

84. Friday and Saturday in each week shall be set apart for the consideration of private bills and private business, in preference to any other, unless otherwise determined by the House.

85. On the first and fourth Friday of each month the calendar of private bills shall be called over, and the bills to the passage of which no objection shall then be made shall be first considered and disposed of.

Of Committees of the Whole House.

86. It shall be a standing order of the day, throughout the session, that the House resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

87. In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave the chair, and a chairman, to preside in committee, shall be appointed by the Speaker.

88. Not more than three bills, originating in the House, shall be committed to the same Committee of the Whole; and such bills shall be analogous in their nature, which analogy shall be determined by the Speaker.

89. In Committee of the Whole House, the bill taken up shall be first read throughout by the Clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses; the body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined; but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House. After report, the bill may again be debated and amended by clauses, before the question to engross it be taken.

90. All amendments made to an original motion in committee shall be incorporated with the motion, and so reported.

91. All amendments made to a report committed to a Committee of the Whole House shall be noted and reported, as in the case of bills.

92. All questions, whether in committee or in the House, shall be propounded in the order in which they are moved, except that, in filling up blanks, the largest sum and longest time shall be first put.

93. The rules of proceedings in the House shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the number of times a member may speak; but no member shall speak twice on any question, until every member wishing to speak shall have spoken.

Of Motions.

94. When any motion or proposition is made, the question "Will the House now consider it?" shall not be put, unless demanded by a member, or deemed necessary by the Speaker.

95. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker; or, being in writing, it shall be handed to the Chair, and read aloud by the Clerk, before being debated.

96. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any member desire it.

97. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in the possession of the House, but may be withdrawn at any time before a decision or amendment.

Of the Order of Motions, or Privileged Questions.

98. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lie on the table, for the previous question, to postpone to a day certain, to commit, to amend, to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill or proposition. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence over a motion to amend, except in Committee of the Whole; and, if carried, shall be considered as equivalent to its rejection.

99. When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion be made, to refer a subject, and different committees shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

The Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; the Committee of the Whole House; a Standing Committee; a Select Committee.

Of Motions to Adjourn.

100. A motion to adjourn, and a motion to fix the day to which the House shall adjourn, shall be always in order: these motions, together with the motion to lie on the table, and all questions relating to priority of business, shall be decided without debate.

101. The hour at which every motion to adjourn is made, shall be entered on the journal.

Of the Previous Question.

102. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the House to a direct vote on amendments, if any, reported by a committee, on pending amendments, and then on the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the seconding of the same, a call of the House shall be in order; but, after a majority shall have seconded such motion, no call shall be in order prior to a decision of the main question.

103. On the previous question there shall be no debate. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate. It shall not be in order for a member making a motion at the same time to move the previous question upon it. Nor shall a proposition be modified, after the previous question has been seconded.

104. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon again during the session.

Of the Division of a Question.

105. Every question may be divided if it comprehend propositions in substance so distinct that, one being taken away, a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the House. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; but a motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert.

106. Motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the House.

107. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment. No bill or resolution shall, at any time, be amended by annexing thereto, or incorporating therewith, any other bill or resolution pending before the House.

Motion to Reconsider.

108. When a motion has been once decided, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move a reconsideration on the same or succeeding day; and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions, except a motion to adjourn; but the reconsideration of a vote on the passage of bills and joint resolutions shall not be decided on the day of their passage, except by consent of two-thirds of the members present.

Of motions which lie upon the table one day.

109. A proposition requesting information from the President of the United States, or directing it to be furnished by the head of either of the Executive Departments, or by the Postmaster General, or to print an extra number of any document or other matter, excepting messages of the President to both Houses at the commencement of each session of Congress, and the reports and documents connected with or referred to in it, shall lie on the table one day for consideration, unless otherwise ordered by unanimous consent; and all such propositions shall be taken up for consideration in the order in which they were presented, immediately after reports are called for from select committees; and, when adopted, the Clerk shall cause the same to be delivered.

Motion for leave to bring in a Bill.

110. One day's notice shall be given of the motion for leave to bring in a bill; and the motion shall be made, and the bill be introduced, if leave is given, when resolutions are called for; such motion or the bill, when introduced, may be committed.

Motion for the Reading of Papers.

111. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

On a Call of the House.

112. Any fifteen members (including the Speaker, if there be one) shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members.

113. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House, unless he have leave, or be sick, or unable to attend. No member, absent without permission of the House, shall receive pay during such absence.

114. On a call of the House, the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk, and the absentees noted; after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over; the doors shall then be shut, and those for whom no excuse, or an insufficient excuse, is made, may be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody wherever to be found, by special messengers.

115. When a member shall be discharged from custody, and admitted to his seat, the House shall determine whether such discharge shall be with or without paying fees; and, in like manner, whether a delinquent member, taken into custody by a special messenger, shall, or shall not, be liable to defray the expense of such special messenger.

Of Decorum and Debate.

116. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat, and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," and shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personality.

117. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; and the member so called to order shall be liable to the censure of the House, unless he shall at once submit to the judgment of the Chair, if unappealed from, or make a satisfactory explanation or apology.

118. If a member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling him to order shall repeat the words excepted to, and they shall be taken down in writing at the Clerk's table; and the member so called to order shall immediately take his seat, unless permitted to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case, but without debate. If there be no appeal, the decision of the Speaker shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall not proceed, in case any member object, without leave of the House; and, if the case require it, he shall be censured by the House. But no member shall be held to answer, or be subject to the censure of the House, for words spoken in debate, if any other member shall have spoken, or other business have intervened, after the words spoken, and before exception shall have been taken.

119. When two or more members rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

120. No member shall occupy more than one hour in debate on any question, in the House or in Committee of the Whole; nor shall any member speak more than once on the same question, without leave of the House, unless he be the mover of the matter pending; in which case he shall be permitted to speak in reply, but not until every member wishing to speak shall have spoken.

121. If a question depending be lost by adjournment and be revived on the succeeding day, no member, who shall have spoken on the preceding day, shall be permitted again to speak without leave.

122. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, none shall walk out of or across the House; nor, in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse; nor, while a member is speaking, shall pass between him and the Chair. Every member shall remain uncovered during the sitting of the House. No member or other person shall remain at or near the Clerk's table while the ayes and noes are calling, or ballots are counting.

123. Upon calls of the House, or in taking the yeas and nays, the names of the members shall be called alphabetically.

124. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is immediately and particularly interested, or in any case where he was not within the bar of the House when the question was put. And when any member shall ask leave to vote, the Speaker shall propound to him the question—"Were you within the bar when your name was called?"

125. On a division and count of the House no member without the bar shall be counted.

126. Every member who shall be in the House when the question is put shall give his vote, unless the House, for special reasons, shall excuse him.

All motions to excuse a member from voting shall be made before the House divides, or before the call of the yeas and nays is commenced; and any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief verbal statement of his reasons, and the question shall then be taken without debate.

Of Confidential Communications.

127. Whenever confidential communications are received from the President of the United States, the House shall be cleared of all persons, except the members, Clerk, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper, and so continue during the reading of such communications, and (unless otherwise directed by the House) during all debates and proceeding to be had thereon. And when the Speaker, or any other member, shall inform the House that he has communications to make which he conceives ought to be kept secret, the House shall, in like manner, be cleared, till the communication be made; the House shall then determine whether the matter communicated requires secrecy or not, and take order accordingly.

Of Admission to the floor of the House.

128. No person, except members of the Senate, their Secretary on business, Heads of Departments, and their Chief Clerks on business, Treasurer, Comptrollers, Register, Auditors, Postmaster General, President's Secretary, Chaplains to Congress, Judges of the United States, Foreign Ministers and their Secretaries, officers who, by name, have received or shall hereafter receive the thanks of Congress, the Commissioners of the Navy Board, Governor of any State or Territory in the Union, such gentlemen as have been Heads of Departments or members of either House of Congress, and, at the discretion of the Speaker, persons who belong to Legislatures of the States or of such foreign Governments as are in amity with the United States, shall be admitted within the Hall of the House of Representatives.

129. No person shall be allowed the privilege of the Hall as a reporter, without a written permission from the Speaker, specifying the part of the Hall assigned to him; nor without first stating, in writing, for what paper or papers he is employed to report.

130. None but members of Congress shall, under any pretence whatever, occupy seats within the bar of the House.

131. The doorkeeper shall execute rigidly the three preceding rules, under penalty of removal from his place.

Of the Changing and Suspending of Rules.

132. No standing rule or order shall be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor. Nor shall any rule be suspended, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present. But no motion shall be received for the suspension of a rule for any purpose, except to proceed to the orders of the day, until after the daily call for petitions, reports of committees, and resolutions, shall be completed.

133. The established order of business shall not be postponed or changed, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present. But a majority of the members present may at any time suspend the rules for either of the two following purposes:

First. To go into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, except on days set apart for private business.

Second. To fix a time for discharging the committee from any bill referred to them, with the proviso, that, after the time fixed, amendments only shall be acted upon, and without debate.

Of the Manual of Parliamentary Practice.

134. The rules of parliamentary practice, comprised in the following sections of Jefferson's Manual, shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House, and the joint rules of the two Houses—that is to say:

Section 3.—Concerning Privilege.
12.—Committee of the Whole.
13.—Examination of Witnesses.
16.—Respecting Papers.
17.—Order in Debate.
32.—Reading of Papers.
35.—Of Amendments.
45.—Of Amendments between the Houses.
46.—Of Conferences.
47.—Of Messages.
49.—Of Journals.

Miscellaneous Rules.

135. No person shall be permitted to perform divine service in the chamber occupied by the House of Representatives, unless with the consent of the Speaker.

136. The rule for paying witnesses summoned to appear before the House, or either of its committees, shall be as follows: For each day a witness shall attend, two dollars; for each mile he shall travel in coming to or going from the place of examination, ten cents each way; but nothing shall be paid for travelling home when the witness has been summoned at the place of trial.

137. The unappropriated rooms in that part of the Capitol assigned to the House shall be subject to the order and disposal of the Speaker.

138. Maps accompanying documents shall not be printed, under the general order to print, without the special direction of the House.

139. No officer or person in the service of the House shall be employed as agent, or in any manner whatever, for the prosecution of claims against the Government, under penalty of removal from office.

140. Any member assaulting another upon the floor of the House shall be expelled therefrom.

Upon the presentation of petitions, memorials, resolutions, or other papers relating to slavery, objection to the reception shall be considered as made, and the question of reception shall be laid on the table.

QUESTIONS OF ORDER,

DECIDED AT THE FIRST SESSION 27th CONGRESS, EXTRA SESSION.

HON. JOHN WHITE, OF KENTUCKY, SPEAKER.

JUNE 3, 1841.

Previous question.

In the absence of written rules under the law of Parliament, the previous question may be demanded by a single member—page 36.

JUNE 7, 1841.

Under the Parliamentary law, if amendments be pending to a proposition, and the previous question be demanded, it expends itself when put on the pending amendment, and does not apply to the original or main proposition unless renewed—page 43.

Under the Parliamentary law, the previous question takes precedence of a motion to lie on the table—page 45.

JUNE 15, 1841.

A resolution having passed under the operation of the previous question, a motion was made that the House do reconsider it; which motion to reconsider passed in the affirmative: and the resolution then again came before the House upon the question to agree. At this stage of the proceeding a motion is made to amend: when

The Speaker decided that the House having reconsidered the vote adopting the resolution, the proceeding was restored to the precise point at which it was when the question to agree to the resolution was put; that the question, Will the House agree to the resolution? immediately recurred upon the passing of the vote to reconsider, and it was the question now before the House; that as that question had been decided on the 8th instant, under the operation of the previous question, the previous question now operated upon it, and consequently it was not open to debate or amendment.

From this decision Mr. Wise appealed, on the ground that a previous question expended itself when once put and decided; that having been put on the 8th instant, and decided, it could no longer be applied to the present proceeding unless renewed; and, consequently, that the proposition before the House was open both to amendment and debate.

And the question was put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

And decided in the negative: Yeas 105, nays 112.

And so the decision of the Chair was reversed; and it was thereby decided that the previous question, when once put, no longer operated, notwithstanding a reconsideration of the question to which may have been applied—page 129.

JULY 20, 1841.

The bill (No. 8) making appropriations for fortifications and ordnance, being under consideration,

The previous question was moved: when

Mr. James W. Williams, of Maryland, submitted the following as a question of order:

That, by the 109th rule of the House, "every bill shall receive three several readings in the House;"

That, by the 119th rule, "after report, [from the committee,] the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses, before a question to engross it be taken;"

That, by the 129th rule, the rules of practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual, "shall govern the House in all cases in which they are applicable and not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House;"

That, in the Manual, page 154, it is stated that, "when, through the amendments of the committee, the Speaker PAUSES, and GIVES TIME for amendments to the body of the bill, as he does also if it has been reported without amendments, putting no question but on amendments proposed; and, WHEN THROUGH THE WHOLE, he puts the question whether the bill shall be read a third time;"

That, according to the Manual, page 156, "the Speaker reads it by paragraphs, PAUSING BETWEEN EACH, but putting no question but on amendments proposed; and, when THROUGH THE WHOLE, he puts the question, whether it shall be engrossed and read a third time;"

And that this rule of practice, as laid down in the Manual, is not inconsistent with the rules and standing order of the House, and therefore cannot be dispensed with, or suspended, unless by a vote of two-thirds of the number present.

The Chair decided the question of order against the position assumed by Mr. Williams, who thereupon appealed to the House.

And the question being put, the Speaker's decision was sustained—page 260.

AUGUST 9, 1841.

The bill to repeal the act commonly called the sub-Treasury act was under consideration, and an amendment thereto was pending.

The previous question was moved: when

Mr. James W. Williams, of Maryland, submitted the following as a question of order:

"That a due observance of Parliamentary law and practice, not inconsistent with the standing rules of this House, requires that every bill shall be read through at least once by paragraphs, for amendment, before the question shall be put whether it shall be read a third time; and that the 'bill entitled an act to repeal an act to provide for the collection, safekeeping, transfer, and disbursement of the public revenue, and to provide for the punishment of embezzlers of public money,' not having been so read, the previous question cannot now properly apply."

The Speaker overruled the point of order raised by Mr. Williams, who appealed to the House.

The Speaker's decision was affirmed: Yeas 149, nays 30—page 348.

JUNE 15, 1841.

Propositions repeated or renewed.

The House, in considering the rules, having decided not to adopt the 21st rule—

A motion was made, "That the standing rules and orders of the last House of Representatives be adopted as the rules and orders of this House, until otherwise ordered; and that the committee heretofore appointed on the rules be ordered to revise, amend, and report upon the said rules and orders, and they have leave to report at any time; and that the election of officers heretofore chosen by this House, and the committees raised by its order, be and they are hereby confirmed."

To this motion it was objected that it proposed to enact the 21st rule of the last House of Representatives, which the House had already, by two distinct votes, decided not to adopt; the House could not be called on to vote upon the same question again; and that the motion was, consequently, not in order.

The Speaker decided against the objection, and sustained the motion; and the House acquiesced in the decision—page 130.

JUNE 15, 1841.

Division of questions.

Under the Parliamentary law, the House must order a division of a question by vote—page 132.

Under the Parliamentary law, a question to strike out and to insert is divisible—page 135.

JUNE 18, 1841.

Amending rules.

An amendment to the rules, reported by a committee, being under consideration, inquiry was made of the Chair if it would not require a vote of two-thirds to adopt the amendment and make it a standing rule.

The Speaker decided that a majority was sufficient.

Mr. Floyd appealed, contending that, as the amendment changed the rules, it could not be adopted without one day's notice, or a vote of two-thirds.

The Speaker's decision was affirmed: Yeas 123, nays 70—page 152.

JULY 6, 1841.

A committee appointed "to revise and amend the rules, with leave to report at all times," reported an amendment to the rules; and the House proceeded to consider the same.

The further consideration, at this time, was objected to on the ground that, by the 127th rule, it is provided that "no standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor."

The Speaker decided that it was in order now to consider and determine upon said report, inasmuch as the order of the House, constituting the committee for the purpose of reporting amendments to the rules, was, of itself, a sufficient notice of amendment to the rules under the 127th rule.

Mr. Atherton appealed; and the Speaker's decision was affirmed—page 206.

JULY 6, 1841.

Reporting, in part.

The committee appointed "to revise and amend the rules, with leave to report at all times," having heretofore made two reports, in part, now submitted a further report, in part.

Mr. Medill objected to receiving the report, on the ground that it was not in order for the committee thus to be making reports, in part, at different times, and by "piece-meal."

The Speaker decided that it was in order for the committee thus to report, in part.

Mr. Medill appealed.

The Speaker's decision was affirmed: Yeas 127, nays 88—page 104.

JUNE 19, 1841.

A memorial having been presented praying a revision and an increase of the tariff of duties on imports,

It was objected by Mr. Everett, that the memorial could not be acted on at the present session, as the prayer thereof did not come within the exceptions specified in the rule adopted on the 12th instant—see page 121.

The Speaker decided that the prayer did come within the subjects embraced in the President's message; and, therefore, it was in order, under the rule of the 12th instant, to act upon the memorial.

Mr. Everett appealed; and the appeal was laid on the table.

JULY 6, 1841.

Majority may close debate in committee.

A proposition was before the House that the debate in Committee of the Whole on the bill to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of public lands, from and after 7 o'clock, P. M. this day, shall cease, and that the committee then proceed to vote, without debate, on amendments. See amendment to the rules—page 215.

An inquiry was made of the chair, if it did not require a vote of two-thirds to adopt the proposition.

The Speaker decided that the vote of a majority was sufficient to adopt the proposition.

Mr. Wise appealed. The decision of the Chair was sustained—page 217.

JULY 6, 1841.

To amend and to postpone.

The bill to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands having been reported from the Committee of the Whole with amendments, the question before the House, as in course, was that the House do concur in the amendments: when

A motion was made that the bill be postponed indefinitely.

The Speaker decided that, inasmuch as the first question before the House was on concurrence in the amendments of the Committee of the Whole, the motion to postpone indefinitely was not in order at this stage of the proceeding—amendments, by the 41st rule, taking precedence of a motion to postpone indefinitely. Decision acquiesced in.

JULY 7, 1841.

Change an order of the House by amendment.

A bill was reported making appropriations for fortifications and for ordnance; and a motion was made that it be committed to the Committee of the Whole.

A motion was made to amend this motion by adding "with instruction to report a provision that the proceeds of the sales of the public lands shall be appropriated and applied to the defence of the country in the completion of the works specified in the bill, and shall be thus applied and appropriated yearly until the said works shall be completed."

Mr. Fillmore objected to this motion as out of order, on the ground that the House yesterday, by the bill to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, had already determined in what manner the proceeds of the sales of the public lands should be disposed of; and that it was not now in order, immediately after the passage of that bill, and upon a bill on a different subject, to propose another and different mode of disposing of said proceeds.

The Speaker sustained the objections of Mr. Fillmore, and ruled the amendment out of order.

Mr. Atherton appealed; and the appeal was laid on the table: and the decision of the chair stands.

AUGUST 30, 1841.

The amendments of the Senate to the bill "To appropriate the proceeds of the sale of the public lands," was under consideration.

Mr. Wise submitted a question of order, as follows: that, by the amendments, a grant of land is provided for the present Territories of the United States upon their being formed into States and admitted into the Union; which he contended was an appropriation of an additional quantity of public land. And, further, That the amendments also contained provision for paying over to the States of Mississippi and Alabama the two per cent. of the proceeds of the sales of lands within those States respectively, reserved to them by the acts for their admission into the Union, as a fund, for making roads leading to said States; which paying over was, in fact he contended, an appropriation of money from the Treasury; and, therefore, under the rules of the House, the amendments must be committed to, and discussed in Committee of the Whole; and, consequently, if the previous question were sustained, the main question would be on commitment.

The Speaker decided that the bill provided for the disposition of the whole of the public lands, and of all the proceeds of the sales thereof, and had already been discussed in Committee of the Whole; that the amendments merely provided a distribution of land, and of the proceeds of the sales of the land, different, in some of its details, from the bill, as it originally passed this House, but did not take any thing from the public store which had not been previously taken by the bill; that, therefore, it was not, under the rule, necessary to commit the amendments to a committee of the Whole; and that, if the previous question be ordered, the main question would be on concurrence in the amendments.

Mr. Wise appealed.

The Speaker's decision was sustained: Ayes 108, noes 81—page 432.

JULY 27, 1841.

General Consent.

General consent having been given for the presentation of petitions out of time, and several petitions having been presented, the further presentation was objected to by a member.

The Speaker decided that as the House had, by general consent, permitted petitions to be offered, it was now too late for a single member to interpose an objection.

Mr. Andrews, of Kentucky, appealed.

The Speaker's decision was affirmed—page 284.

AUGUST 5, 1841.

Breach of Privilege by Foreign Minister.

Mr. John Quincy Adams called the attention of the House to a communication from the minister of France to the Secretary of the Treasury, which accompanied the message of the President of the United States of yesterday; and observed that he considered the fact of a foreign functionary addressing an official communication to any officer of this Government, except the head of the Department of State, a breach of official decorum, and the further fact of the remonstrance of such functionary against the passage of any measure pending before this House, as a breach of the privilege of the House. He therefore moved, as a matter of privilege, the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President of the United States be requested to inform this House by what authority the minister from France addressed a communication to the Secretary of the Treasury, remonstrating against the passage of a bill now pending before Congress.

Mr. Turney objected to the reception of the resolution as a question of privilege, contending that the privileges of this House were not involved in the subject-matter of the correspondence referred to in the resolution.

The Speaker decided against the objection taken by Mr. Turney, and that the rights, privileges, and dignity of this House, were involved in the subject-matter touched upon in the resolution.

From this decision Mr. Turney appealed; and the appeal and resolution were laid on the table—page 320.

AUGUST 21, 1841.

Reasons to be excused from voting.

Mr. Andrew Kennedy asked to be excused from voting on a proposition pending before the House, and was giving the reasons for his request when he was called to order; for that, under color of stating reasons why he should be excused from voting on the proposition, he was proceeding to discuss irrelevant matters.

The Speaker ruled Mr. Kennedy out of order.

Mr. Kennedy appealed.

The Speaker was sustained: Ayes 121, noes 61—page 401.

AUGUST 31, 1841.

Recede and amend.

The Senate having passed the House bill making appropriations for fortifications and ordnance with amendments, the House disagreed to the amendment making an appropriation of $75,000 for a western, southwestern, or northwestern armory.

The Senate insisted on this amendment, and the House receded from its disagreement: when

The House amended the amendment, and then agreed to it as amended.
